Introduction

I've been teaching at a manga artist training school for over 30 years, and I've never felt like I've come to a turning point in manga.

Five years ago, in order to get used to dip pens such as the G-pen, I practiced drawing 1,000 neat lines on manga manuscript paper over and over again. He also carved out screen tones and taught realistic tones such as sky and sea. The students worked hard to acquire skills, became assistants, won manga awards, and made their debuts. Currently, 70% of students draw manga using computers. Every year, some students make their school debut in web comics.

At the time when it took at least 2~3 years to debut, the speed is unthinkable. The drawing skills of aspiring manga artists have improved, and the know-how of manga production is spreading. An era where you can freely work what you like.

However, momentum alone will get you lost in the "Fog Ri". If you choose to do what you love as a job, there must be a thick fog hanging over it. At times like that, it's good to borrow the wisdom of our predecessors. If you read the technical manual, you will be generously introduced to professional techniques. This book introduces everything from the basics of how to draw characters to how to express human emotions. With this as a hint, I hope that I can focus on the inner workings of the characters and create realistic and attractive characters.

Part 1

Basics and tips for drawing faces

Learn the basics of drawing manga character faces. Once you understand the structure and structure of the facial bones and muscles, try drawing from different angles such as eye level, bulge, and tilt, based on the sample photo.

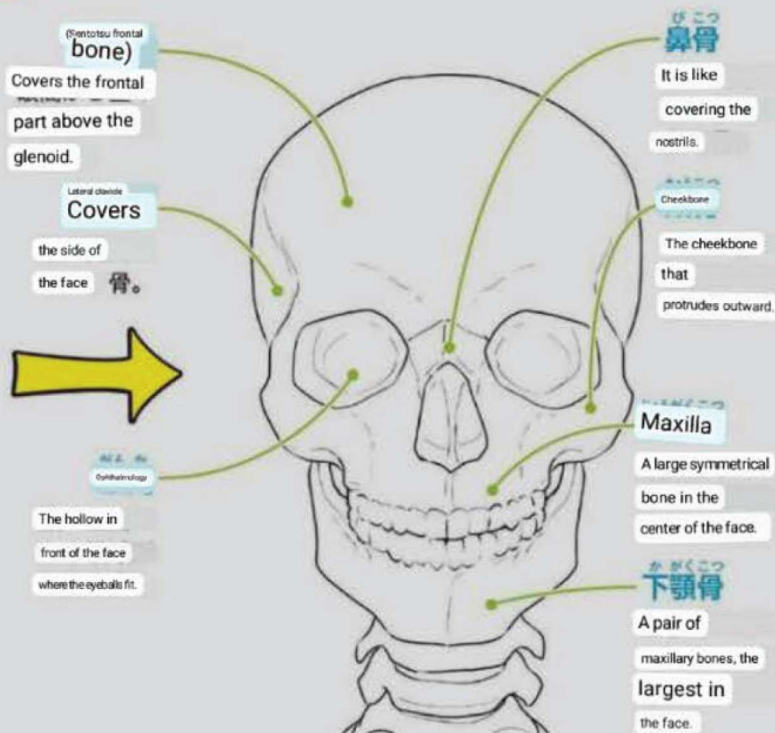

Know your facial skeleton

As basic knowledge for drawing, let's know the skeleton of the face. The point of manga character drawing is to keep the basic form and deform it according to the illustration.

front view of skeleton

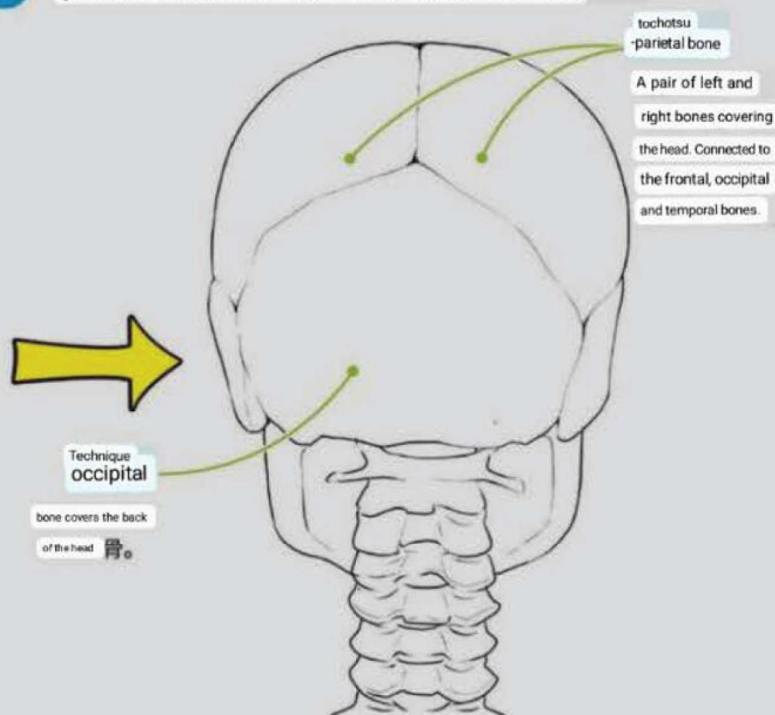

The top of the head is large and the chin is thin. The parts of the face are arranged symmetrically around the nose.

back skeleton

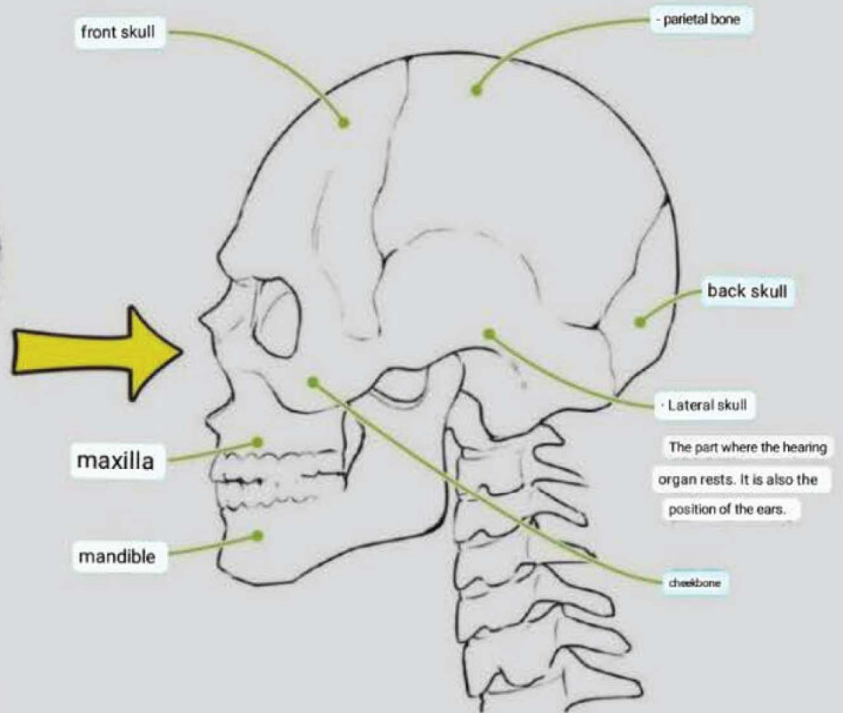

The back of the human head is covered with three large bones. The gills of the mandible are visible behind the neck bone.

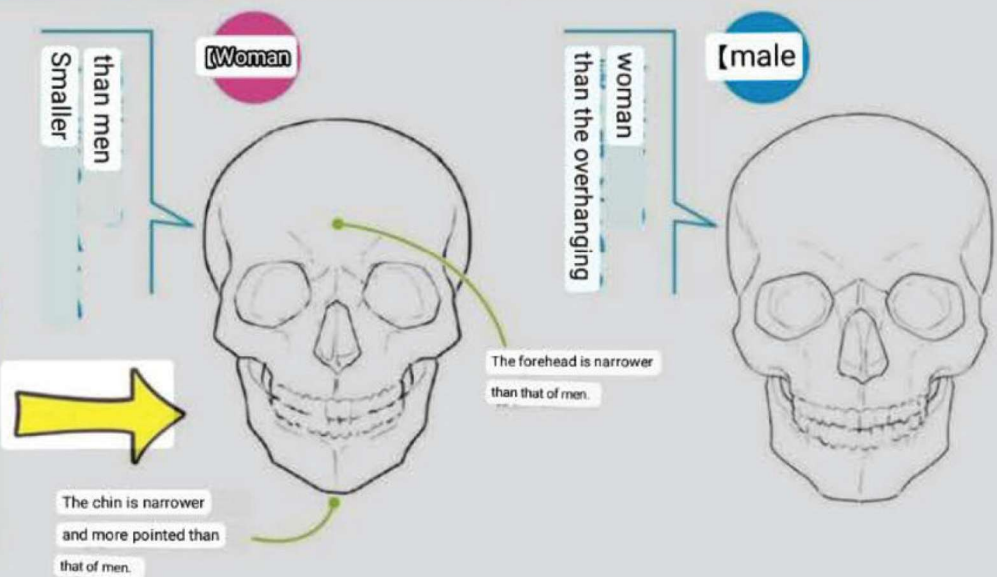

lateral skeleton

The back of the head is large and protrudes backward, and the neck is attached to the back. Pay attention to the positional relationship.

difference between male and female skeleton

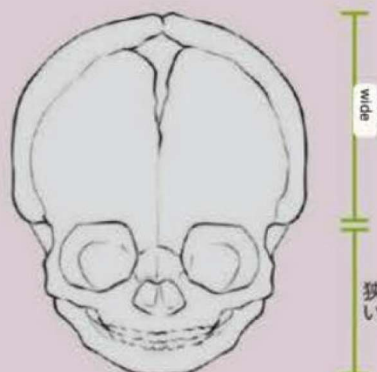

The skeleton of women is slightly smaller than that of men. Their chins are not angular like men's, but thin.

point

Skeletal differences between adults and children

A child's head is smaller than an adult's, but the head is larger than the face. Each part such as the eyes and mouth also occupies a larger proportion of the face compared to adults. Let's draw by grasping the size and balance of each part.

Also check the muscle diagram
on page 129!

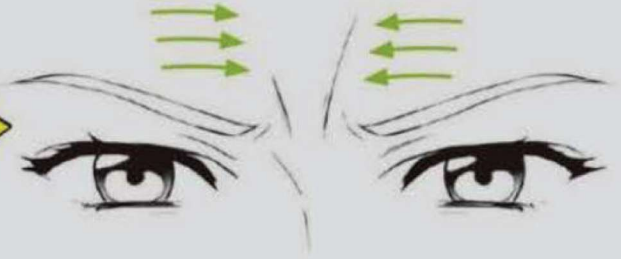

Relationship between muscles and facial parts

The movement of the muscles changes the shape of the parts of the face. Let's drop it into an illustration while checking it with a photograph.

Grow between the eyebrows and eyebrows

Note the angle of the eyebrows and wrinkles between the eyebrows.
The eyes also change from almond-shaped to slightly flattened.

Vertical wrinkles are formed between the eyebrows due to contraction of the eyebrow muscles. Since the skin is connected, the eyebrows are also drawn inward.

lower eyelid does not move

You can see that the upper eyelid is still hanging down.
In the case of women, eyelashes are also emphasized.

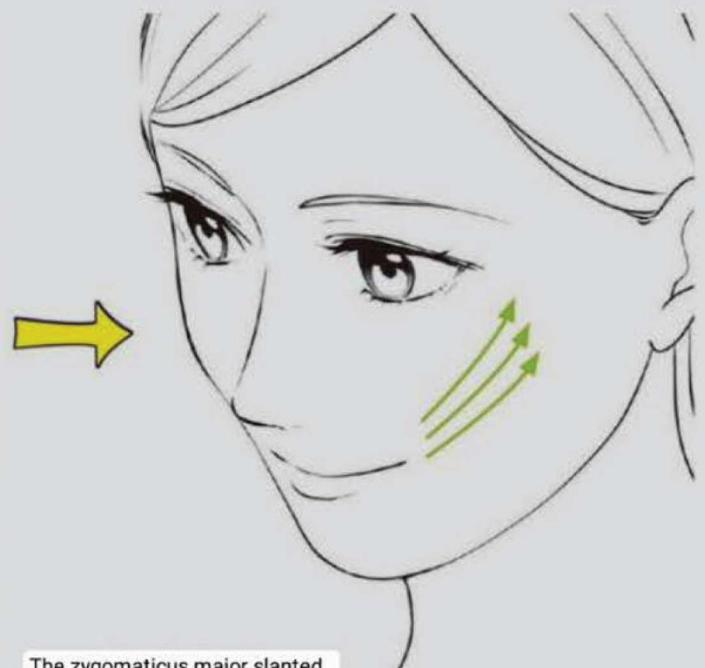

The orbicularis oculi muscle moves the upper eyelid downward to close the eye. Note that the lower eyelid does not move upward.

the corners of the mouth rise

You can see that the corners of the mouth are pulled by the movement of the cheeks and curved. Cheek swelling is also important.

The zygomaticus major slanted the corners of the mouth and lifted them upwards to create a smile.

Deform "real"

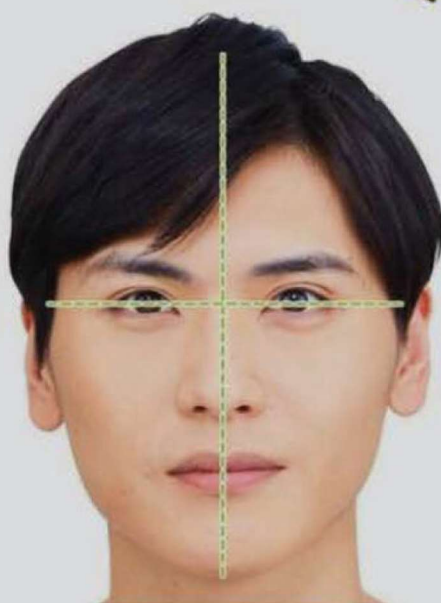

It is important to copy and sketch the real thing, but to draw it as a manga illustration, it is necessary to deform it from the "real". Let's brush up on how to express people's characteristics in illustrations.

change of parts

Capture the difference between a real photo, muscle and bone structure, and drawing as a manga character.

muscle/bone

Actual item

A photo of a man in his early 20s. Slightly long and slender, the cross-shaped strike line fits in the center of each part.

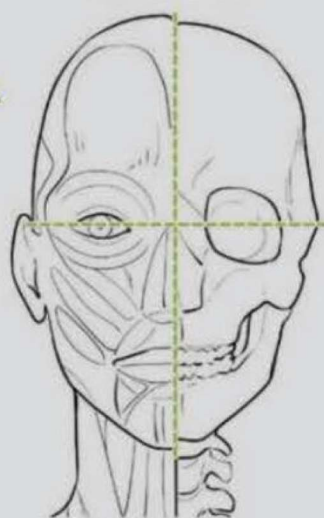

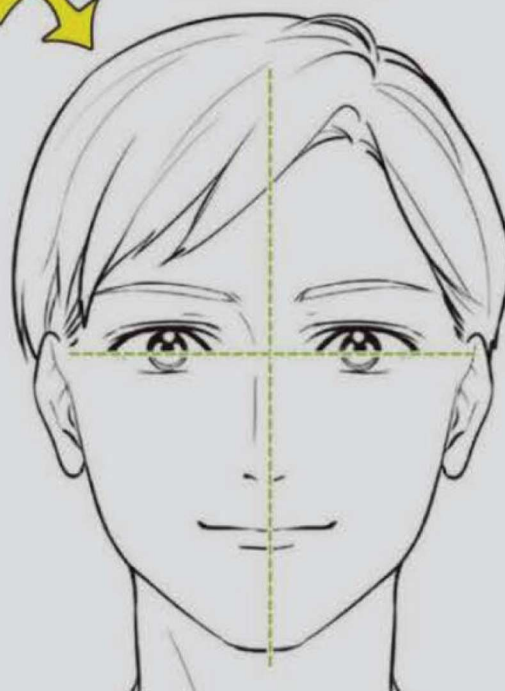

Diagram combining muscles and skeleton. Check the positions of the rink, eyes, ears, nose, mouth, etc. The trick is to be conscious of the protrusion of the cheekbones.

manga character

Based on the position and size of the actual parts, I draw them after deforming them. The point is to draw the nose bridge, simplify the nostrils, and draw the eyes larger than they actually are.

point

Capture features and simplify!

In the case of realistic drawing, the wrinkles of the lips, the parting of the teeth, the gums, and the shape of the tongue are all drawn in detail, but in the case of manga drawing, the rows of teeth and the form of the tongue are enough to express the inside of the mouth. be. Use them according to your taste in the pattern.

If you draw the inside of the mouth in detail, it gives a slightly grotesque impression. For men, draw up to the throat. It suits a style with a horror touch.

A moderately simplified illustration of wrinkles on the lips and the back of the throat. The lines are clean, and it suits a wide range of styles from realistic to deformed.

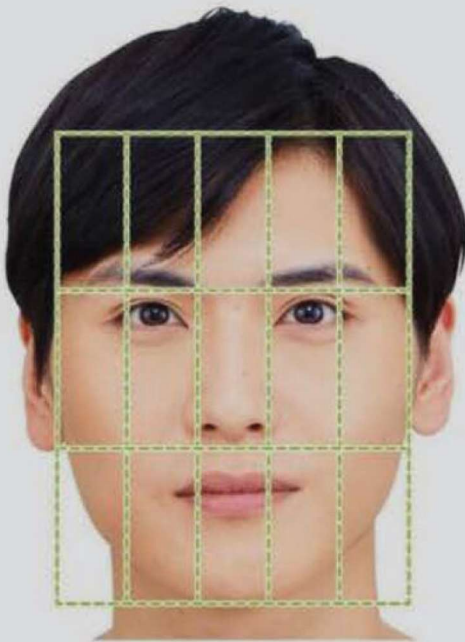

Simplified and symbolized illustration of teeth and tongue. Although the shape and position are not exact, it can be recognized as an illustration of a mouth at a glance. It suits a style that tends to be deformed.

deformation

face balance and illustration

Actual item

Divide into 3 parts vertically and 5 parts horizontally to capture the characteristics of each part. The point is to be bilaterally symmetrical.

manga character

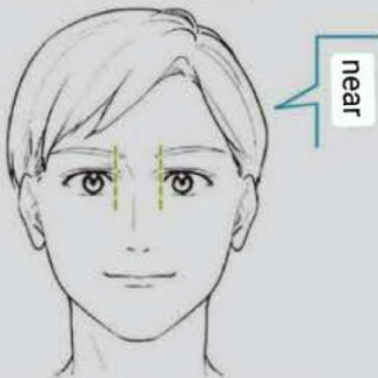

It's more deformed than the real thing, but if you keep the basic parts in place, the balance will be better.

than your eyes.
Draw larger

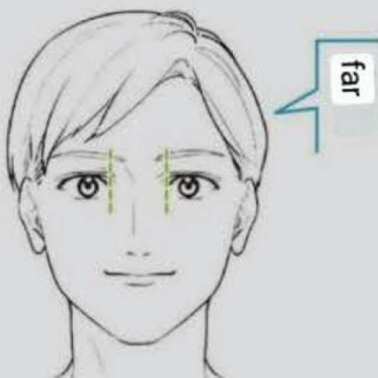

different face balance

By intentionally breaking the balance of the above face, you can bring out the individuality and characteristics of the character.

eye to eye distance

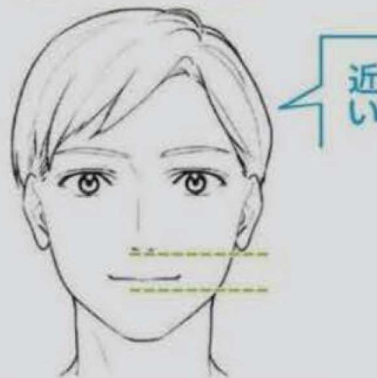

If the distance between the eyes is close, the face will give a childish impression.

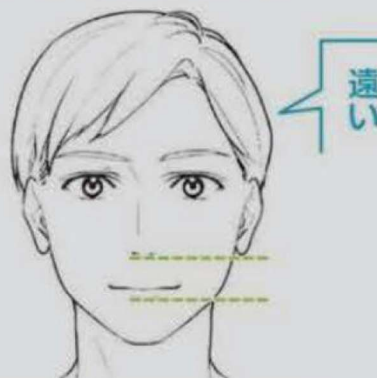

If the distance between the eyes is far, the face will give a mature impression.

distance between nose and mouth

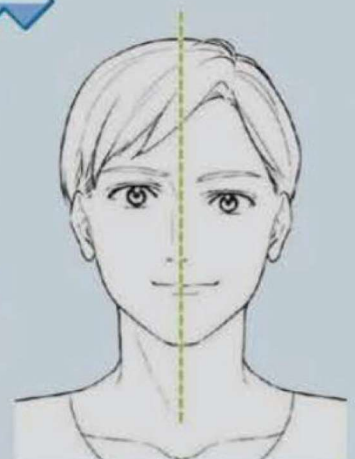

If the distance between the nose and mouth is close, the impression is feminine and the face is small.

If the nose and mouth are far apart, the face will look masculine and elongated.

When drawing the positions of the parts of the face, always be conscious of "symmetry". If the face is divided vertically into half, the position of the eyebrows, the size of the eyes, the length of the lips, etc. are asymmetrical. However, it is OK to make it asymmetrical when adding facial expressions.

Drawing male and female faces

Comparing a woman's face and a man's face, you can see that there are differences in the shape of the links and parts. Understand the characteristics of each and use them in your illustrations.

Gender differences and characteristics

Draw the difference between men and women. Let's capture and draw each feature, such as the size of the eyes, the length of the eyelashes, etc.

[Woman]

Zoom

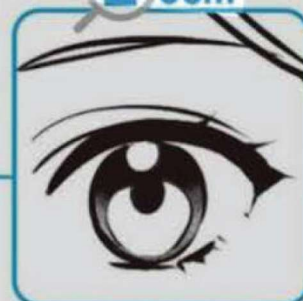

Eyebrows are basically thin. Like drawing an arc.

The ears are rounder and softer than those of males.

with a soft line
Draw smoothly

Zoom

The eyes are larger than those of men, and the eyelashes are drawn vertically and rounded.

Rinku has a rounded line and the tip of the chin is thin.

[male]

Zoom

Eyebrows should be thicker and straighter than women's.

with thick lines
Angularly drawn

Zoom

Eyes are narrower than females, sideways. Draw long to I usually don't draw eyelashes.

When drawing the bridge of the nose, Gives a more masculine firmness.

The mouth should be longer than the woman's and be conscious of its thickness.

By drawing a thick neck and adding a strong neckline, you can create a masculine and muscular impression.

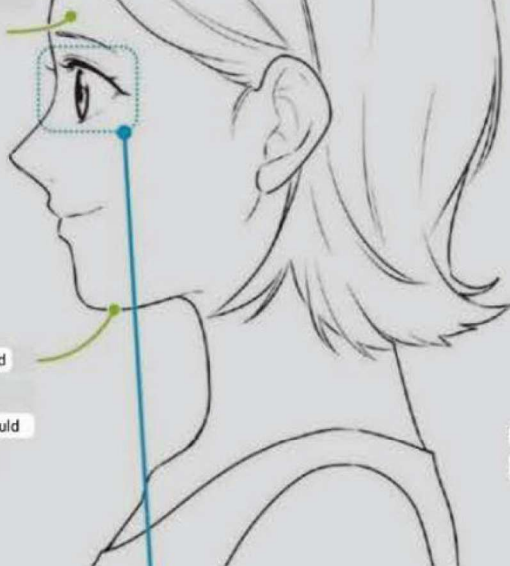

profile

[Woman]

[male]

Draw a smooth line from the forehead to the bridge of the nose.

The chin should have a rounded shape and should not be uneven.

Zoom

Draw eyelashes on the inner and outer corners of the eyes to bring out femininity.

point

Throat!

A raised area in the middle of the throat. Depending on the pattern, it may be omitted, but the bony neck line peculiar to men can give off a sexy look.

Conscious of the unevenness from the bottom of the lip to the top, stick out a little beyond that.

Let's insert a throat Buddha that is a part that only men have.

Rinku is a hard line. Draw at an angle over the gills.

The line of the neck is inserted, and the unevenness due to the muscles is brought out.

male

[Woman]

unisex character

Draw a female character with masculine features, or a male character with feminine features.

masculine characteristics

- Squinting eyes
- Linear eyebrows
- Firm hair

feminine features

- Smaller mouth
- Thin neck

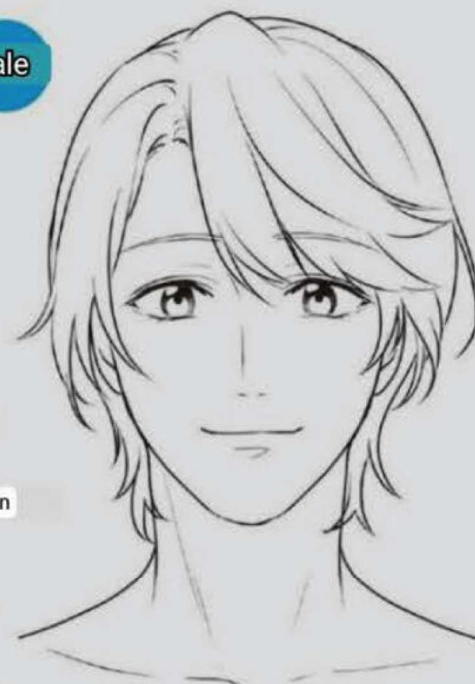

masculine characteristics

- Large mouth
- Thick and solid chin and neck

feminine features

- Larger eyes
- Curved eyebrows
- Soft hair

Know your neck axis and how it moves

The neck, which supports the head, is an important part of balancing the illustration. Correctly understand the axis of the neck and the natural way of movement, and draw illustrations with a sense of stability.

Know your neck axis

Understand the shape and position of the muscles that are the axis of the neck, and draw a natural line from the neck to the collarbone.

front

Be aware of the sternocleidomastoid muscle!

The sternocleidomastoid muscle is made up of two parts (red and blue lines).

The clavicle extends from the base of the neck to the tip.

The sternocleidomastoid muscle runs from behind the ear to the collarbone.

The part with the clavicle is uneven.

ける。

The line of the neck that is often drawn in illustrations is along the sternum chain. Understand the position of these muscles and draw while being conscious of the connection between the head and neck.

the neck axis is out of alignment

If you draw the head and neck without understanding the axis of the neck and how the muscles are attached, the way they are connected creates a sense of incongruity. If the neck is not connected to the ears like in this illustration, the illustration will be unbalanced.

The neck is connected behind the ears.

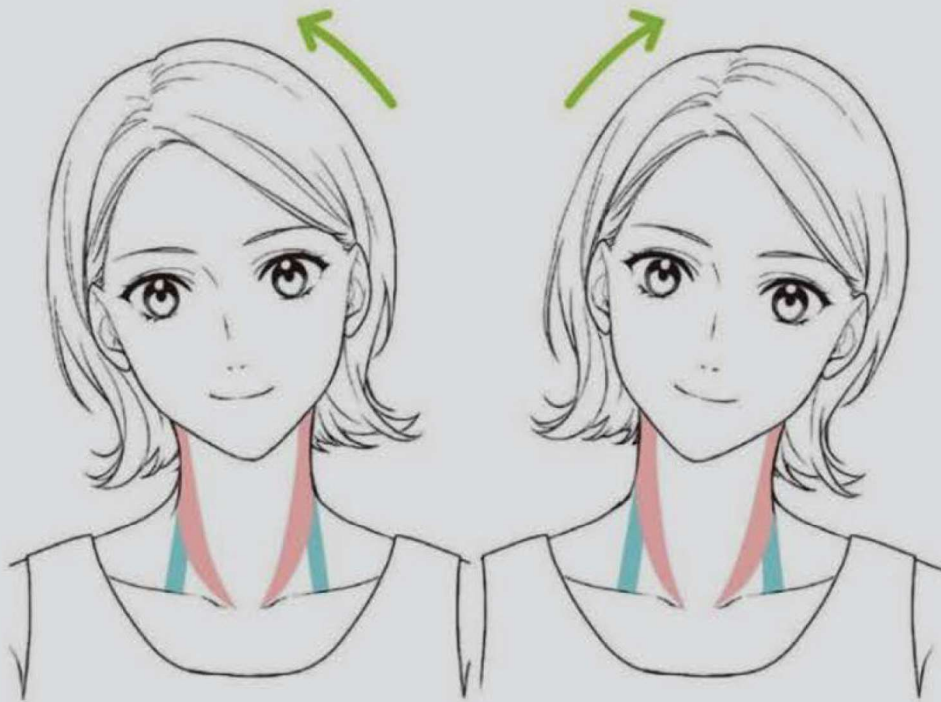

Collarbones are even in height.

The neck is buried in the face.

natural neck movements

Draw an illustration that tilts or shakes the head left and right while keeping in mind the sternocleidomastoid muscle.

Part of the face in Rinku

Tilt the whole while leaving the tip as it is. The muscles on the bent side of the neck contract and the

Remember that the sternocleidomastoid muscle extends behind the ear. Notice how the sternocleidomastoid muscle line stands out when you shake your head.

shake one's head back and forth

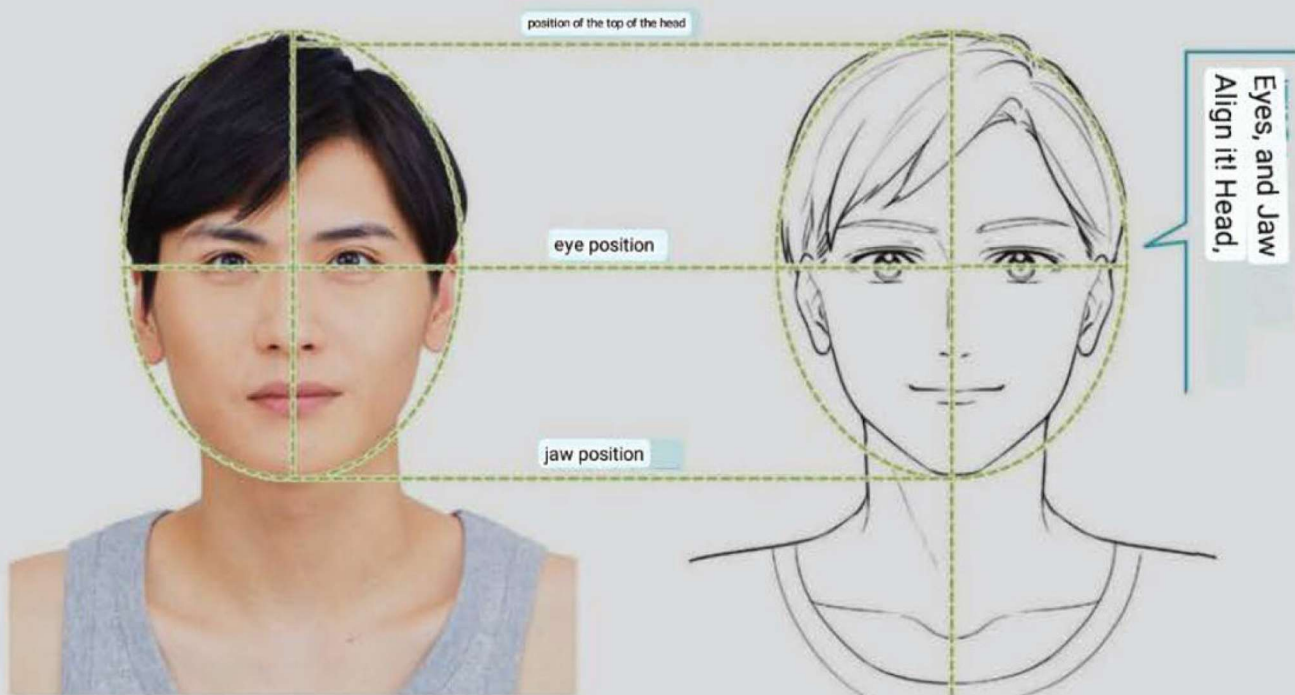

The neck is elongated when the head is turned upwards, and entwined short when the head is turned downwards. When drawing the profile, be aware of the roundness of the back of the head so that it does not become flat.

How to get a hit

When drawing an illustration, the drawing that roughly determines the positions of the links and parts is called the Atari. Here, let's master how to take the bite of the face.

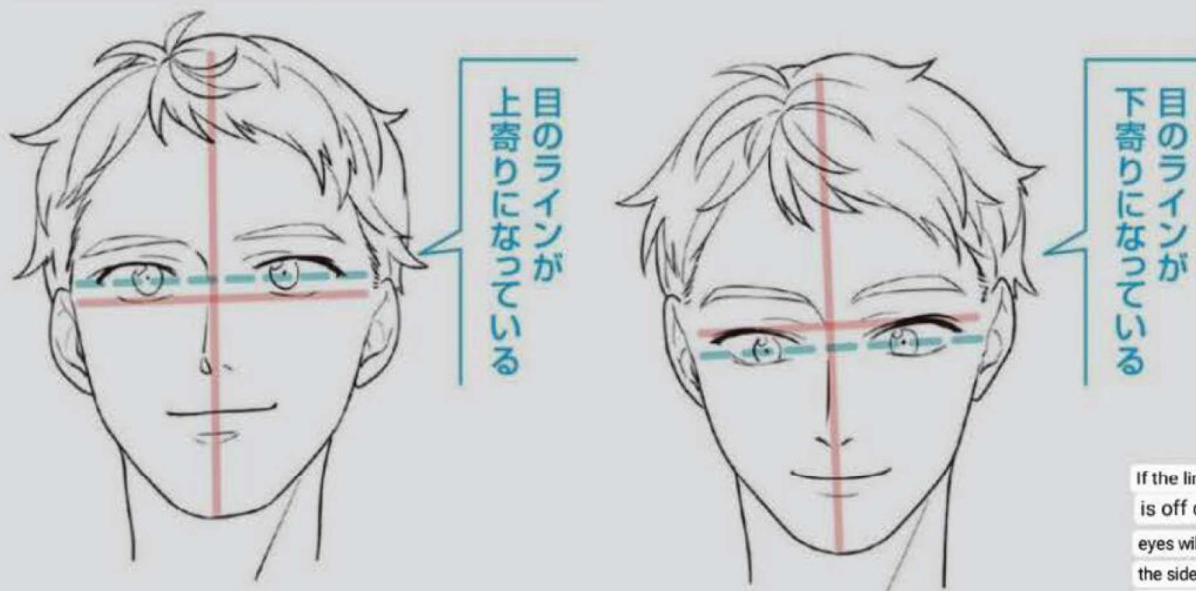

What is Atari

Draw a circle that will be the base of the face and draw a cross line. Let's take a look at the well-balanced placement of the parts.

Precautions when taking Atari

The line that determines the position of the eyes is an important point. Draw the line next to the crosshair so that it is in the middle of the eye.

If the line of the eyes is off center, the eyes will shift to the side or toward the nose, creating a sense of balance.

Let's take a look at the process of taking an attribution from a photo. Grasp the position of the parts and draw the details.

Sample photo. face shape, eyes, nose, carefully check the position of the mouth, etc. Yo.

2

Draw the Atari you see from the photo. Make sure the crosshairs pass through the center of your face.

4

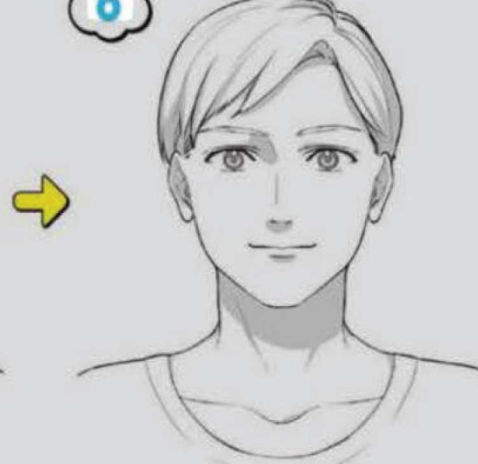

Draw parts based on the crosshairs. Center the eyes on the eye line. Make sure that the mouth and nose are also drawn in the center of the face.

5

Draw the hair and draw the details of the parts. Erase unnecessary lines to bring it closer to completion.

6

Draw the details of parts such as black eyes and finish it. If you draw a shadow, you can create a three-dimensional effect.

Allen

sharp link

Angular Rinkaku

Let's arrange Rinku beautifully

For Rinkaku, let's prepare it for manga drawing instead of just tracing a sample such as a photograph.

In particular, the face line is an element that emphasizes femininity and masculinity. Draw the female rinkaku with thin and sharp lines, and the male rinkaku with thick and angular lines.

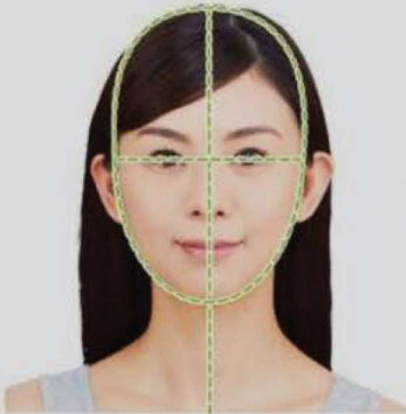

The face narrows from the cheeks to the chin, and the tip of the chin is pointed.

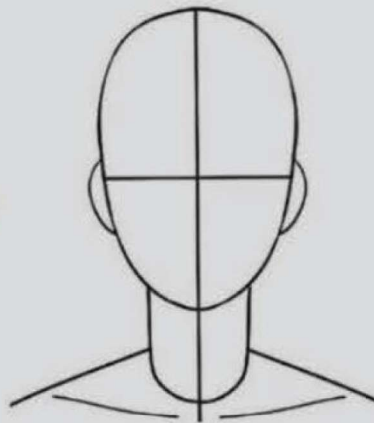

The gills are stretched, and the tip of the hard-shaped chin is horizontal.

1 check the swatches

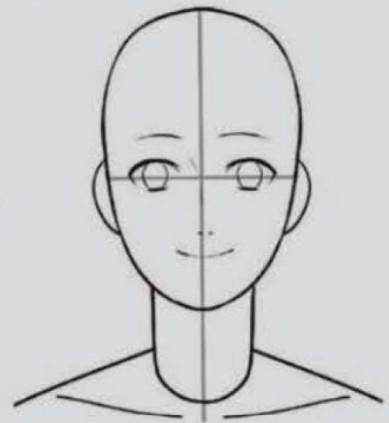

Check the sample photo. Let's try to capture the features of the facial features such as the eyes, mouth, nose, etc.

2 Take a hit

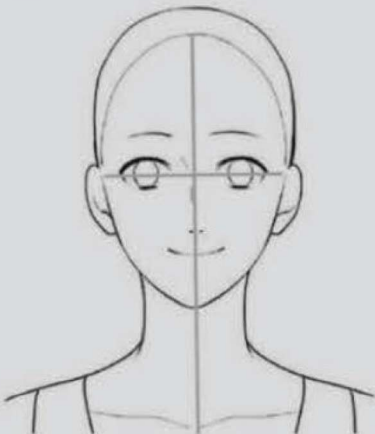

Take a rough impression. Draw a cross with a vertical line (median line) and a horizontal line to determine the center of the face.

Draw 3 parts

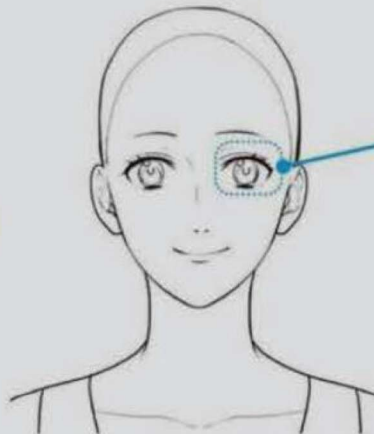

Draw the eyes so that they pass through the horizontal line, and decide the position of the eyebrows. Draw the nose and mouth along the vertical lines.

'4 Draw Rinkaku

Draw the outline of the face based on the bite. The woman in the photo has a sharp chin, so Rinkaku does the same.

'5Draw the details of the parts

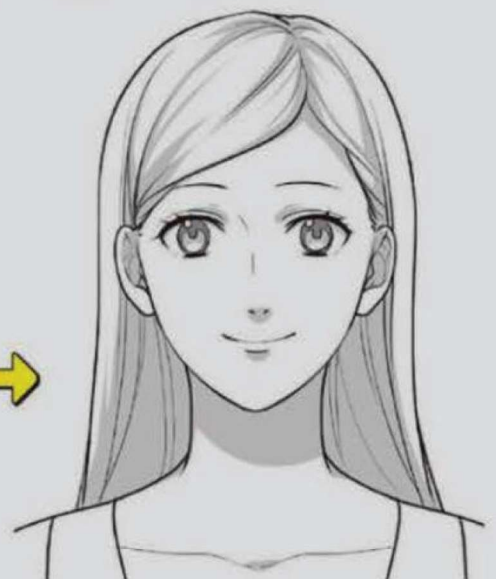

While erasing the marks, I prepare the parts of the face. Draw details such as eyes, lips, and ears.

Zoom

Among the parts of the face, the eyes are the most drawn elements. Decide on the position of the pupils and highlights, and add eyelashes.

8 Arrange the whole and complete

Erase the extra lines and arrange the entire line. Draw black eyes and highlights on the eyes for the final touch.

6 Take a look at the hair

Decide the shape of your hair and take a bite. From the woman in the photo, capture the position of the parting, the hair over the ears, and so on.

7 Draw the hair

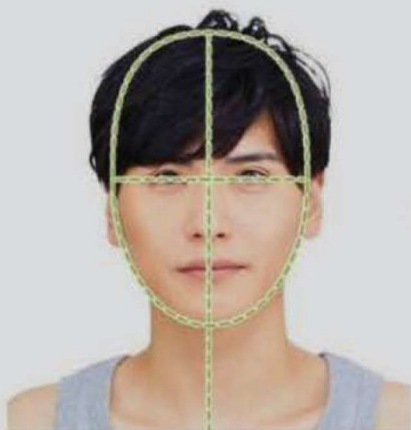

Draw the flow of hair. Draw the front hair flowing left and right, and the back hair flowing straight down.

Confirmed in the process (male)

From the photo, let's deform while capturing the difference with the woman.

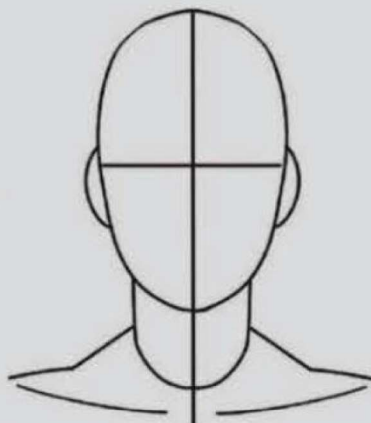

The trick is to make your eyes narrower and your chin wide.

1 Check the sample

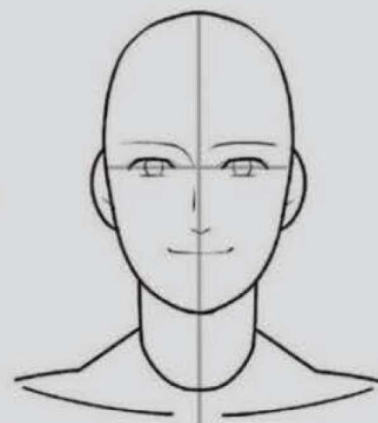

Check the sample photo. Notice how the Rinkaku is angular and the size of the parts are different compared to the woman's face.

2 Take a hit

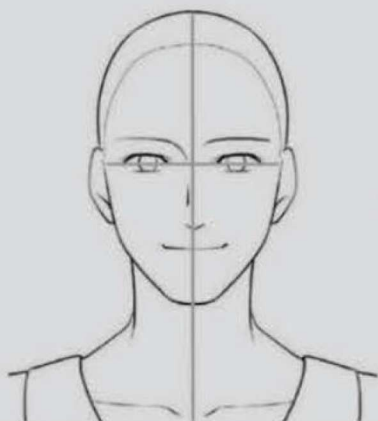

Based on the photo, take a mark on the face and add crosshairs. Let's catch face length and relationship compared to women.

3 Draw the parts

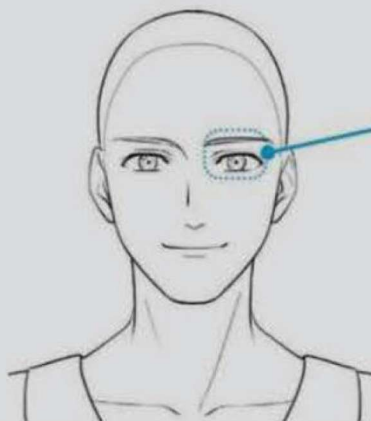

The eyes are drawn narrower and wider than those of women. Since the surface of Rinkaku is long, the space between parts should be wide.

4 Draw Rinkaku

Like the man in the photo, the tip of the chin is square. Let's draw while being conscious of the line of firm stop than the woman.

5 Draw the details of the parts

Let's draw in the parts of the face while erasing the marks. By thickening the eyebrows and bringing them closer to the eyes, you can create a masculine look.

Zoom

Males have fewer drawn eyes than females and often have no eyelashes. Draw small eyes and highlights.

8 Arrange the whole and complete

6 Take a look at the hair

While being conscious of the position from the whorl, take this atari of the hair. It's also good to draw hair on the nape and show the back hair.

7 Draw the hair

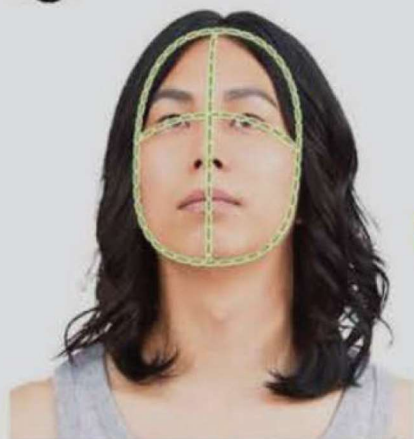

For men with short haircuts, the point is to draw while being conscious of the hair block that grows from the whorl.

Erase the extra lines and straighten the entire line. Draw inside the eyes and add shadows to finish.

"Changing Atari's eye line"

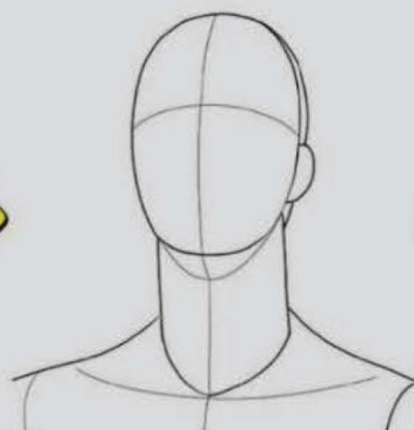

By moving the eye line up and down, you can swing the angle of the face up and down. Draw faces from different angles.

1 check the swatches

Check the sample photo. Let's grasp that the "eye line" becomes a line that draws an arc instead of a straight line.

2 Take a hit

Take an attribution based on the photo. Since the face is upward, the line of sight should be upward. Oh, let's take this space too.

3 Rinkuto draw parts

Draw eyes along the "eye line" and lower the corners of the eyes. Draw the mouth upward and widen the chin.

4 Draw the details of the parts

Black eyes should be directed upwards according to the angle of the face. Draw the nostrils and the thickness of the lips to emphasize the angle.

5 Draw hair

Make the hair smaller on the top of the head, add more volume around the neck, and draw the hairline while keeping the bangs floating.

6 Completed by arranging the whole put everything in order. If you are facing upward, it is effective to add shadows to the space under the chin or the hairline above the forehead.

Let's draw by shifting the "eye line"

Move the eye line up and down to change the angle of the face. When the face is up, it is also up, and when the face is down, it is also down.

The steeper the angle of the face, the tighter the curve of the eye line.

If downward, draw an arc downward.

Since the face is slightly upward, the eye line is also curved.

Change the "median line" of the hit

Check the sample photo. The median line shifts to the left, and the areas in front of and behind the nose change greatly, and the visible range changes.

2 Take a hit

Take an attribution based on the photo. Gently bend the midline to match the direction of the face. Let's make the depth of the back of the head.

3 Rinkuto draw parts

Draw the nose using the midline as a guide, and also determine the positions of the eyes and mouth. Rinku, let's emphasize this angular line.

4 Draw the details of the parts

Draw the details of the face based on the stroke. Draw the parts on the far side so that they are hidden by the nose.

5 draw hair

Draw the flow of hair. The hair in the back of the face should be drawn with a little more volume than it actually is for a good balance.

6 Arrange the whole and complete

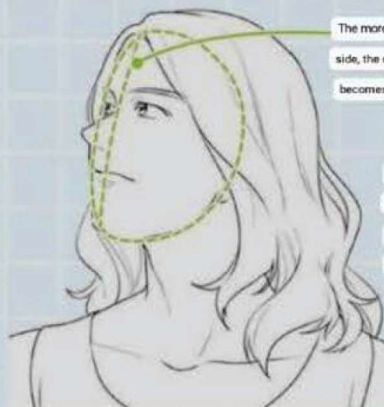

put everything in order. By adding strong shadows to the hair that can be seen in the background, you can add depth to the illustration.

Allen

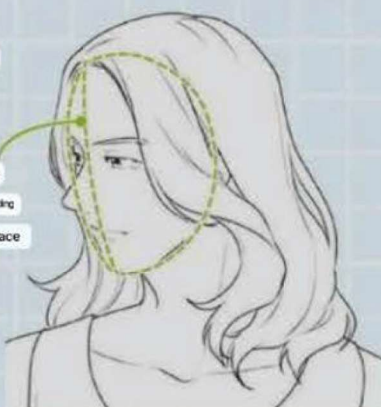

Let's draw by shifting the "median line"

The median line is placed in the center of the face, so if you shift it to the right, it will face right, and if you shift it to the left, it will face left.

The more you turn to the side, the closer the midline becomes to the Rinkaku.

The angle of the midline changes depending on whether the face is up or down.

Draw the back eye closer to the midline, and open the other side slightly.

How to draw a slanted face

With a diagonally angled face, the midline of the Atari's face should be shifted in an arc in the direction you want the face to face. Please note that the appearance of the parts changes depending on the angle.

Asymmetrical facial parts

In a slanted face, the parts of the face are not symmetrical like the front face. Get to know each position.

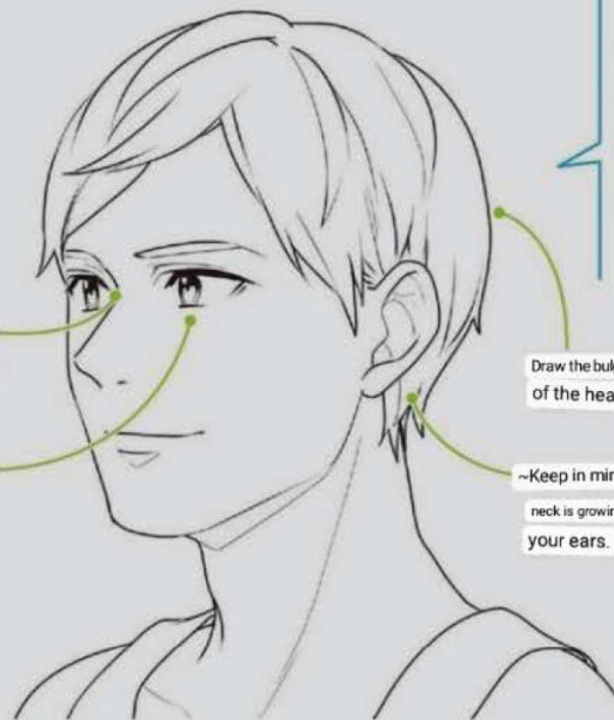

With the nose as the center of the face, the front area is wide and the back area is narrow. Compared to the front face, the bridge of the nose stands out greatly. Capture the bulge of the cheekbones.

Draw eyebrows and eyes on the back of the nose starting from the tip of the nose.

Let's match the direction of the face and the line of sight.

Let's be aware of the unevenness of the face

Draw the bulge on the back of the head.

~Keep in mind that your neck is growing behind your ears.

Shift the crosshairs to make an angle

Shifting the center line of the Atari's crosshairs changes the direction of the face, and changing the eye line changes the angle of the face.

Oblique angle

Shift the midline to the left. The width of the eye on the back side is smaller, but the vertical width does not change.

Rightward tilt

Shift the midline to the right. Pay attention to how the hair flows, as the parting of the hair and the positions of the curls will change.

Check in process

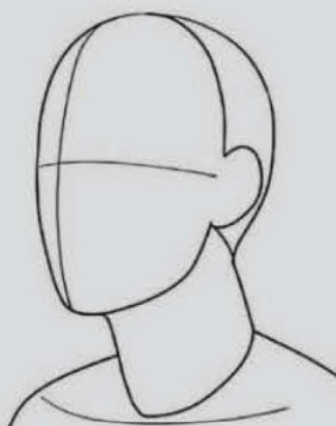

Draw a profile from a photo. Decide on the outline of the face, draw the midline, think about changes in the shape of the eyes, etc. and draw them.

1 Check the sample

Check the photo. Add a line that divides the face into front and back at the position of the ears. It will be easier to balance.

2 Take a hit

Based on the line captured in the photo, take a bite. The point is to bend the vertical line along the direction of the face.

3 Rinkaku and Parts to draw

Draw parts while paying attention to how the left and right eyes see. Be aware of the unevenness of the rink, gills, etc.

④ Draw the details of the parts

Draw the details of the face based on the stroke. Pay attention to the position of the pupil so that the line of sight does not look disjointed.

⑤ Draw the hair

Draw the flow of the hair while taking a bite of the hair slightly larger than the head. Let's be conscious of the swelling of the back of the head.

6 Arrange the whole and complete

Erase the entire line and arrange the whole. Adding light shadows under the nose and under the lips will enhance the three-dimensional effect.

[of]

The face is unbalanced because the eyes are too small behind the midline.

Left and right eyes are the same size. The eyes in the back are narrower and the whites are slightly narrower to achieve a balance.

The eyes are the most important thing to pay attention to when the face is at an angle. Some people draw the eyes on the far side of the median line to be extremely small in consideration of perspective, but this is a mistake. With a slanted face, perspective (perspective) is rarely applied, so the left and right sizes are almost the same. However, note that the visible range is different.

how to draw a profile

Compared to the face from the front, it is characterized by drawing more unevenness from the forehead to the bridge of the nose, from the mouth to the chin. Also pay attention to how to draw the face line from the chin to the ears.

draw the contours of the face

In profile, the forehead protrudes in a round shape with sunken areas around the eyes.

Let's be conscious of the unevenness of the mouth.

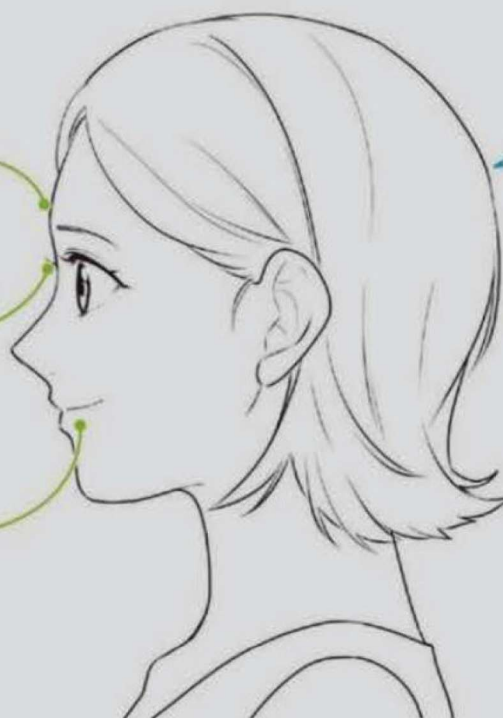

The lower lip is not straight and the chin protrudes slightly. Draw the eyes in a large exaggeration while being careful not to break the shape of the triangle with the corner of the eye as the apex.

Draw unevenness from the forehead to the bridge of the nose.

Eyelashes bounce outward.

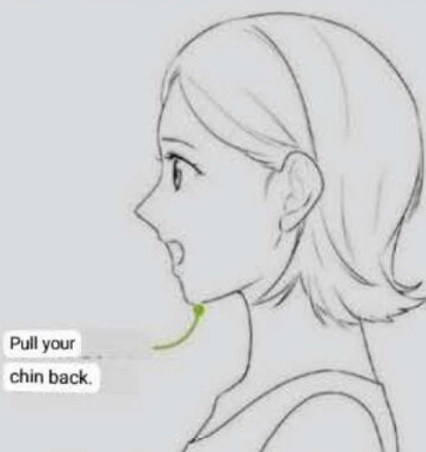

Make the mouth uneven in the shape of the lips.

Be aware of the unevenness of the forehead, nose, and chin

Draw an illustration with an open mouth

In profile, the shape of the jaw changes depending on whether the mouth is closed or open. Be aware of your jaw joints.

Pull your chin back.

Watch the movement of the jaw in the illustration with the mouth open. Starting from the chin joint at the base of the ear, draw downwards.

O

Jaw does not move straight down

If the chin is straight down, the illustration will look unnatural, as if the chin joint is dislocated.

There is no problem if you open your mouth slightly, but be careful when you open your mouth wide.

Check in process

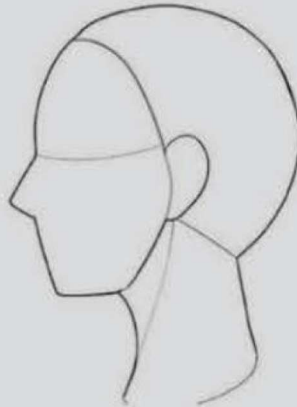

Draw a profile while looking at the photo. The shape is more complicated than the front face, so it is important to know the position of the ears.

① Check the sample

Check the sample photo. Capture the unevenness of the entire face. It is good to divide the face based on the position of the ear.

Take an attribution based on the photo. For the profile, draw the protruding nose, so draw its position as well.

Arrange the rinkaku and determine the position of the parts. For Rinkaku, draw in the unevenness of the forehead and mouth.

④ Draw the details of the parts

Draw the details based on the unevenness of the rinkaku drawn in step 3. For women, adding eyelashes is also a point.

⑤ Draw the hair

Draw the hair while keeping in mind how the hair flows over the ears. Draw the bangs that wrap around the front for a natural impression.

6 Arrange the whole and complete

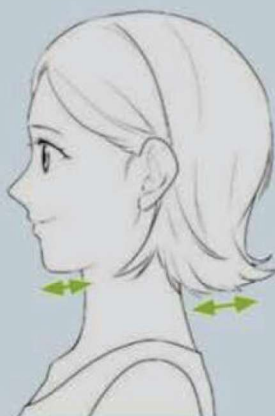

Erase the extra lines to finish. Add shadows to the neck and back of the head to create a three-dimensional effect.

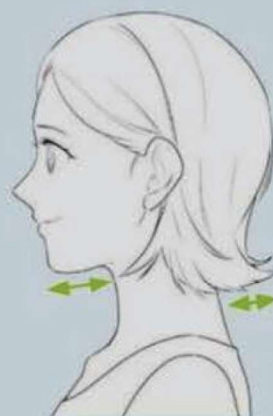

[of]

The base of the neck is too far forward. The neck becomes thicker and the whole body becomes unbalanced.

The root of the neck is near the back of the head. The back of the head is also rounded for a clean line.

pay attention to how the neck is

The neck is closer to the back of the head than the neck. If the base of the neck is pushed forward, the chin will be shortened and the back of the head will be vertical.

Note that the shape of the eyes and nose changes when the angle changes.

For women, the shape of the chin should be soft and curved.

Let's draw with a line conscious of the roundness of the back of the head.

point

eyes are round and puffy

Since the eyes are spheres, they appear puffy when viewed at an angle. When the angle of the face is strong and the edge of the eye touches the ridge of the face, exaggerating the bulge of the white of the eye will give it a three-dimensional appearance.

Men have longer gills than women, so if you have an angled face, make your chin more angular.

【male】

It is better to draw the chin slightly horizontally compared to women.

For men, draw the bulge at the tip of the chin.

Since the hair is shorter than women's hair, it should not spread too far to the left or right.

Due to short hair, do not spread too much to the left and right.

point

Draw eyebrows and eyes starting from the streak

When drawing an angled face, use the nose as the starting point to balance the eyebrows and eye shape. If you draw the bridge of the nose firmly, it will be easier to distinguish the front side and the back side of the face.

let's draw aori

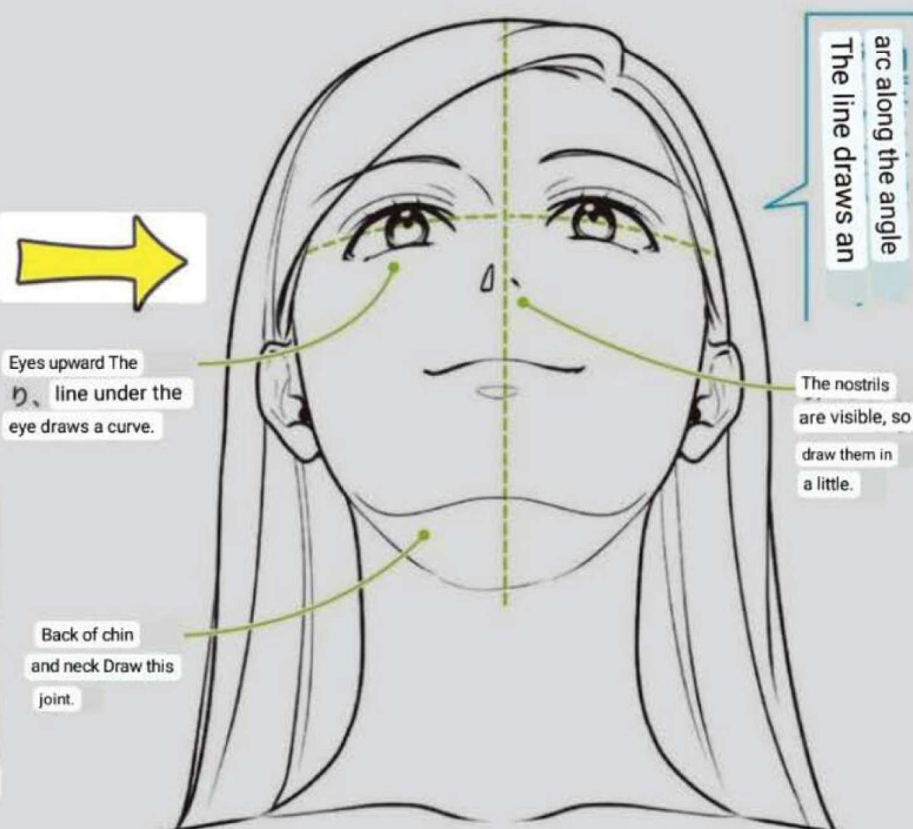

The state seen from the angle from below is "Aori". It is characterized by a wide chin area and a narrow head area. Be aware of the appearance and position of the eyes and lips when drawing.

Eye line curves upward

Place the eye line above the center and draw an upward curve. Draw the position of the ears below the line of the eyes.

Aori face is arranged so that the parts of the face draw a curve. The eyes are directed upward and the line under the eyelid draws a curve. You can see the back side of the chin, so be aware of the connection with the neck.

Capturing parts in a "box"

For an angled face, it is easy to understand even if you think of the face as a box and give it a bite. Get to know each part.

Draw parts along the crosshairs of the face. The extension of the eye line will be the position of the ears.

Illustration based on Atari. Since it's tilt-shift, the ears are below the line of the eyes.

For an angled face, it is easier to grasp the position if you draw the eyebrow line when you draw the eye line.

If the hair does not reach the neck, draw a step between the head and the neck.

process)

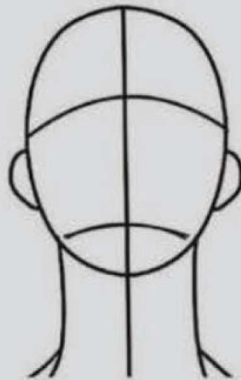

For tilting, it is easier to draw if you draw the line of the chin. Pay attention to the shape of the eyes and nose when viewed from below.

1 check the swatches

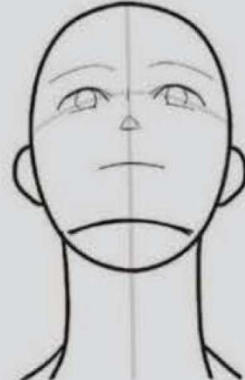

Check the sample photo. In the case of tilt, make sure that the lower part of the face looks wider and the back of the chin is visible.

2 Take a hit

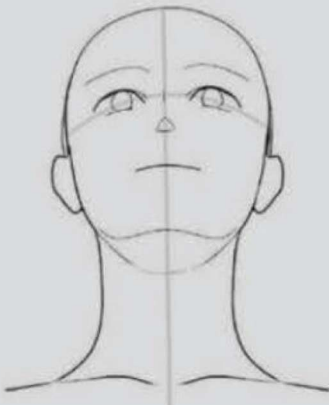

As you can see in the photo, draw a line on the back of your chin. The eye line curves upward.

Draw 3 parts

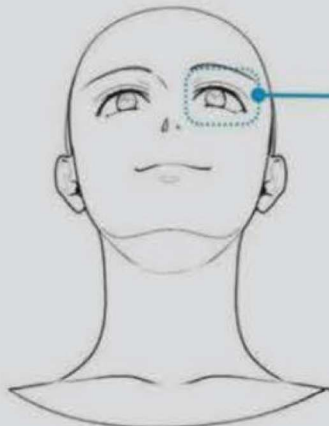

Draw the eyes and eyebrows along the crosshairs. The corners of the mouth are raised, so they are not as curved as the eyes.

4 Draw Rinkaku

Rinkaku makes it easy to bring out the state of tilt when the back of the chin is firmly inserted.

5 Draw the details of the parts

Draw in details while adjusting the curves of the eyes and eyebrows. Since the composition is viewed from below, I also draw the nostrils.

Zoom

Avoid getting lost when drawing an angled face. Once you have determined the direction your character is looking, adjust the position of the pupils and highlights.

6 Take a hair cut

Please note that the front part of the hair is less and the top of the head is not visible.

7 Draw the hair

The point is to show the hairline with parted bangs. Sweep the hair on the sides of the head back to create a three-dimensional effect.

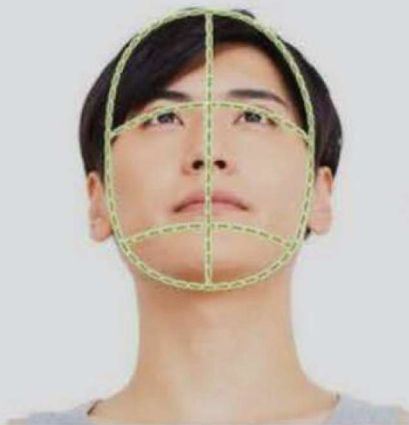

Align all lines. At this time, the point is to draw the line on the back of the chin thinly so that it is not too thick.

Check in process (male)

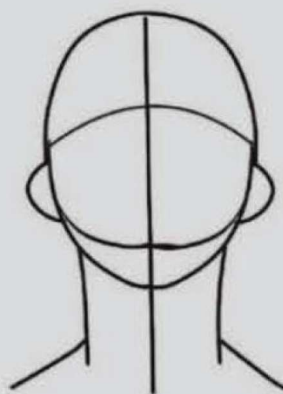

Men have a firmer chin, so draw with the thickness of the chin especially in mind when drawing.

1 check the swatches

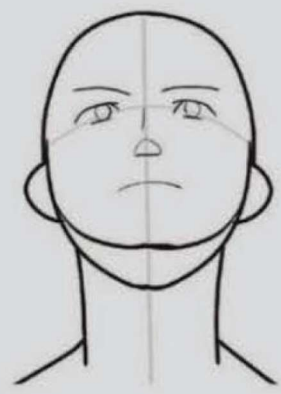

Check the sample photo. Notice how the face is squarer and the neck thicker than that of a woman.

2 Take a hit

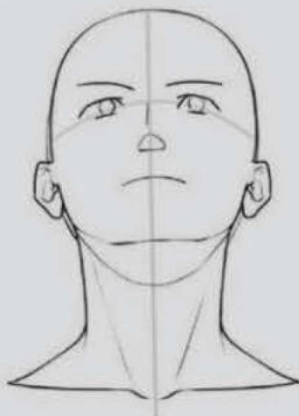

The horizontal line of the eyes and the horizontal line of the chin should draw upward arcs. The chin protrudes greatly compared to females.

3 Draw the parts

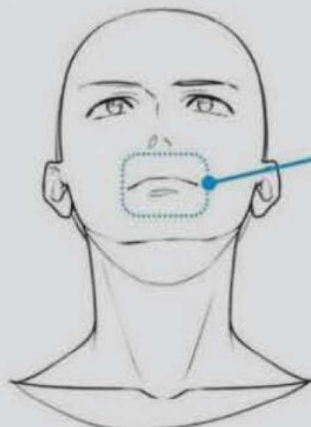

Compared to women, the eyes are straighter. The size of the nose should also be large. Note the distance between the nose and mouth.

4 Draw Rinkaku

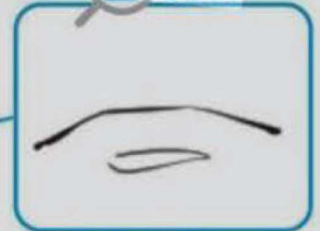

Keep in mind that the Rinkaku lines should be square. Let's draw a thicker line to make it look more masculine. Also put a line on the neck.

5 Draw the details of the parts

Let's draw the characteristic thick eyebrows and deep-sculpted nose that can be seen in the photo. Make your eyes and eyebrows draw a downward arc.

Zoom

Since the angle is from below, draw a large mouth and add a shadow below it to make it stand out even more.

8 Arrange the whole and complete

6 Take a look at the hair

Using the parting line as a guide, take a look at your hair. Note that the hair at the hairline looks floating because of the tilt.

7 Draw the hair

The point is to draw the sides of the head separately from the sideburns and the back hair. Let's draw with a larger hair bundle than the woman.

Align the entire line. Compared to women, if you draw thicker lines for the eyes, they will look more solid.

Aori (female)

Note the joint between the chin and the neck. If you draw too tightly, it may look unnatural. Also check the shape of the eyes and nose.

The unevenness of the nose and mouth is also emphasized, so let's check it.

At a slanted tilt angle, you can see the surface that connects from the back of the chin to the ears. By drawing the thickness firmly, you can make it look more three-dimensional.

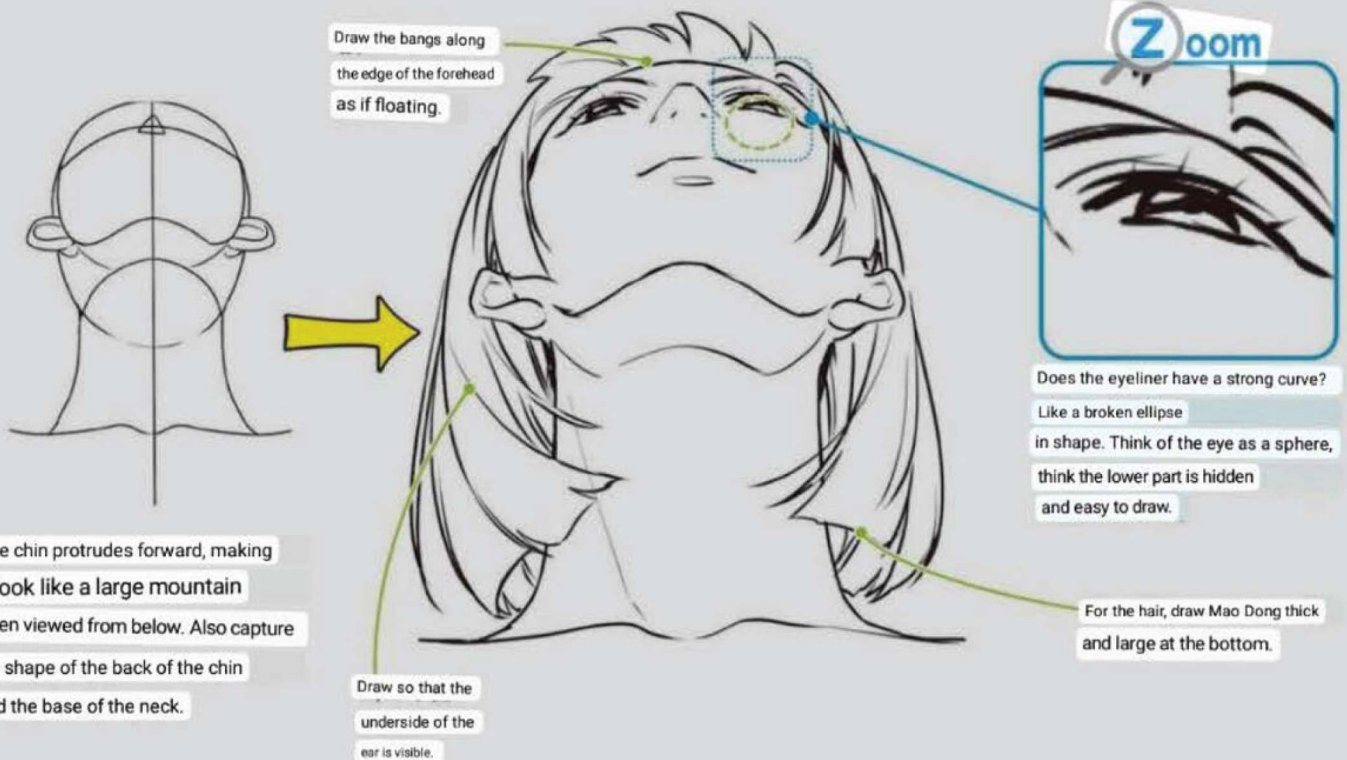

Let's draw an extreme tilt

The more you raise your chin, the narrower your forehead. At an almost straight-on angle, the area above the nose is sharply narrowed, especially the eyes, which are extremely small and narrow.

How to get a hit

Draw a crosshair on the oval circle. Draw a triangle to mark the nose, and draw the nose and mouth higher than the ears.

How to draw the back of the chin

As the tilt becomes stronger, the area of the back of the chin increases accordingly.

The point is to draw the chin line and the line between the chin and the neck.

Draw a firm chin

The back is large so that it does not become too much

The colored part is the back of the chin. By drawing the back of the chin firmly, a space is created at the joint between the chin and the neck, giving it a three-dimensional look.

Expressions that strengthen tilt

A technique in which some parts of the face are drawn larger than their actual size to make the illustration look more dynamic. When you have a crooked face, even if you can see the back of the nose at an angle, by drawing the nose wide and hiding the eyes, it looks even wider than the actual angle.

It deliberately hides its eyes with its nose.

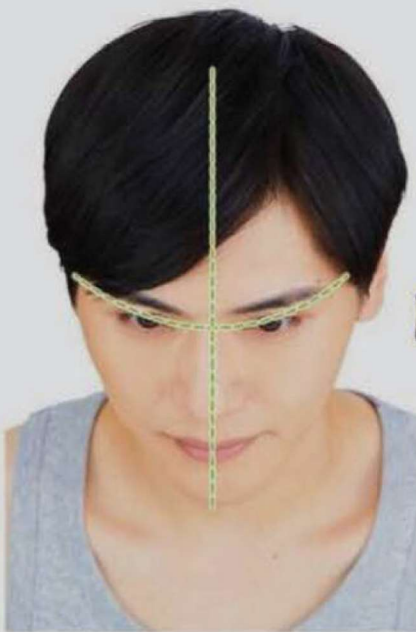

let's draw fukan

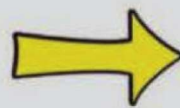

The state seen from the angle from above is "fukan". It is characterized by a wide head area and a narrow chin area. You can see the whorls, so let's draw with the flow of the hair in mind.

eye line curved downwards

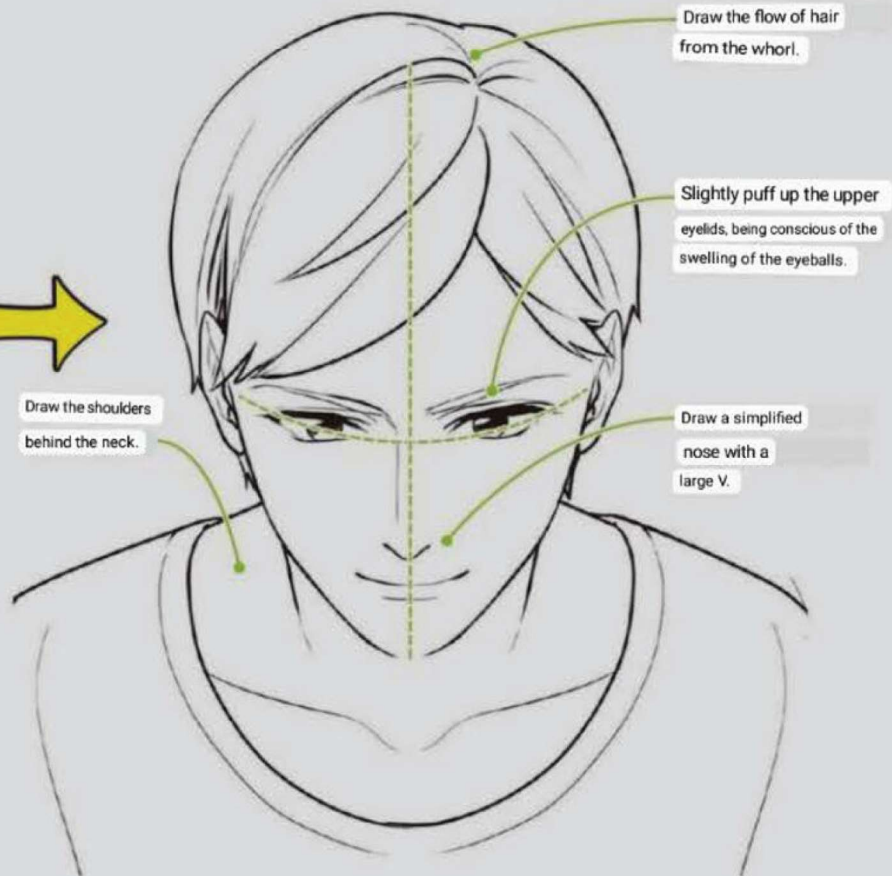

Place the eye line below the center and draw a downward curve. Draw the position of the ears above the line of the eyes.

Draw the eyes flat and the thickness of the eyelids for the fukan face. Draw a large nose tip and shorten the distance from nose to mouth and mouth to chin.

Draw the shoulders behind the neck.

The feature is that the eyes tend to fall down and the thickness of the upper eyelids is emphasized. In women, the eyelashes flow downward.

point

How to draw the clavicle of Hukan

Let's check how to draw the neck when drawing a fukan face. The clavicle extends from the neck towards the shoulder. In the case of the fukan, it curves in an inverted V shape from the neck to the middle shoulder. Let's draw so that there is depth vertically and horizontally.

Zoom

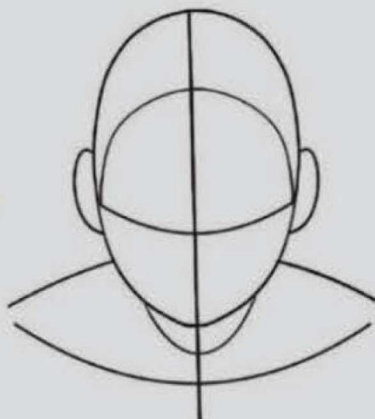

Note that there are more bones than just under the neck, up to your shoulders

1 check the swatches

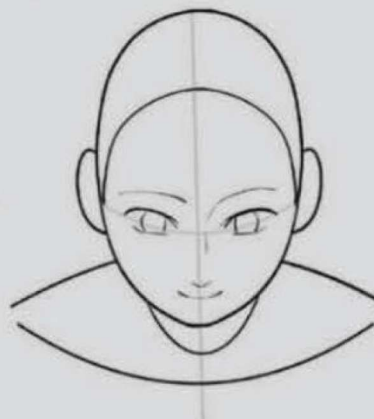

Check the sample photo. Notice how in the fukan the head area appears wider and the facial parts are gathered on the underside.

2 Take a hit

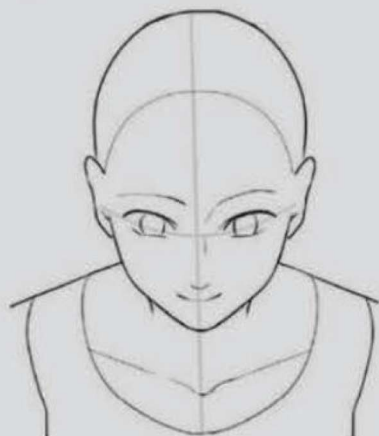

Draw the eye line so that it curves downward. It is also a good idea to draw where the hairline extends.

3 Draw the parts

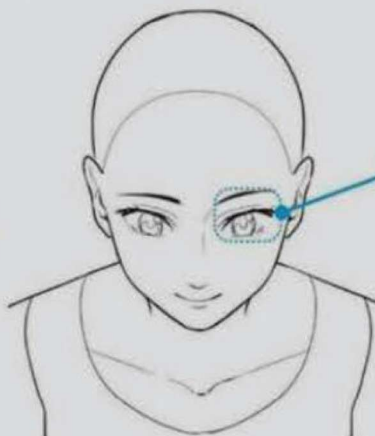

Eyes are drawn in along the crosshairs. The eyes tend to be downcast, and the nose and mouth are drawn fairly close together.

4 Draw Rinkaku

Draw a rink while being aware that the tip of the chin is pointed. Draw a short neck line to stabilize the position of the face.

5 Draw the details of the parts

Draw the details by slightly raising the corners of the eyes and eyebrows. You can see the tip of the nose, but you can't see the nostrils, so be careful.

Zoom

As you can see in the photo, the eyes tend to fall down from this angle from above. However, if you draw it as it is, the expression will be limited, so pay attention to the shape of the eyes and open them a little.

Completed by arranging the whole

6 Take a look at the hair

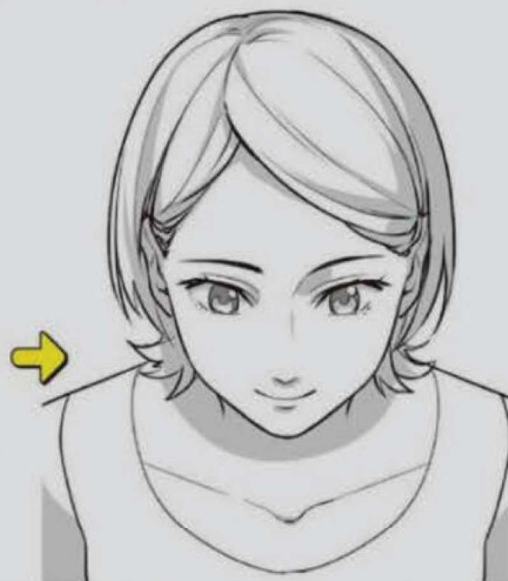

Using the hairline as a reference, draw a parting line. The side hair flow is loosely curved rather than straight.

7 Draw the hair

You can see the top of the head, so draw the flow of hair from the whorl. The neckline is flipped outward as shown in the photo.

While arranging the whole, adding a shadow around the neck when viewed from above adds to the fukanness.

Check in process (male)

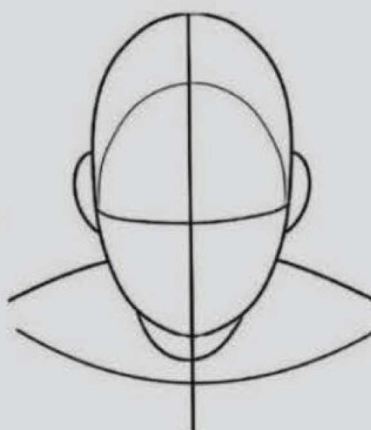

Men's cheeks don't have rounded cheeks, so their faces look longer and narrower than women's, but draw the tip of the chin to be angular.

① Check the sample

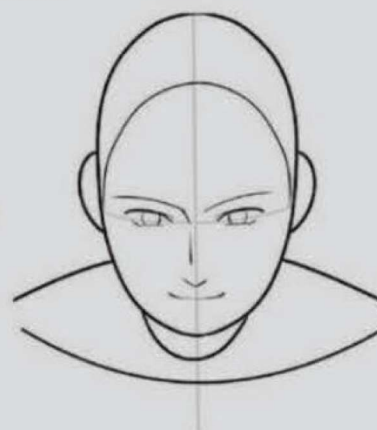

Check the sample photo. Pay attention to the fact that the neck is not visible due to the furkan, and that the face is longer than that of women.

2 Take a hit

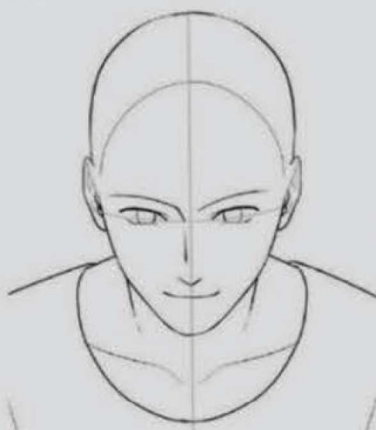

Take a crosshair based on the photo. Due to the long face, the space for drawing the face is wider than that of a woman.

3 Draw the parts

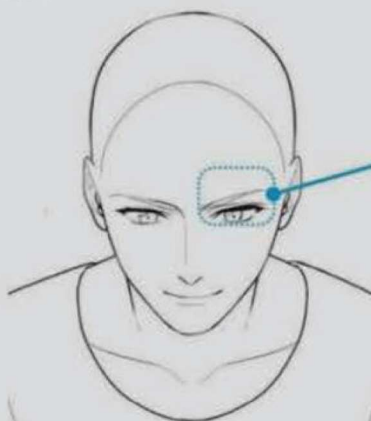

Determine the position of the parts. As you can see from the photo, draw the eyebrows up and the eyes downcast.

4 Draw Rinkaku

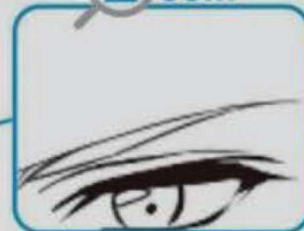

Men's chins are angular, so be careful not to make them as sharp as women's chins. Let's add a little neck line.

5 Draw the details of the parts

Draw the details of the parts. Draw the distance between the eyebrows and the eyes as close as possible, and draw the bridge of the nose to give the face a three-dimensional effect.

Zoom

When viewed from above, the angle of the eyebrows becomes sharper. Draw the eyelids thicker than usual.

6 Take a look at the hair

From the parting of the hair, take a large tuft of hair. The neckline is not visible, so it is not drawn here.

'7 Draw the hair

Draw the flow of hair from the whorl. Drawing the hair bundles so that they overlap gives the hair a three-dimensional effect.

Align all lines. By putting shadows under the bangs, you can express a slightly floating state.

Fukan (female)

Pay attention to how the hair is drawn, as the area of the top of the head will increase. Get the shape of the ears, chin and neck joints right.

point

Pay attention to the angle of the eyebrows on the far side

When the face is angled, eyebrows and eye curves are no longer symmetrical. In particular, the eyebrows on the back side have a tighter curve than the eyebrows on the front side because the visible area is narrower.

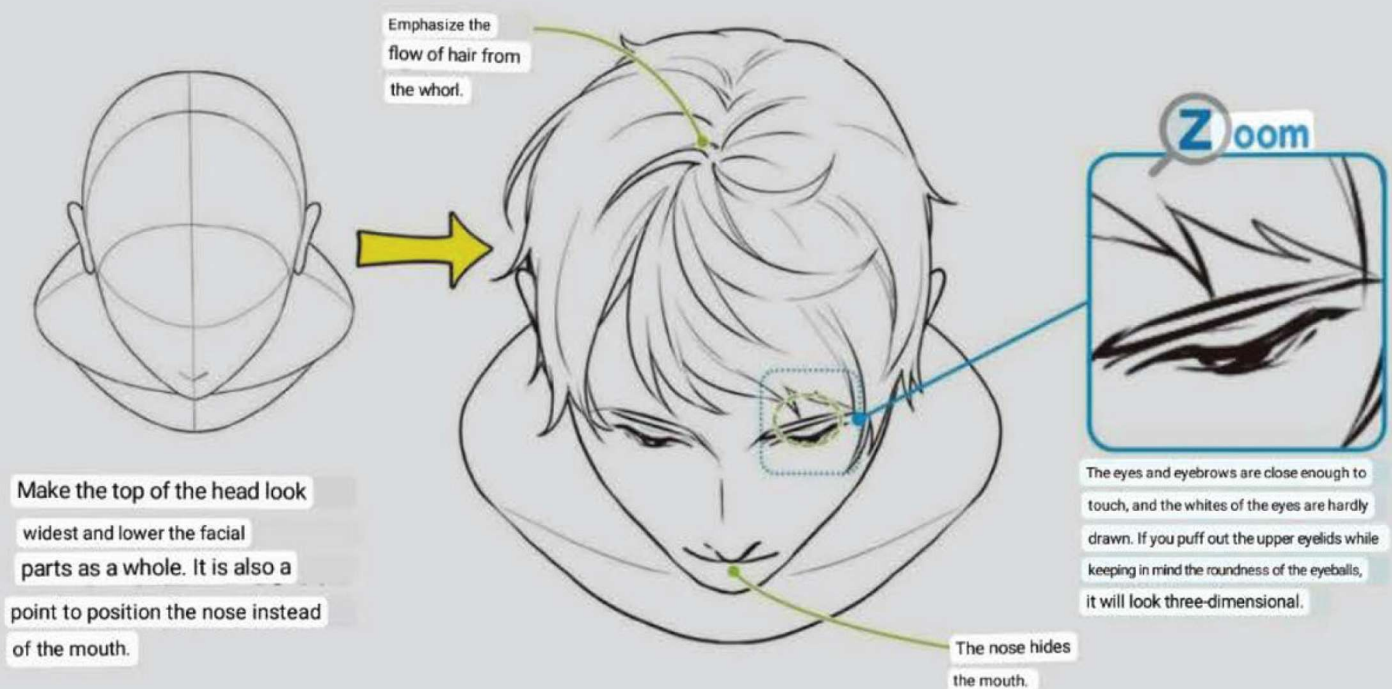

Let's draw an extreme fukan

The wider the top of the head, the lower the facial features, and the narrower the mouth and chin. Draw the nose and mouth so that they are attached when the angle is almost directly above.

How to get a hit

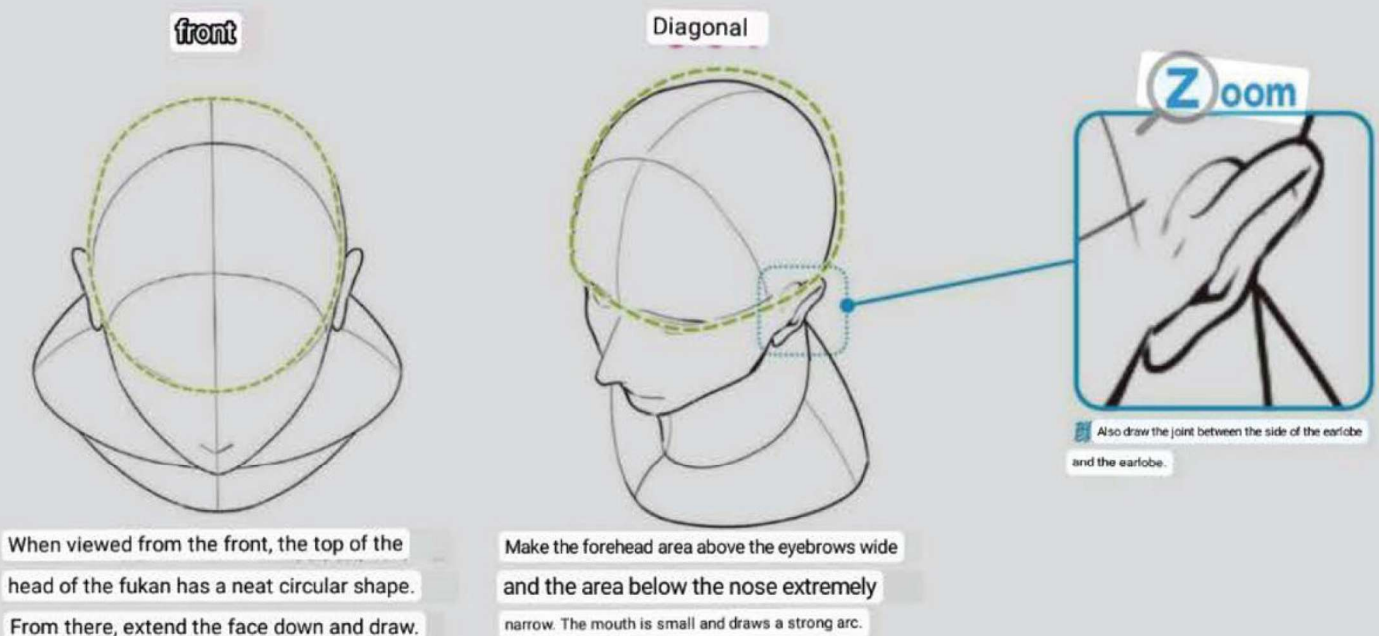

The eye line arcs downward, and the hairline and crown line arcs upward. Ears higher than eyes.

Draw from the top of the head

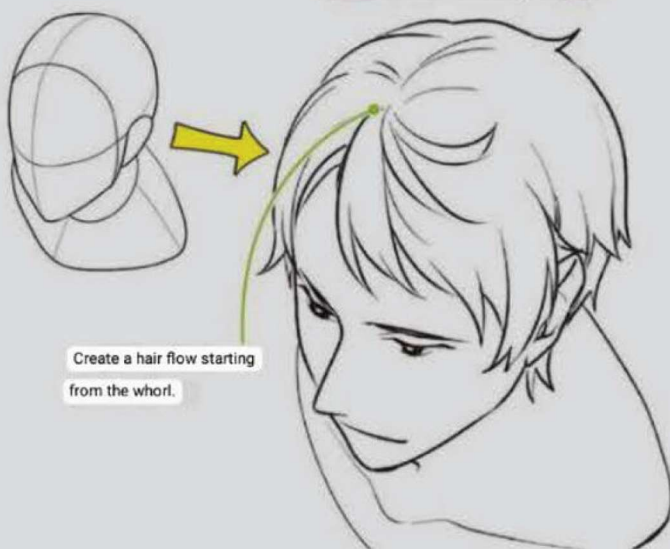

An image of drawing a circle on the top of the head and growing a chin from there.

How to draw eyes and eyebrows

The eyes are an important part that creates the image of the face and can be said to be the life of the character.

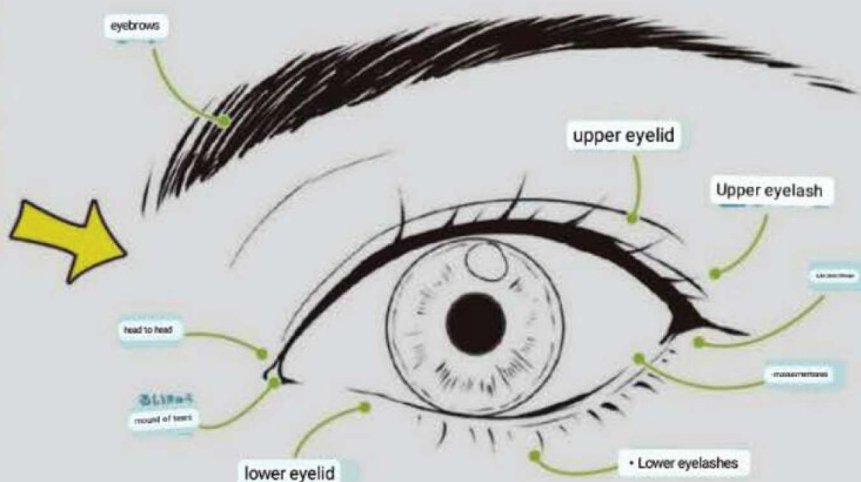

While capturing the basic structure in the photo, arrange it to make the illustration more attractive.

Structure of eyes and eyebrows

Let's grasp the position and name of each part of eyes and eyebrows. Women tend to have thin eyebrows, while men tend to have thick straight lines.

The eyes are the most deformed part. Let's understand the shape and position of the basic parts by referring to the actual eye.

draw in process

Once you know the structure of the actual eye, decide where you want to emphasize and draw. The parts are deformed and drawn.

1 Draw eyebrows

Each hair is omitted and the shape is rough. Draw the head of the eyebrows thick and the bottom of the eyebrows thin and flowing.

2 draw eyeliner

The upper part of the eyeliner should not exceed the length of the eyebrows. The underside should be as long as the size of the eye.

*3 Draw black eyes

Use the lower eyeliner as a saucer to draw round black eyes. Do not let the black edge of the eye touch the eyeliner.

Draw the inside of the 4th eye

Draw pupils and highlights. It is also the part where the individuality of the artist is most displayed.

5 Draw eyelashes

Arrange the eyeliner and draw the upper eyelashes. Depending on the pattern, the lower eyelashes are often omitted.

6 complete

Align all lines. Paint the pupils and fine-tune the size of the highlights. It is also good to put a shadow on the iris.

gaze and eye movements

The movement of the eyes is important to move the character. In addition to the structure of the eyes, check the movement of the iris and highlights.

highlight

Expressing the areas where the light hits the white area. Place it in the same position on each eye.

iris

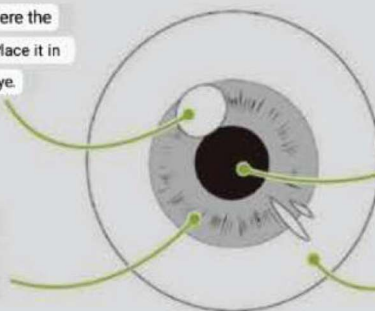

The radial pattern that surrounds the pupil. It also has the effect of making the highlights stand out.

瞳孔

The hole where light enters the eyeball is represented by a black circle.

eyouma
sclera

The white part on the surface of the eye, also called the white of the eye. The range changes depending on the line of sight.

Attach the left and right eyes to the outer and inner corners of the eyes, respectively.

Right facing (from the character's point of view)

Draw the pupil to the left side without changing the size of the eye. Widen the white area of the eye on the right side.

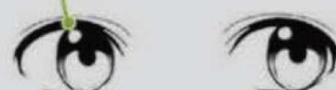

Be aware that the upper part of the eye is slightly separated by the upper eyelid.

upward

Keep the eyes away from the lower eyelid and apply to the upper eyelid. Also draw the highlight closer to the center.

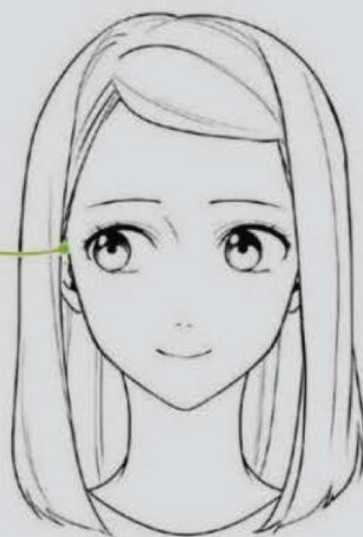

Do not move the position of the highlight in the eye.

Draw the pupil to the right side without changing the size of the eyes. Widen the white of the eye on the left side.

Make sure that the overall shape of the eyes is consistent.

Make sure that the shape of the eyes and the line at the height of the eyes do not deviate when turning the eyes to the left or right with the front face. Let's adjust the position of the pupil in the direction of the line of sight.

Right and left pupils are the same size.

Place the eyes on the upper eyelids and draw the pupils and highlights upwards.

Same illustration, just change the eyes

Even with the same face direction and the same eyes, you can draw different expressions just by changing your line of sight. If you lower your gaze while your face is facing upwards, you can create the atmosphere of looking down on the other person.

upward

Downward

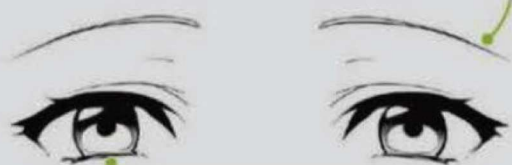

Place the eyes on the lower eyelid and leave a clear space between the upper eyelid and the eyelid.

emotional expression

Let's express emotions just by drawing eyes. Details of emotional expressions are explained in Part 3 (P127~).

happiness

The lower eyelid is not straight. Make a soft curve.

Slightly narrow your eyes and draw the top and bottom of the eyeliner in an upward flow to express a smile or smile.

Gently lower the eyebrows from the head of the eyebrows to the bottom of the eyebrows.

[angry]

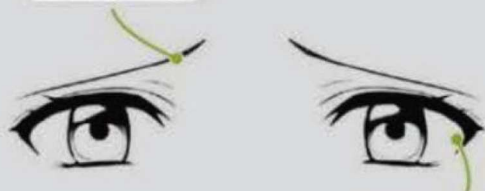

Bring the head of the eyebrows closer to the inner corner of the eye, and raise the buttocks of the eyebrows.

Add wrinkle lines between the eyebrows.

Raise the eyebrows and the corners of the eyes over. The degree of anger can be emphasized by the depth of wrinkles between the eyebrows.

sorrow

Lower the eyebrows so that it becomes a figure of eight.

Lower the corner of the eye slightly.

Expressing subtle emotions by using eyebrows and downcast eyes. Good even with tears.

[easy]

Shape the eyebrows into a bow.

Make a big highlight.

Make your eyes look bigger by emphasizing the overall roundness. Express excitement and enjoyment.

Close ~ eyes

The degree of opening of the eyes is also an important point to create expressions with the eyes. Check the balance of your face when you close your eyes.

Zoom

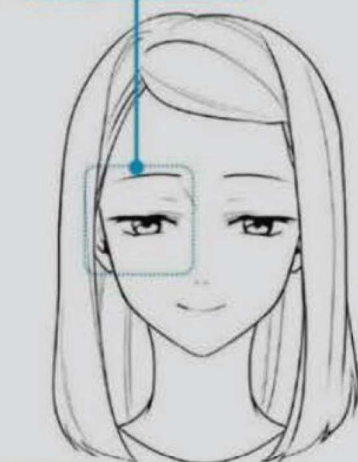

Keeping the overall position as it is, the image of lowering only the upper eyelid.

Zoom

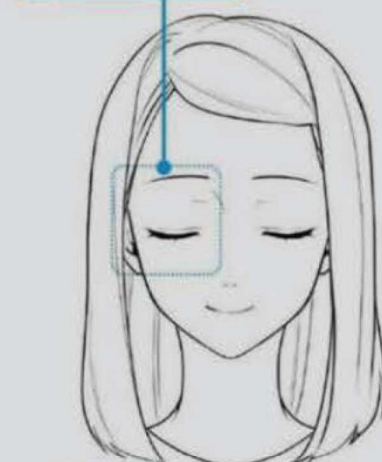

Draw a downward flow that curves toward the outer corner of the eye so that the upper eyelid overlaps the lower eyelid.

half eye

For falling asleep, ennui expressions, etc. By attaching long eyelashes to the upper eyelid, you can also create a "downcast eye".

close up

eyes when sleeping. Emotions such as crying or smiling gently can also be applied to this expression.

[Manga Technique]

The closed eye should be slightly below the center of the open eye.

How to draw a wink

When you actually wink, the upper eyelid curves downward, but in the illustration, it curves upward, so be careful.

eye type

The eyes are an important part that gives the character an impression. Let's draw different eyes that match each personality.

Woman

Do not separate the double and eyeliner too much.

Be aware of round curves.

double

Feminine, large and plump shape. Suitable for lively and bright characters.

Male

Make the highlights bigger.

Draw thick eyeliner.

Round, well-shaped eyes. Suitable for royal road characters such as orthodox handsome.

The eyes should adhere to the lines of the upper and lower eyelids.

Lengthen the eyes horizontally.

Heavy

The eyes are long and have clean lines. Suitable for intelligent and cool characters.

Make the eyes longer sideways.

The black eyes are elongated vertically.

The black eyes are smaller than women's, and the shape is conscious of sharpness. Suitable for mysterious characters.

Position the outer corner of the eye higher than the inner corner of the eye.

Make eyelashes upward and bounce.

slanted eyes

Eye shape that raises the outer corner of the eye and creates a dignified atmosphere. It is suitable for bullish and tsundere characters.

Tightly draw the curve of the outer corner of the eye.

Widen the white part of the eye.

Draw the corners of the eyes with a straight line. It is suitable for cold-hearted and cool characters.

Position the outer corner of the eye below the inner corner of the eye.

Draw the eyelashes downward to match the outer corner of the eye.

drooping eyes

Draw a Yamagata curve to create a shape that is conscious of the weight of the outer corner of the eye. Suitable for gentle characters.

The eyes are rather large and round.

Male, but with rounded lines.

Eyes with a slightly curved line that lowers the outer corner of the eye. Suitable for gentle characters.

Drawing the lower eyelashes makes the eyes look smaller.

Make the pupils smaller and the whites wider.

Three white eyes

The black eyes are biased upward, emphasizing the poor eyesight shape. Suitable for characters with strong vigilance.

Make black eyes as small as possible.

It is more effective not to draw the corners of the eyes.

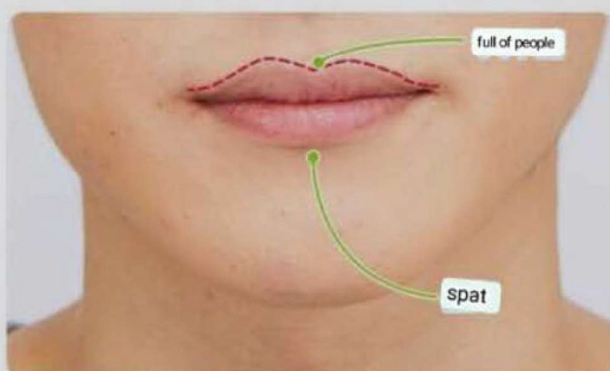

A design that boldly widens the whites of the eyes and is conscious of the smallness of the eyes. Suitable for short-tempered characters.

how to draw mouth and chin

The mouth has a complex structure. With manga characters, the facial expression changes depending on how much of the mouth is drawn, such as the teeth and tongue. Let's grasp the structure and be able to draw different facial expressions.

□ and jaw structure

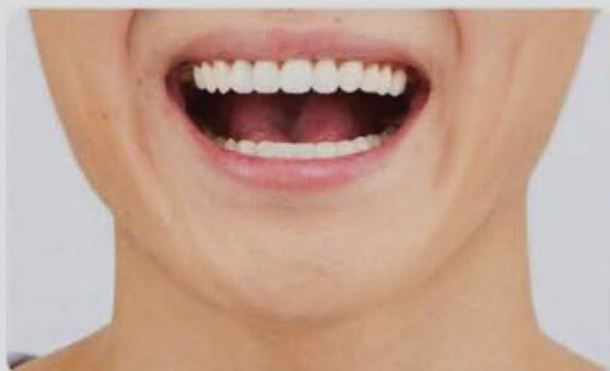

Learn how to draw a closed mouth and an open mouth by looking at the pictures and understanding the positions and names of each part of the mouth and chin.

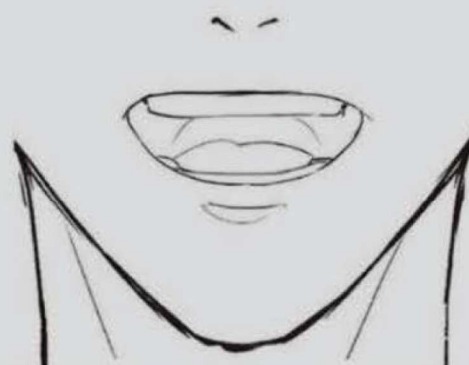

There are two peaks on the upper lip.

In illustrations, the lips are often omitted and drawn with lines, but the lower lip can also be puffed out to give a three-dimensional effect.

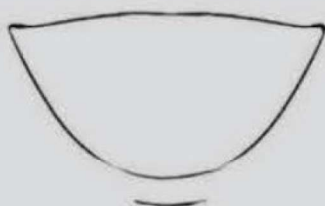

The teeth are curved from front to back. If you open your mouth wide, wrinkles will form around it.

Instead of drawing each tooth individually, the upper and lower teeth are often drawn together.

let's draw deformed

The parts are deformed to capture the characteristics of the mouth. In manga characters, teeth and tongues are often omitted.

An illustration of an extremely omitted mouth. Only the rinkaku is drawn, and the teeth and tongue inside the mouth are not drawn.

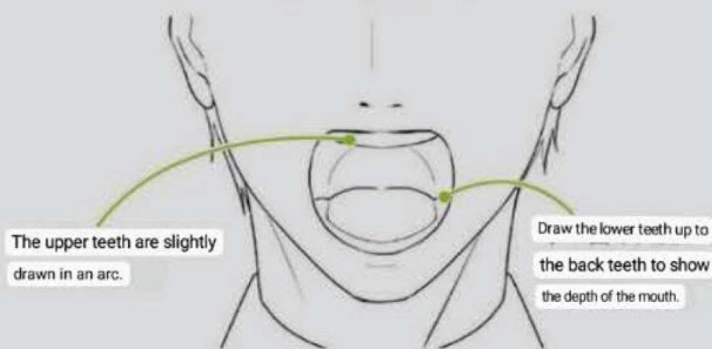

Moderately abbreviated mouth illustration. Draw the upper and lower teeth as a cluster. Do not draw back teeth or tongue.

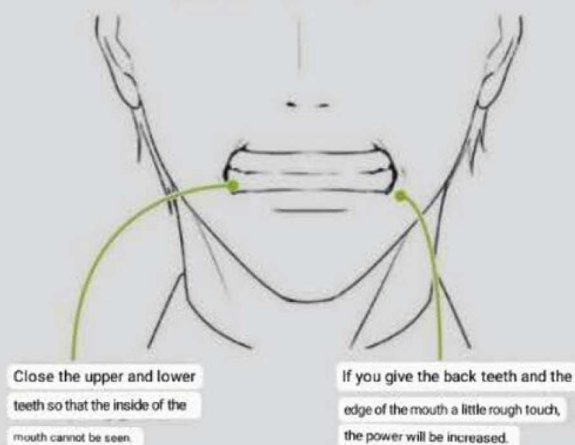

how to draw teeth

In most cases, the teeth are not drawn one by one, but are shown as a whole. In particular, the lower teeth are often hidden.

how to draw tongue

The tongue is a part that can move in various ways. Let's master the difference in appearance depending on how to move and angle.

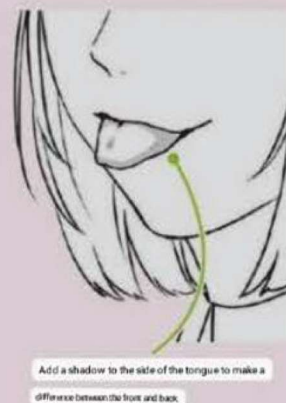

If the position where the tongue protrudes is too low, it will look like a dog, so be careful. Basically, you don't have to draw teeth.

If you want to make it cute, the trick is to draw the tongue short. If you want to make it sexy, draw it longer.

point

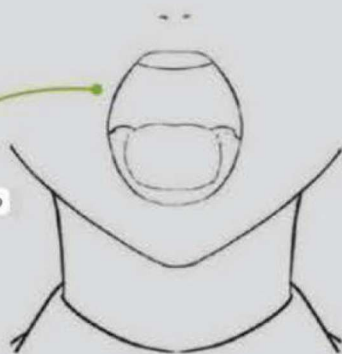

Let's draw a three-dimensional tongue

When the tongue becomes flat, be aware of the front and back sides of the tongue, and add shadows and lines to the front and back sides to create a three-dimensional effect.

shape of mouth when speaking

The shape of the mouth is important when making a character speak. Learn how your mouth moves when you speak vowels.

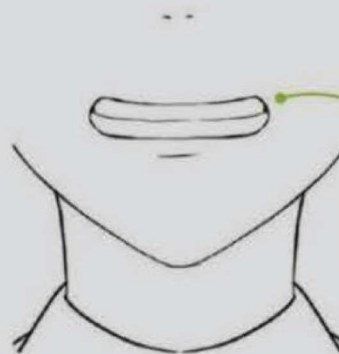

While opening vertically, it also opens horizontally.

Shape of "a"

In addition to "a", other forms are often used when speaking. The volume of the voice can be expressed by the degree of opening of the mouth.

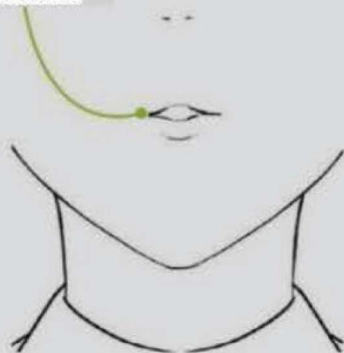

Round the corners of the mouth and be careful not to lift it too much.

Form of "i"

Close your mouth and spread it out to the side to show your teeth. Since you are in a relaxed state, keep the corners of your mouth at a low angle.

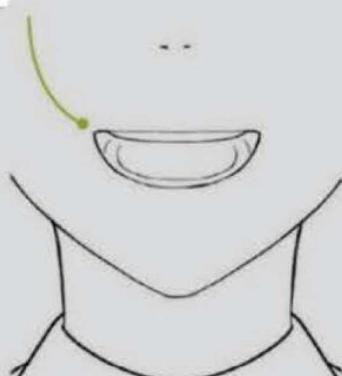

Make the lips thicker and draw to the edge of the mouth.

"u" shape

Point your mouth and push your lips forward. The shape of the mouth that is also used when blowing. The trick is to draw the entire mouth small.

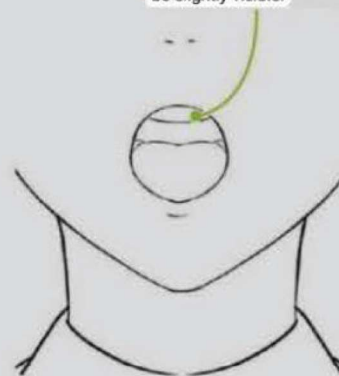

Draw a semicircle so that it does not open too vertically.

"e" shape

Open the mouth and draw it wide sideways. Also used when smiling. Emotions can be expressed by the degree of vertical opening.

The upper teeth should be slightly visible.

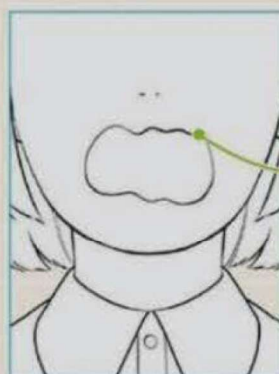

"o" shape

Draw the mouth as if it were a circle, and make it open about halfway between "a" and "u".

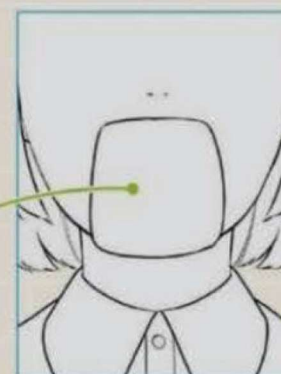

manga 技法

times-shaped exaggeration

The shape of the mouth can be over-deformed to express the character's movements and emotions. Create a moving manga illustration by effectively using realistic mouth shapes and deformed mouth shapes.

An over-the-top expression with trembling lips. I was surprised or panicked. Emphasize how you are doing it.

An over-the-top expression with the mouth wide open. Omit teeth, tongue, etc.

Expression of mouth by angle

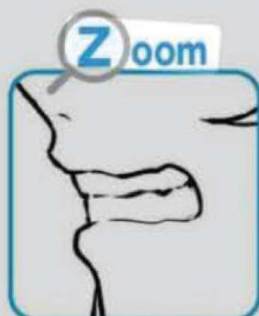

The appearance of the mouth changes depending on the angle and expression of the face. The front teeth are large, and the back teeth become smaller.

The upper teeth can be seen from front to back, and the lower teeth can be seen slightly or not.

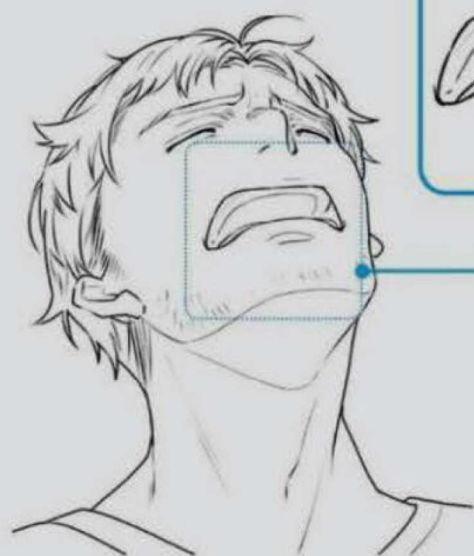

Since this is a Fukan illustration, draw so that only the lower teeth are visible.

The lines of the clenched teeth, which are conscious of the thickness of the lips, are drawn from the middle.

Since the illustration is facing downward, let's draw the lower teeth up to the back teeth.

Since it faces upward, the upper teeth are drawn firmly to the back teeth. If you show the lower teeth a little, the depth will appear.

Since the mouth is wide open and slightly flattened, the lower teeth are well drawn up to the back teeth.

how to draw ears

The ear is a part that is often deformed because it has a complicated structure.

Know the structure of the ear

Look at your ear from the side and know where the dimples and bumps are. Firmly grasp the edges to create a three-dimensional effect.

Let's grasp the position and name of each part of the ear. There is no difference in structure between men and women, but women are smaller and softer.

The depth beyond the outer ear canal is not visible from a side angle. The size and shape of the earlobe is also a personality that varies from person to person.

[Manga] [Technique]

Let's draw non-human ears!

Races other than humans also appear in fantasy stories, such as elves and beastmen. Here, let's learn how to draw typical elf ears and furry ears. Elf ears are longer and more pointed than humans. Kemonomimi has hair because it is based on the motif of an animal's ear.

elf ears

The structure of the ear is based on the human body, and it is elongated to fit the dents, protrusions, and outer ring of the ear.

furry ears

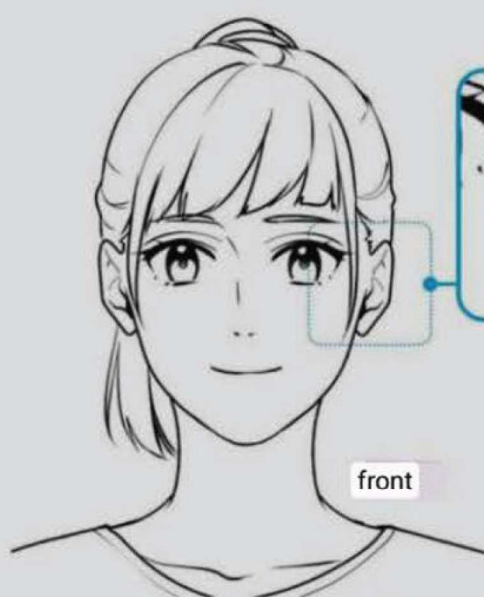

Be conscious of the triangular form. There are no minute depressions or protrusions like humans, and the external ear canal is invisible.

point

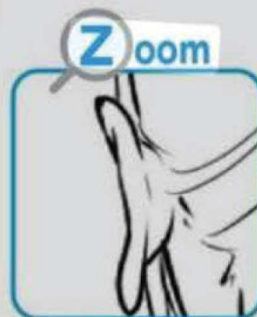

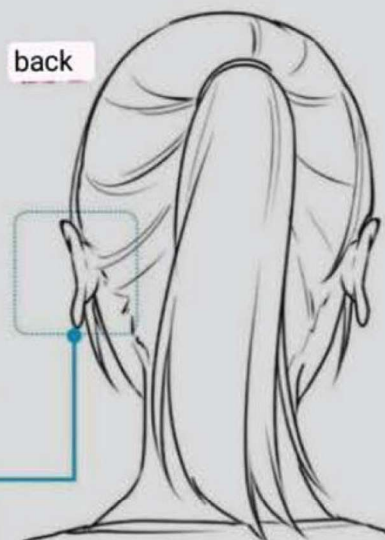

Let's deform and draw!

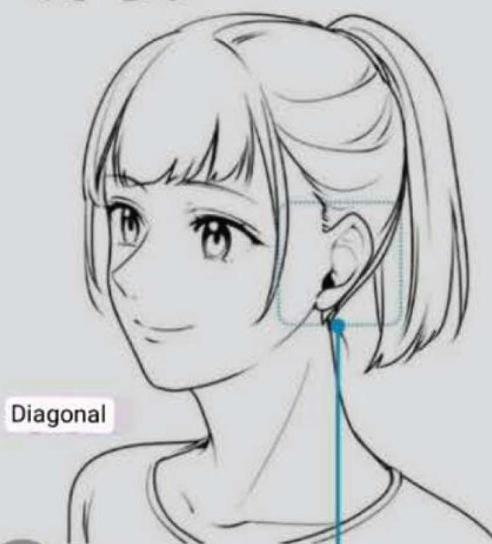

Ears can be omitted if you keep the main points in mind. Take the helix, the tragus, and the ear ring, and draw a hollow line around the triangular fossa. Use a dark shadow for the outer ear canal.

Since the ears extend toward the back, make the edges of the ears thicker in the front and thinner in the back to create a sense of perspective.

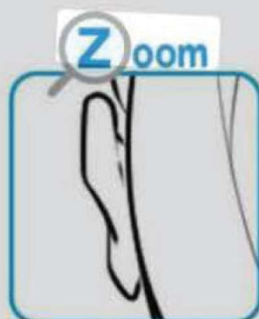

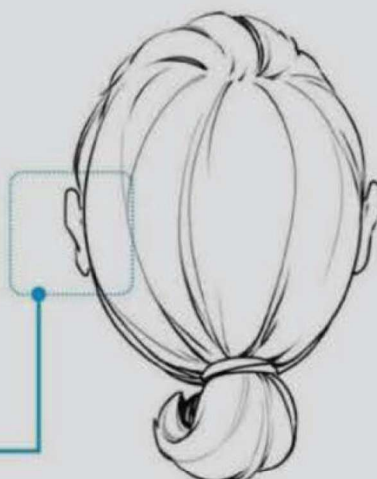

A composition in which only the edges of the ears are visible. The point is to capture how the top and bottom of the ear protrude outward and draw the joint with the ear.

The structure is not much different from the ear seen from the front. Draw with the thickness of the edges of the ears in mind. The inner part of the ear is expressed with a shadow.

The form of the ear is conscious of the character "ku". The composition makes the earlobes look bigger, so let's draw them so that they bulge out a little.

A composition in which only the upper part of the ear is visible and the ear hole is not visible. You can create a three-dimensional effect by drawing the bottom edge as well.

The upper helix appears large. Point is to make the ears curve firmly.

Rinku of the face (female)

The character's appearance can be greatly changed just by changing the facial features. Try changing the Rinkaku of characters with the same elements and see the difference.

Differences due to body type

Rinku of the face also changes greatly depending on the body type. A thin face is thin and pointed, and a fat face is large and rounded.

thin

My cheeks are sunken, giving me a slightly unhealthy image

For a generous and big-hearted image

Draw thin lines from cheeks to chin to form an inverted triangle. It's more effective if you put muscles in your neck.

Rinku with a standard face. Create a gentle curve on the cheeks for a well-balanced look.

Make the rinkaku thicker so that the cheeks hang down. The chin is also rounded and the neck is drawn thick.

point

Draw the chin line firmly toward the fly.

Draw the line of the cheekbones and make a dent.

Round the chin and make it plump.

The line that leads to the neck is not drawn, and it is assimilated with the neck.

How to draw in profile

When drawing a profile, try to change the position of the face depending on the body shape. The face line of the chin of a thin body should be tight, and the chin of a fat body should be loose.

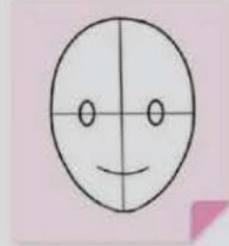

Let's know the types of rinkaku

Based on the egg-shaped Rinka, make the face rounder or longer to create the personality of the character.

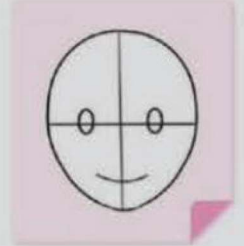

egg type

Commonly used standard link, often used for heroines. Suitable for characters with standard physique.

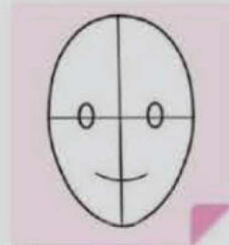

round face

Rinkaku rounds the cheek line. It makes the eyes look slightly larger and is suitable for chubby figures and baby-faced characters.

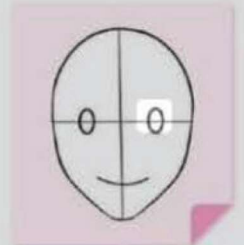

long face

Long hair from cheeks to chin. Suitable for adult women and men with gentle characters.

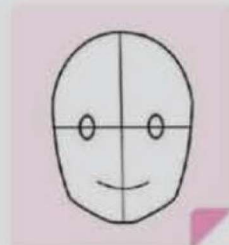

inverse triangle

Shorten the chin from the cheeks and make the chin slightly pointed. Suitable for characters with thin faces and thin bodies.

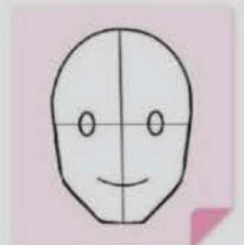

square face

Angular cheeks and part of the chin horizontal. Suitable for female characters with a nice manly face.

alien face

Rinku of the face should be conscious of a square face, the bridge of the nose should be high, and the lips should be thick. Suitable for large foreign characters.

Rinku of the face (male)

Men's Rinkaku is harder than women's, and draws sharp lines. Let's be able to draw different personalities in Rinkakuda.

Differences due to body type

For men, it is easy to distinguish features based on physique, such as facial features, chin and neck thickness.

thin

A gentle and reliable image

From the cheeks to the chin, the lines are thin to draw the line of the bones. The tip of the chin should be horizontal without being sharp.

Rinku with a standard face. From the cheeks to the chin, make the line less round than women.

Make the rinkaku plump without any sharp corners, and make the neck slightly thicker than standard.

point

Emphasize the hollow of the throat

Draw a cheekbone line to emphasize the corners.

Draw a round chin line ぎ、to obscure the connection with the neck.

The neck looks thick and short, and the Buddha of the throat is buried.

How to draw in profile

For men, pay attention not only to the jawline, but also to the dimples and bulges of the throat. Emphasize the throat Buddha in a thin body, and make it less conspicuous in a fat body.

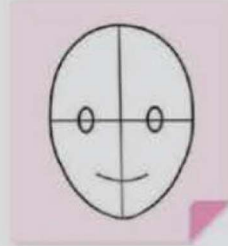

Let's know the types of rinkaku

The male Rinkaku is angular, so just changing its strength changes the image of the character.

egg type

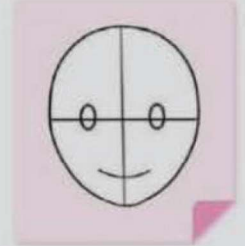

standard

I don't know. Fits a standard body type and is used for handsome characters. If it is a manga, it is suitable for the main character.

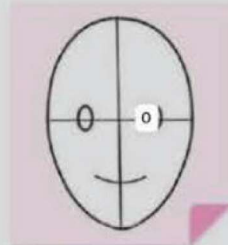

Maru

The chin is shorter and rounder than the oval. Suitable for boys and baby-faced youth characters.

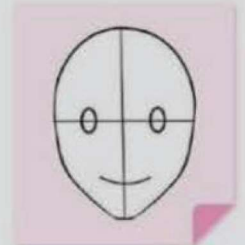

long face

A long and wide chin. Use rounded corners instead of sharp corners. Suitable for gentle and calm characters.

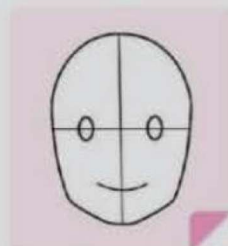

inverse triangle

Pointy scratch from cheek to chin. The tip of the chin is thin and long. Suitable for characters with delicate body types.

square face

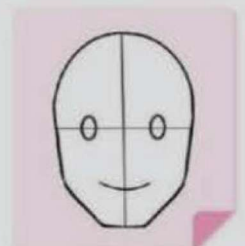

The rinkaku is angular and the chin is elongated horizontally. Suitable for muscular, stout characters.

alien face

square hard rye

Rinkaku drawn in pencil. It is suitable for foreign characters with thick necks and solid bodies.

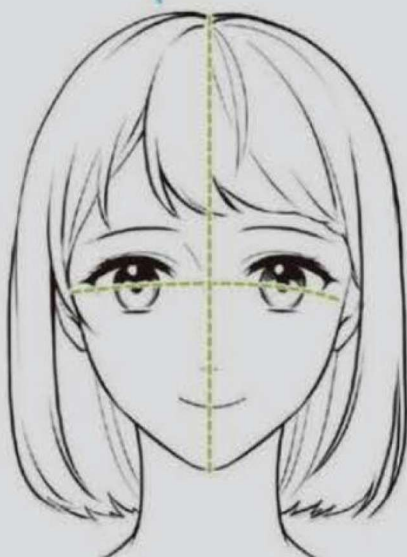

Age-related changes (infant to elementary school)

Depending on the age, the balance of the entire face and the size of each part change. For young children, draw the eyes and mouth larger than the size of the face.

face size and center of gravity

point!

For children, draw a large back of the head

Toddlers have larger protruding heads than adults. Also, since the parts of the face are placed below the center of the face, the area of the back of the head becomes wider. Therefore, in the composition of drawing the back of the head, such as sideways and diagonally, it is possible to draw without discomfort if it is slightly too large.

It becomes quite wide with the hair on the scalp.

how to draw an infant

Infants should place facial features below half of the total face. Draw the nose, mouth, and eyebrows small, and draw the eyes large. By drawing large black eyes, the baby-likeness is further improved.

Mt. Fuji is shaped like Mt.

Rinku is rounded and made into a lower bulge.

The eyebrows are downy hair, so they should be drawn thinly and vaguely.

Age-related changes (junior high school students to high school students)

From junior high school onwards, the differences between men and women, which had not been seen until elementary school, become more pronounced. Let's capture the features such as the chin and the eyes and draw them separately.

Gender gap between men and women increases

For women, the chin and eyebrows become slimmer and longer.

For men, the chin and eyebrows become straighter.

The tip of the chin is slightly sharp, giving it a mature look.

Rinkaku becomes masculine and dignified

Make your eyes big and round and add eyelashes.

Male

The eyebrows are drawn thick and direct.

Slightly sharper from almost to the tip of the chin.

The length from the mouth to the chin is longer than that of women, and the tip of the chin is angular.

The eyes are thinner and more linear than those of women, and the eyelashes are not drawn.

Rinku are slimmer than children, but have more plumpness than men.

Compared to children and women, the link becomes linear. The jaw is angular and horizontal.

point!

Drawing with weakened gender differences in adults

As humans grow up, they change from a soft, round form to a rigid, linear form. When drawing gender differences in children, the trick is to use the characteristics of adult males and females as a base and add "roundness" to those characteristics.

adult

Child

The cheek lines are soft and the face is round.

junior high school students

Compared to elementary school students, females have narrower chins and become more mature. In men, the chin loses its roundness and becomes angular.

[Woman]

The white part of the eyes increases.

The distance from the mouth to the chin increases.

The eyes and mouth become smaller, the childishness disappears,

Make the head part a little bigger.

Eyes are small but round, Remains like a child

Round the chin and make it square.

Rinku is rounded and each part of the face is small.
Draw smaller than students.

Rinkaku is drawn in a straight line, but parts such as the eyes and mouth are kept in the center to retain a childish appearance.

high school student point

Even more than a junior high school student. Rinku and parts are less rounded, and men have a solid form.

Woman

The eyes are raised and the distance from the nose is widened.

The neck grows longer to match the length of the face.

The eyes are long horizontally, giving a feminine impression.

[male]

Close the distance between the eyebrows and the eyes, making them stronger.

and rounded eyes, With a masculine atmosphere

Compared to junior high school students, the neck is thicker and more muscular.

The distance between the eyes is widened, and the position of the nose is also raised. The cheeks become thinner and the face looks smaller.

The face becomes longer and the position of the ears becomes higher. Let's draw the lines of each part with strong lines.

grown-up child

The shape of the head and crimps are child-like features. You can make your eyes look more grown-up by stretching them horizontally to make them longer, or by making the eyes smaller and more white.

Zoom

By making the eyes thin like an adult, it dares to create an imbalance.

Age-related changes (elderly)

As you get older, wrinkles and sagging appear on your face, and the shape of your face changes significantly.

Capture their positions and shapes and master how to draw an old man character.

Wrinkle position

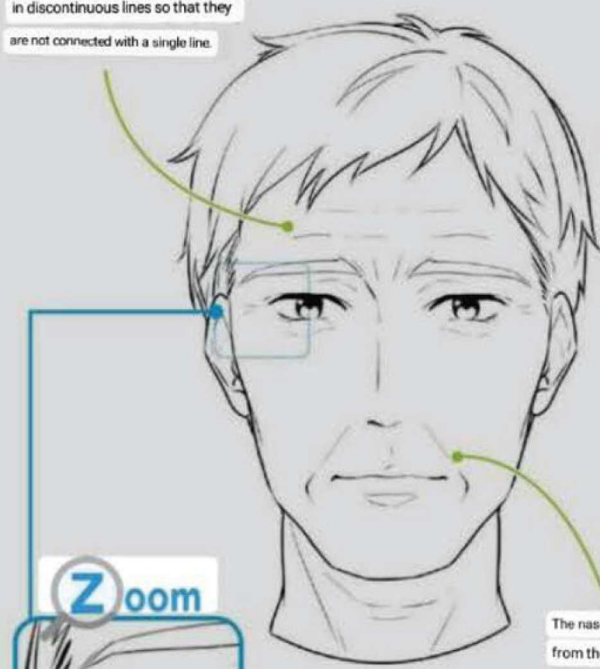

Add wrinkles around the mouth, eyes, and neck to create a distinctive look.

The eyelids and cheeks droop, and the center of gravity of the face is lowered.

Draw the wrinkles on the forehead in discontinuous lines so that they are not connected with a single line.

The point is to do it!

The nasolabial fold is inserted from the nostril toward the corner of the mouth.

How wrinkles are drawn

For wrinkles, try to balance the amount of drawing according to your design. A strongly deformed pattern will look more natural if less detail is drawn and if fine wrinkles are omitted.

middle aged point

Elderly around 50-60 years old. Small wrinkles begin to appear around the eyes and mouth.

Widen the forehead and lighten the horizontal wrinkles.

Reduces cheek fat, making it rugged.

Place the nasolabial fold near the corner.

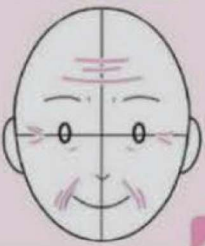

Smaller eye size. As the face becomes thinner, the bridge of the nose becomes more prominent.

Reduce fat on face. Let's draw not only wrinkles but also lines of cheekbones.

old man point

Elderly people over 60 years old. Wrinkles increase and the sagging of the skin is noticeable, so let's express it with rinkaku and wrinkles.

Main position of wrinkles

(Woman)

Raise the hairline of the bangs and wrinkle the forehead.

male

Thinning hair on the top of the head. You may lose all your hair.

The bottom of the nose is elongated and the position of the mouth is lowered.

The hair becomes much thinner and thinner.

Narrow the neck and emphasize sagging skin.

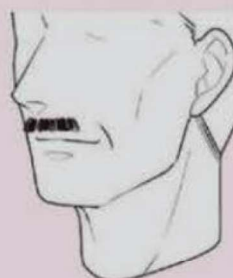

As the skin hangs down more, the eyes become smaller and the shape of the rinkaku changes.

The lower half of the face droops. Let's draw that line as if it's round and slack.

type of beard

The beard is an effective part to bring out the masculinity of an adult, and the impression changes depending on the shape and position. Let's design things such as short beards and beards according to the character's personality and settings.

short mustache

For thick beards, draw dense lines or draw in a plane.

circle hi

Draw a vertical line around the mouth.

beard

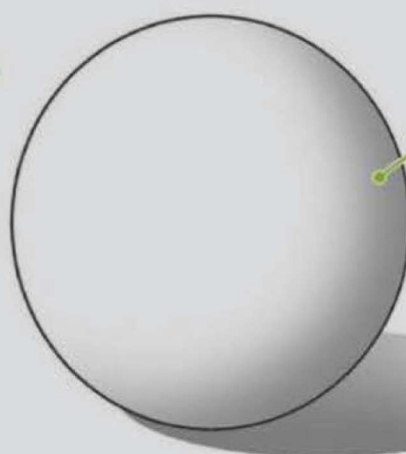

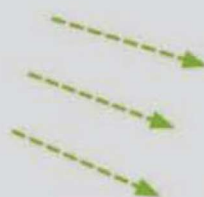

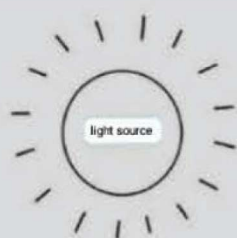

Finely draw a beard line along the chin line.

Create a three-dimensional effect with shadows

Let's learn the technique of adding shadows to give the illustration a three-dimensional effect and depth. In addition to checking the shadow range, it is important to know the relationship with the position of the light source.

shades and shadows

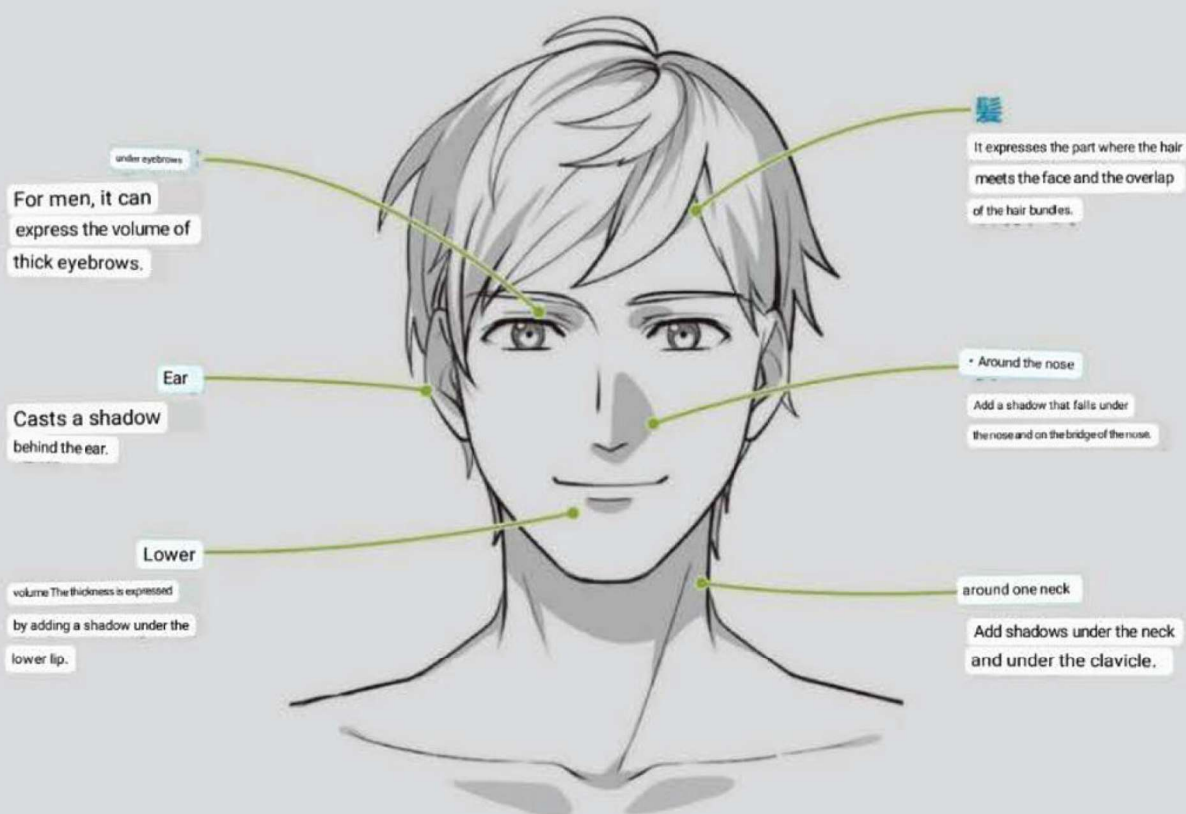

There are two types of shadows: the shadow cast by an object itself is called a "shade" and the shadow cast by an object is called a "shadow".

Make full use of shades to create 3D illustrations!

position of the shade

Eye and nose shades should be large and sharp under the eyes and nose for men, and small and soft for women.

Position of light source

Depending on the direction of the light source, the way shadows are cast and the image of the illustration will change. Let's take a look at each feature.

light source up

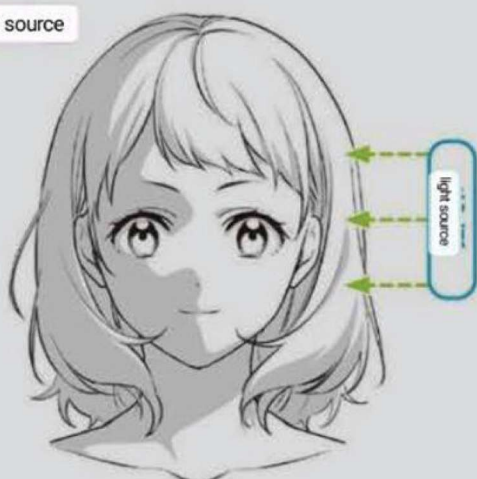

The top of the head near the light source is bright, and the farther it is, the darker it is, so add a shadow. Shadows are formed under uneven areas.

light source down

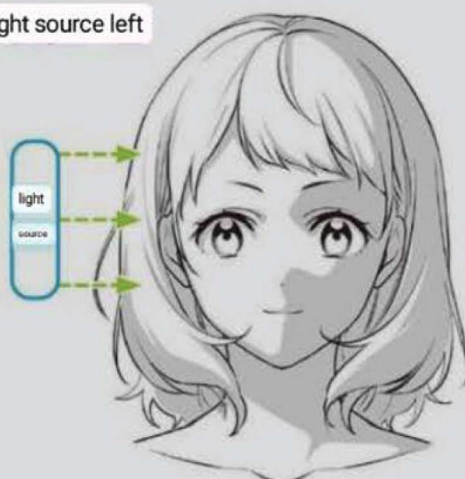

If the light source is below, it casts a shadow on the uneven part. It makes it difficult to see facial expressions, creating a dark and eerie image.

If the light source is on your right, the opposite side will cast a strong shadow. Avoid shadows in the eyes to make the character stand out.

When the light source is facing left. Cast a shadow on the opposite side of the "right light source". Use them according to the situation.

部分的に let's cast a shadow

A method of partially casting shadows without paying too much attention to the light source. Add it to your bangs, nose, mouth, etc. as a focal point.

Basics and tips for drawing hairstyles

Let's learn how to draw about hair, such as the part where hair grows, hair bundles and hair flow.

If you master the movement of the hair that flutters according to your movements, you can draw dynamic illustrations.

Anatomy of the head and hairstyle

In order to draw hairstyles, it is very important to understand the shape of the head. Understand the position of each part of the head and learn to draw natural hairstyles.

Classification of parts of the head

Depending on the position of the head, the hair grows and flows differently. Let's take a look at the difference in the overlap and movement of each part of the hair tufts.

From before

front

The part that corresponds to the hairline of the bangs. Keep in mind that the width is around the edge of both eyes.

Draw a midline on the face, and use the position of the ears as a reference to draw the width and size of each part in a well-balanced manner.

The part that corresponds to the side of the head. If you place it near the top of your ear and keep in mind the same line as the center of the front, you can draw a beautiful hair bundle flow.

The lower part of the back of the head that touches the nape of the neck. It can be seen with short hair or when the hair is raised, but the shape and length should be drawn according to the character.

The part corresponding to the back hair. It is about two-thirds the size of the head and extends to the top of the ear.

How each part of the tilt and hull looks

The visible range of the part changes depending on the angle. Try to understand the difference in appearance of the head and link it with the parts of the face.

Aori

髪 are positioned furthest from the person looking at the subject composition. Compared to the eye level composition, the visible area of the hair is narrower, so it is important to draw with the ratio in mind.

Fukan

A composition that makes the 髪 area of each part of the hair look wider. Be aware of the proportions of each part of the hair, and draw the flow and bundles of hair starting from the whorl.

think about hair

When drawing a natural hairstyle, it is important to be aware of the flow of the hair.

Capture the hair flow and freely express movement and overlap.

How to draw the part is blended with a jigsaw

It is more natural to draw a part in a zigzag pattern rather than a straight part. If you add a little swelling, you can express the front and back of the hair and the volume.

The hair flows downward on the sides, but the ends of the hair do not flow vertically, but gently move inward.

[manga] 技法

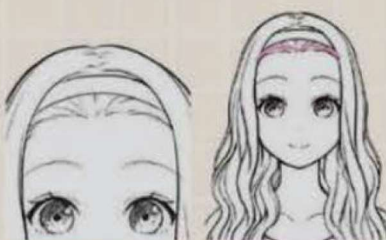

Representation of hairline shape

When showing the hairline, there are mainly "M-shaped" and "semi-circular". After determining the shape of the forehead, draw it backwards to create a natural hairline. Be careful not to make the hairline border too jagged.

M shape

A common hairstyle for men who show their forehead.

semicircular

A common hairstyle for women who show their forehead.

From the back

From the back to the tip of the hair, the hair flows downward along the shape of the head.

The flow of the entire hair should be rounded along the shape of the head.

The hair on the sides should be slightly curved inward for a natural look.

How to express hair tufts

Each strand of hair has its own flow, and hair bundles are created by combining hairs with similar flows one by one. Let's capture the point of hair bundles for each hairstyle.

The impression of the pattern that changes with the hair bundle

The impression of the character changes depending on the width of the hair bundle.

Find an expression that fits your style and draw it.

in the impression of the pattern
Deformation is strong

If the width is wide and the drawing is small, the feeling of deformation will be strong. It also gives the impression of having a lot of hair and weight.

How to capture hair bundles by hairstyle

Depending on the hairstyle, the width and movement of the hair bundles change.

成 Let's see how to draw by looking at the flow of "Atari Complete Illustration".

Shortcut

[Atari]

Cut the back hair slightly outside the shape of the head.

[Finish]

Bangs and sides
Draw the ends of these hair bundles in detail.

When drawing the hair bundles in the back, make a small difference between the front and back.

The hair bundles on the back of the head are drawn in less, just like the bite.

popshort

[Atari]

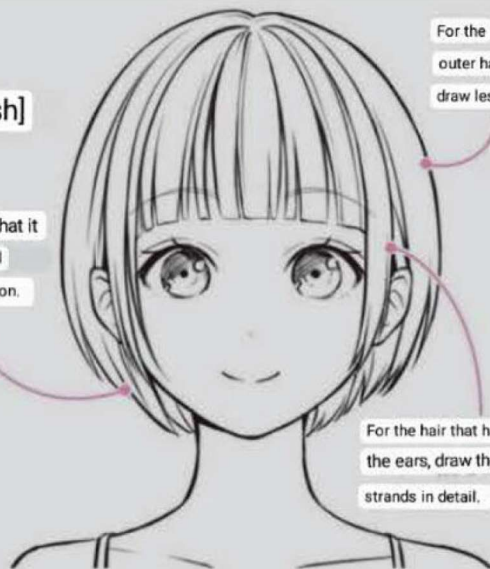

Part the hair so that it widens toward the center of the ear.

Draw so that the tip of the hair becomes longer from the ear to the nape.

[Finish]

If you draw it so that it curves inward, it will give a cute impression.

For the outer hair, draw less.

For the hair that hangs over the ears, draw the hair strands in detail.

wave hair

[Atari]

The point is to wave from around the ear.

If you lift the bangs slightly from your forehead and take a look, you can create an atmosphere of tilting your head.

Make the flow of the hair bundle random while imagining a gentle S-shape.

[Finish]

Create a contrast between thick hair and twisted and thin hair.

Draw a wavy hair bundle along the stroke line.

At the tip of the hair, the tufts of the wave become thinner.

Super long hair

[Atari]

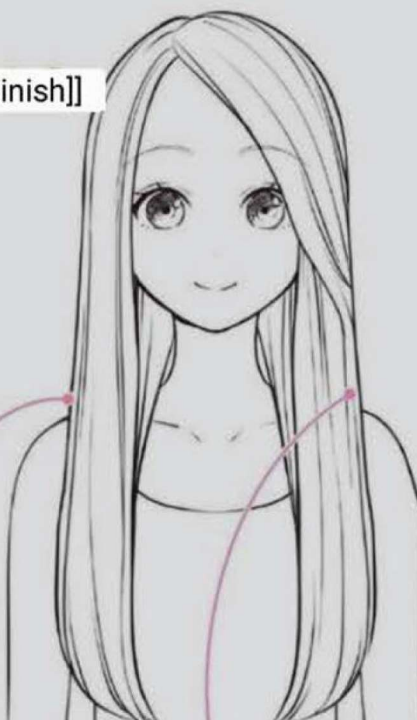

Bangs and side tufts Roughly draw this area.

The point is to draw the back hair in front of the shoulder.

Weight the hair around the chest area and curve the ends inward.

[Finish]

Draw the lines of the hair tufts more finely toward the outside.

A permed hair bundle becomes thinner toward the tip

If the permed hair bundles are all the same width and thickness, the hairstyle will not look airy and will look unnatural. A natural perm can be drawn by tapering the width of the hair tresses toward the ends and adding sharpness.

How to express hair ends

How to draw the ends of the hair is also important when expressing the character's hairstyle. Let's show the character's individuality by expressing various hairstyles and hair types by grasping the points of how to draw.

Type of hair movement

How to draw the ends of the hair changes depending on the hairstyle, length, amount, and weight of the hair. Let's take a look at the difference in the ends of various hairstyles.

short hair

In the case of straight hair, the ends tend to point inward along the line of the jawbone. Be careful not to let the hair flow outward.

Draw the bangs according to the bulge of the forehead bone.

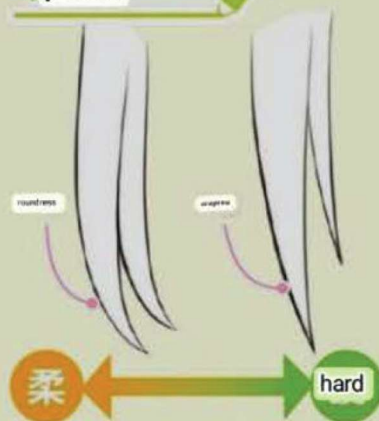

Draw a gentle curve inward along the shape of the head.

Zoom

Then, draw the front and back of the hair hanging over the ears, and draw the ends of the hair with a curve like that on the line.

point

Expression of hardness of hair quality that changes depending on how the curve is applied

The position of "weight" is important for the expression of quality. The part with weight takes on a bulge. If the ends of the hair are straight, the hair will be hard, while if the ends are rounded, the hair will be soft.

For the bangs that are swept to the left, round the tips toward the temples.

Zoom

Create a front and rear relationship between the front and back hair bundles, draw the ends of the hair finely, and let them hang outward.

tip of outer wing

For the outside hair, add weight to the part that touches the outside curve and give it a rounded shape.

Roll the tip of the hair inwards and then let it fly for a natural outer flair.

Also draw the tips of the hair in the back so that they radiate outward.

curly hair

A classic hairstyle with a trapezoidal silhouette. By making the hair bundles thicker and aligning the positions of the curves, the feeling of curls increases.

If you make the width of the bangs a little thicker, it goes well with the ends of the curled hair.

You can see the back side of the hair on the back side, so the ends of the hair are curled forward.

Since the ends of the hair that are curled inward are united, the appearance of the lines at the ends of the hair will be straight.

Even if the hair is curled inward, the hair line in the middle should be drawn straight.

Zoom

Draw the curve of the tip of the front hair firmly. The closer you go to the front, the more the line at the ends of your hair will drop forward.

wave hair

Wavy hairstyle from around the corner of the eye to the tip of the hair. Use a thick bundle of hair and align the curl position.

In order to clarify the relationship between the front and back, let's draw a wave with a thick hair bundle for the side hair in the front.

Draw the beginning of the wave from around the corner of the eye.

Align the parting with the shape of the head and draw a gentle curve to flow the hair.

By showing more of the back side of the hair, the amount of hair is expressed.

Weight is added to the curving part of the wave, and the curl becomes stronger as you go to the tip of the hair.

The tips of the hair are drawn by mixing thick and fine hair tufts.

The ends of the hair 処理 are long and unnatural

If you draw the ends of the hair with long lines, it will look unnatural. Emphasizing the roundness and narrowing the width of the hair tufts makes it easier to express the ends of the hair.

super long hair

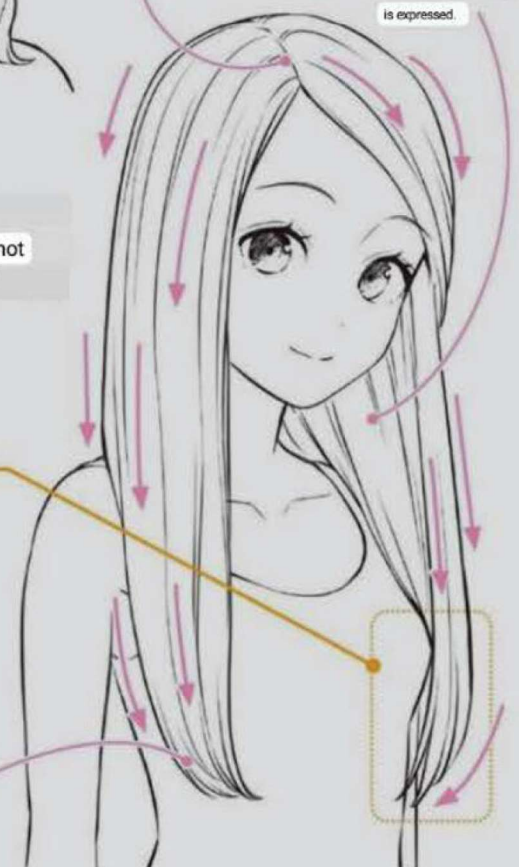

If your hair is longer than your chest, you are classified as super long hair. By not drawing the lines of the hair tufts too much, a unity will come out.

Zoom

Weight is added to the curved part of the hair tip. Gently curl the ends of your hair inward.

Draw the tip of the hair finely while keeping it unity.

how to draw short hair

Short hair refers to hair that is shorter than shoulder length. Whorl The point is to be conscious of the top of the head and draw while looking at the overall balance from that point.

Flow from Atari to Completion

Let's take a look at how to draw a man and a woman with short hair, from start to finish.

draw atari

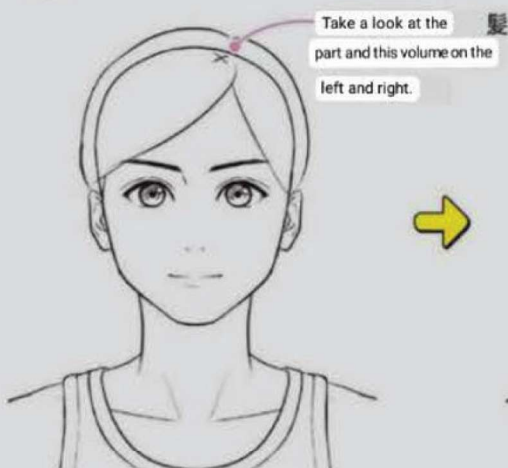

Take a bite on your face. Let's draw crosshairs and arrange the shape of Rinkaku's head.

2 Decide on a whorl

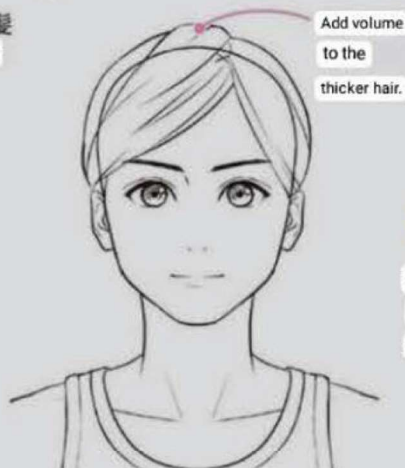

Decide the whorl that will be the starting point of the hair on the top of the head.

3 Draw the hair style

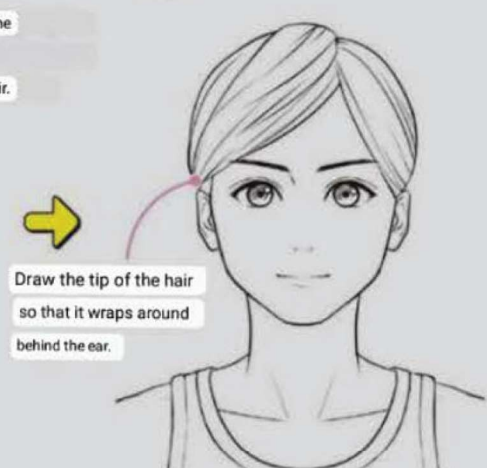

Using the position of the whorl as a guide, take a bite of this part of the hair.

4 Draw the hair flow

Draw in the hair bundles and ends, being careful not to create too much volume.

5 Arrange the whole and complete

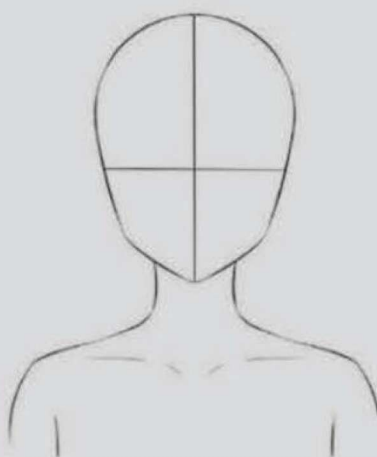

Lightly draw fine flowing lines while checking the overall balance, and complete when finished.

Pay attention to the form From Capture the form of the hair around the head and the tip of the hair that hangs outside.

1 Draw a stroke

Take the Atari from the photo. Draw a cross and add a roundness to the rink.

2 Decide on a whorl

whirlpool

The position of the whorl is determined on the top of the head. Draw in the parts other than the hair.

3 Draw the shape of the hair

Let's take a hit on the outside of the tip of the hair.

Take a bite centered on the whorl. Draw the part of the front hair towards the ear, and the back hair to the head.

4 Draw the hair flow

Draw the hair bundles and hair ends. The hair is tight, so be careful not to add too much hair flow.

5 Arrange the whole and complete

Draw in the balance of the hair strands and the details of the ends of the hair, and complete the overall look.

Classification of male shorts

short hair medium hair

For men, the length of hair above the ears is called short hair. Hair long enough to cover the ears is classified as medium hair.

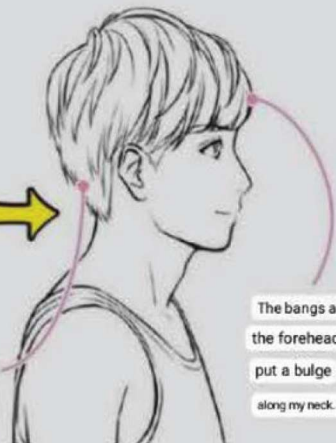

Diagonal

Show a little bit of parting in your bangs.

Draw the curve of the hair bundle according to the roundness of the back of the head.

beside

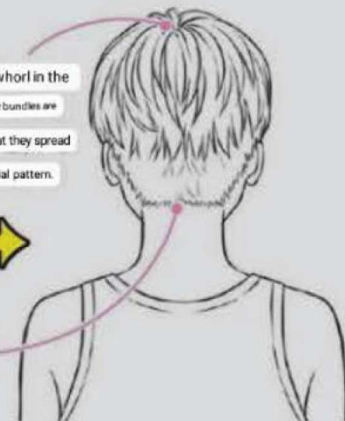

The bangs are on the forehead, 'I put a bulge along my neck.

Draw the tips of the hair shorter toward the nape of the neck.

With the whorl in the center, the hair bundles are drawn so that they spread out in a radial pattern.

The shaved part of the neckline is drawn with fine lines so that the tip of the hair spreads outward.

Slanted back

Gather the ends of your hair in the center of the back of your head.

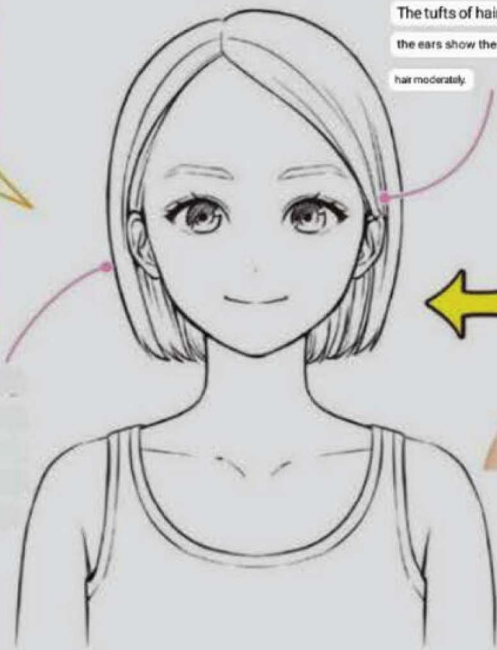

The tufts of hair should be longer than those of men, and the tips should be pulled inward to give a feminine impression.

For hair caught in the ears where fine hair bundles gather

Let's draw

front

Be careful not to spread the sides too much.

point

The head of the male fukan is conscious of the elliptical form

In the fukan composition, the visible area of the top of the head is large. Keeping in mind the flow of hair from the whirlpool, draw the visible width of the bangs as small as possible.

Diagonal

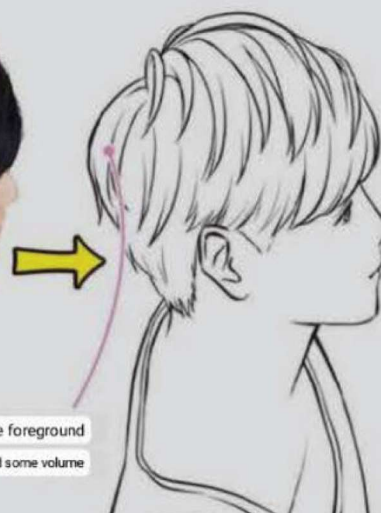

I can't see the neckline, so I don't draw it.

真横

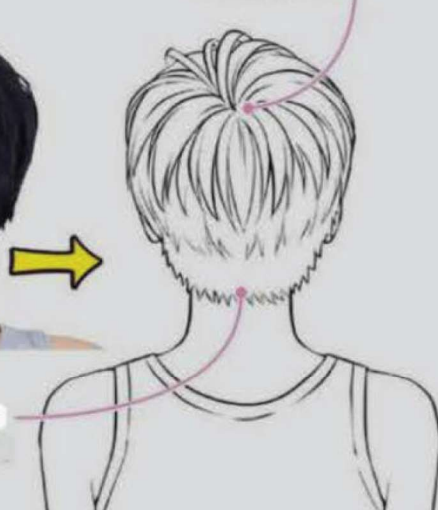

The top of the head in the foreground protrudes strongly, so let's add some volume to the drawing.

裾 Draw a smaller area for the feet.

Hair flows radially from the whorl.

Slanted back

Considering the ratio of the front side and the back side, determine the position of the whorl.

The bangs are almost invisible.

Fukan (female)

Women's short fukan is characterized by the tip of the hair converging at the nape.

Let's be aware of the flow of hair on the top of the head

Draw a strong downward curve line for the bangs.

The width of the side becomes narrower toward the tip of the hair.

If there is a lot of hair on the side, it will not be a natural expression

If there is volume on the sides, it won't look like a flat composition, so keep the volume down.

Diagonal

The back of the head looks narrow, so draw the whorl in the back.

Back hair can be seen through the gaps in the hair tufts hanging over the ears.

You can see the parting line, and you can see the flow of hair in the back.

Round the ends of the hair to add weight.

Converge the ends of the hair to the center of the neck.

The line at the tip of the hair has a base that is the opposite of the shoulder line.

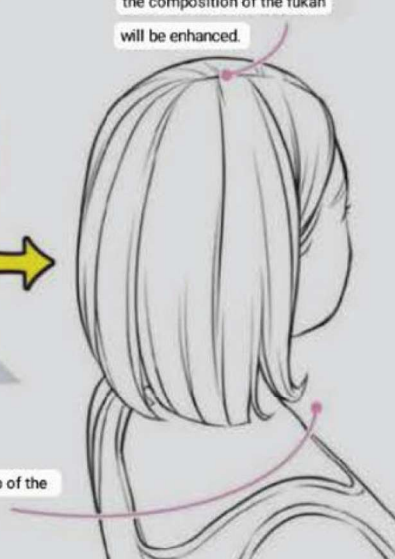

Slanted back

If you draw a part in the back, the composition of the fukan will be enhanced.

The curl inside the tip of the hair becomes stronger.

women's short hair

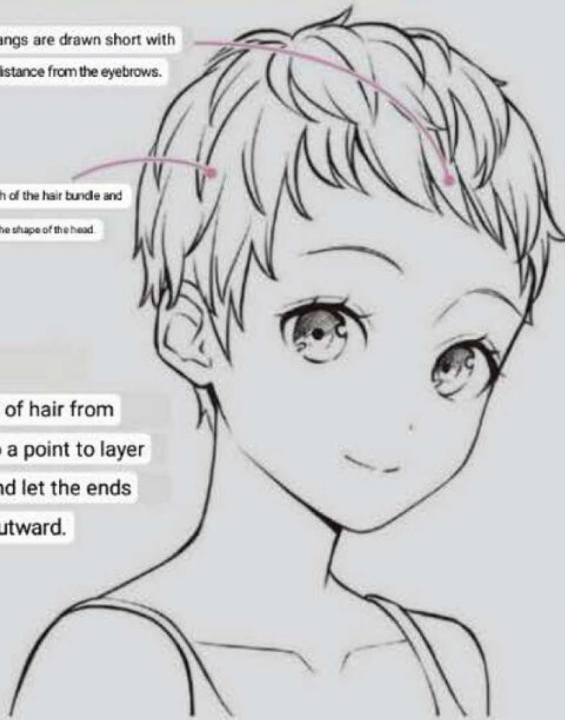

Women's short hair is about neck length. Let's draw different impressions by different bangs, amount of hair, and hair quality.

The bangs are drawn short with some distance from the eyebrows.

Shorten the length of the hair bundle and make it conform to the shape of the head.

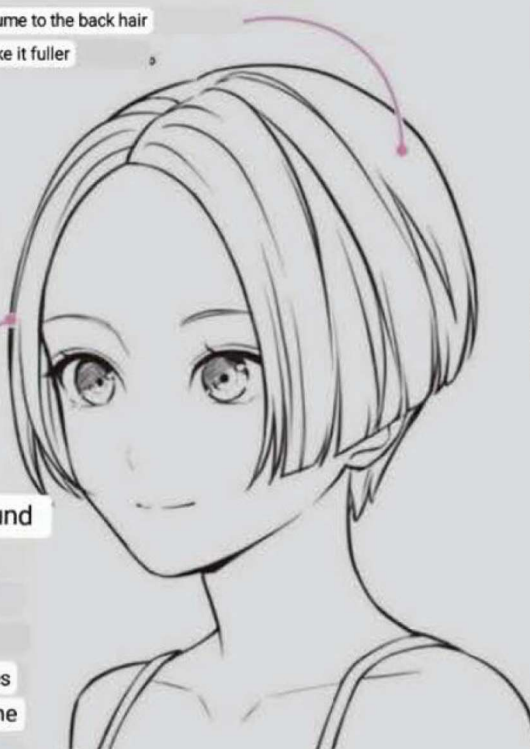

Berry Short

Be aware of the flow of hair from the hairline. It is also a point to layer short hair bundles and let the ends of the hair bounce outward.

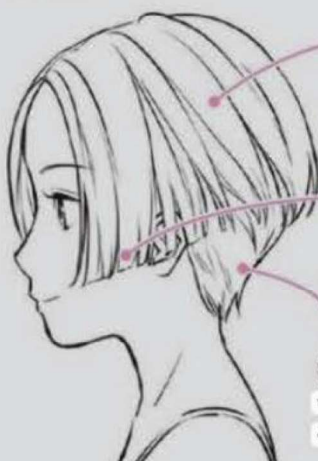

Add volume to the back hair and make it fuller.

Bend the tufts of hair into the shape of your head and gently curve them toward the ends.

Techno Mash A round

form like a mushroom, and a hairstyle with the tips of the hair cut at an angle that slopes forward. Shaved neckline gives a stylish impression.

To make the shape of the head look beautiful, the width of the tufts of hair on the back of the head is drawn thicker.

Add a basting from the back to the front and align the ends at an acute angle.

The legs are shaved according to the shape of the head, and the amount of hair is drawn.

popshort

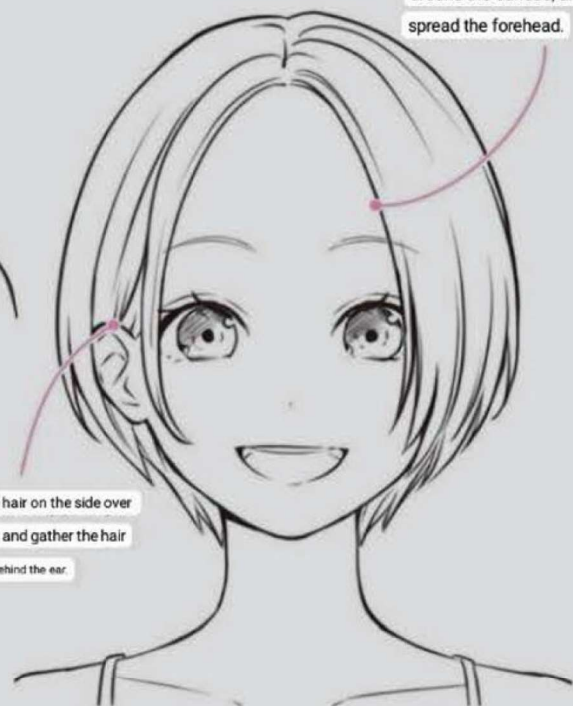

Draw a straight line in the middle and gently curve inward toward the tip of the hair. Let's align the ends of the hair with a perspective that falls forward.

The amount of hair is expressed by drawing thick hair bundles.

Draw the reverse side gently inward to create a three-dimensional effect.

Lengthen the bangs to around the earlobe, and spread the forehead.

Put the hair on the side over the ear and gather the hair bundle behind the ear.

one-lens short

Abbreviation for one-length, a hairstyle that looks like the same amount of loose hair. The feature is that the forehead is out.

Make your hair voluminous by angling it upwards.

The direction of the hair ends is not aligned, and the hair is thrown randomly.

Up bang short style with raised bangs. The point is to draw the part and the hairline.

Add some volume to the back of your head.

Draw the splashes on the outer ends of the hair strongly to add movement to the hair.

Medium short The hair on the front is up to the ears, and the hair on the back is shoulder length. It is also a point to lightly let the ends of the back hair hang.

The ends of the hair on the front face inward.

Draw the tips of the hair on the back side by splashing them outward.

outside wing short

Sotokane style is easy to express "cuteness", "coolness", and "activeness". The point is to add strength and weakness to the tip of the hair.

From the center of the neckline, gently radiate outward in fine detail.

point!

the center of the hem V's figure

By making the hem part into a V shape, the nape looks beautiful and attractive. Draw the parted hair along the curve of the neck.

Slightly curl the bangs to create an airy feel.

Make the hair splashed outside to express the atmosphere of a short perm.

The ends of the hair are strongly curled on the inside, and a part of the hair that protrudes outward is drawn to express the peculiarity of the hair.

perm beop short

A style with a lot of hair and a strong peculiarity. Draw perm waves from the back of the head. For the sides, curl the ends of the hair inward, and draw the line of the hair bundles in reverse perspective from the line of the head.

men's short hair

Men's short hair gives a clean, bright and positive impression. Check out different arrangements.

Draw a bundle of hair around the outside from the strong line.

Conscious of the flow of hair from the whorl, draw so that short hair bundles overlap.

short hair

The point is to spread the hair flow from the whorl radially. Draw the hair strands while checking the overall balance.

point!

Add frizzy hair for a more masculine look

By adding a lot of splashed hair ends, movement is added to the flow of the hair. You can express your character's individuality depending on how you fly.

Up-pung short A refreshing and masculine style with bangs raised and a forehead exposed. By drawing in the parting part of the bangs, the flow of the hair is clearly expressed.

Since the tufts of hair are short, draw a lot of hair flow.

Draw the angle of the raised part of the bangs and the part that does not stand up.

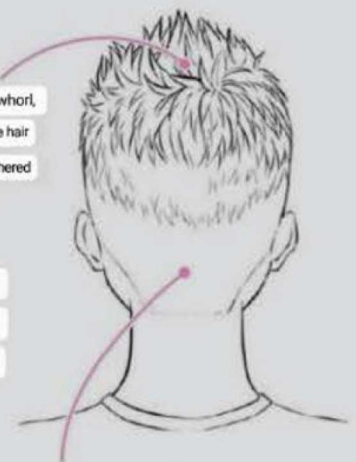

Towards the center of the head, draw the tip of the hair upwards.

The ends of the hair on the sides should be slanted downward.

soft mohawk

A hairstyle in which the hair is gathered towards the center of the head and the sides and back are cropped. Draw the hair up from the hairline, with the hair flowing upwards.

Starting from the whorl, raise the ends of the hair so that they are gathered in the center.

For the shaved part, it is OK to draw less hair flow.

The side with more division Put out the volume in front of it.

The hair flow line at the parting part has a different flow at the whorl part.

Follow the shape of your head and add volume to the side with the most parting.

Since the hair bundle is long, let's make the ends of the hair have a unity.

Seventy-three division

A hairstyle that creates a parting at a ratio of 7:3 by pulling it to the left or right. You can create an intelligent, sincere and mature impression.

Part the bangs and put them together at a length that does not reach the eyes.

Curl the ends loosely and randomly in a well-balanced manner.

Don't let your bangs down, let it hang a little.

curly hair perm

A hairstyle that is finely curled like curly hair. Express your character's individuality by changing the strength of the curls on the ends of the hair.

point

Men's perm is characterized by many irregularities

Men's perm can express hardness by increasing unevenness.

Consciously create more irregularities than women.

Dekodashi Short

The bangs are shortened so that the forehead can be seen, creating a sense of cleanliness and freshness.

Shorten the sides to show your facial features.

Let's draw the bangs in the center of the back and follow the shape of the head again with a curve.

The bangs are bristled backwards, so draw them with a curve.

The cropped part of the side is represented by fine oblique lines.

all back

A hairstyle that emphasizes the silhouette of the face. Determine the hairline firmly and draw the bangs so that they are lifted backwards.

how to draw long hair

The length is below the ears for men, and over the shoulders for women. Draw a neat line all the way to the tip of the hair while keeping in mind the flow of the hair falling down.

Flow from Atari to Completion

Let's take a look at the process of how men's and women's long hair is cut to completion.

Let's add some movement

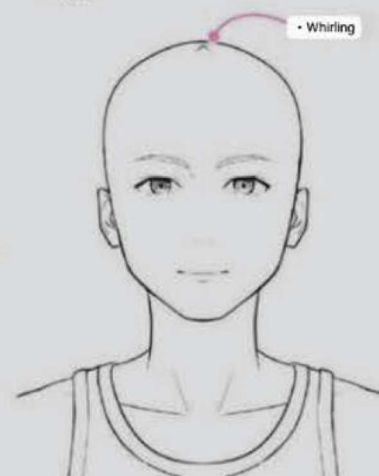

Pay attention to the volume of the hair parted in the center and where the curl begins.

1 draw atari

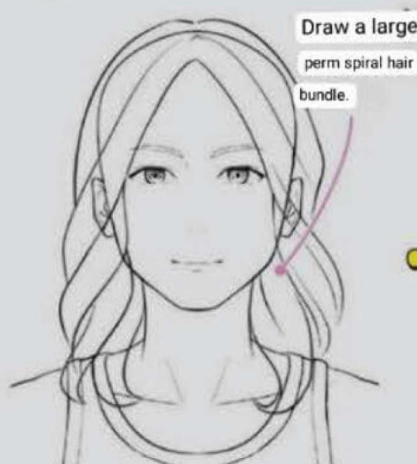

Draw the bite on the head with an oval ring. Keep your balance on the crosshairs.

2 Decide on a whorl

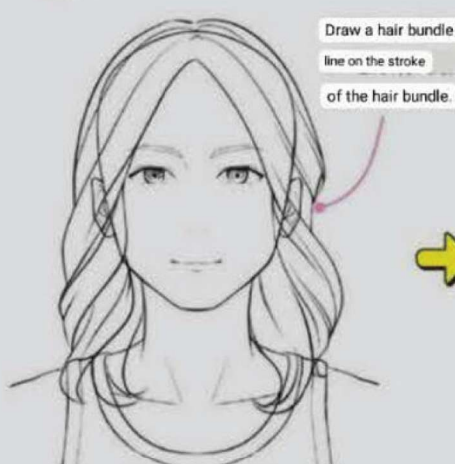

Draw each part. Since it is divided in the center, the position of the whorl is determined on the midline of the top of the head.

3 Draw the shape of the hair

Roughly determine the flow of the hair, centering on the whorl. Draw the hair so that it floats slightly above the line of the head.

4 Draw the hair flow

Draw the hair bundles and ends along the hair flow. Swirl the middle of the tress and taper towards the tip.

5 Arrange the whole and complete

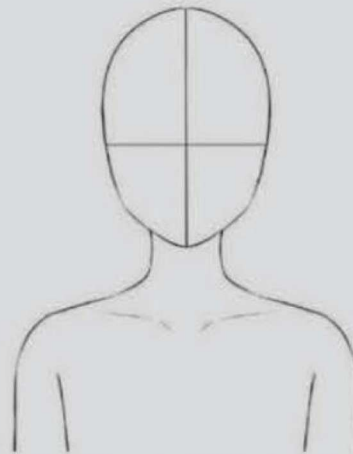

Draw in the finer details and tidy up the whole. By narrowing the gaps between the hair bundles, it gives the impression of heavy hair.

[Woman]

1 Draw a stroke

Draw an egg-shaped rinkaku Draw the chin rinkaku sharply while leaving the roundness.

2 Decide on a whorl

Draw each part of the face. A little to the side of the midline, place the whorl that will be the starting point of the parting.

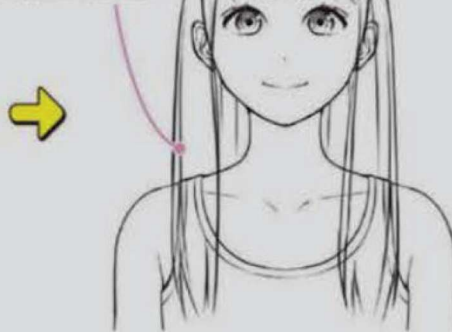

3 Draw the shape of the hair

Roughly draw the entire hair flow, centering on the whorl. Be careful not to let the hair that hangs over your shoulders form a straight line.

4 Draw the hair flow

In the middle of the hair that hangs over the shoulder, draw a fine line with a slightly curved bundle of hair.

Draw the hair bundles and ends along the hair flow. Separately draw the curled bangs and the straight part.

5 Arrange the whole and complete

Draw playful hair to create more natural long hair.

Draw the ends in a well-balanced manner by putting them inside and splashing them outside.

Allen

types of straight long hair straight

At the middle position, gently curving the ends of the hair inward will make it look neat.

Patsun's hair tip

Draw a thick bundle of hair along the hair flow, and the tip of the hair is horizontal. By creating a sense of bundle, unity and weight are expressed.

wave

For hair flowing in the image of an S-shape. If you want to make your hair look fluffy, gently curl it and turn the ends of your hair in random directions.

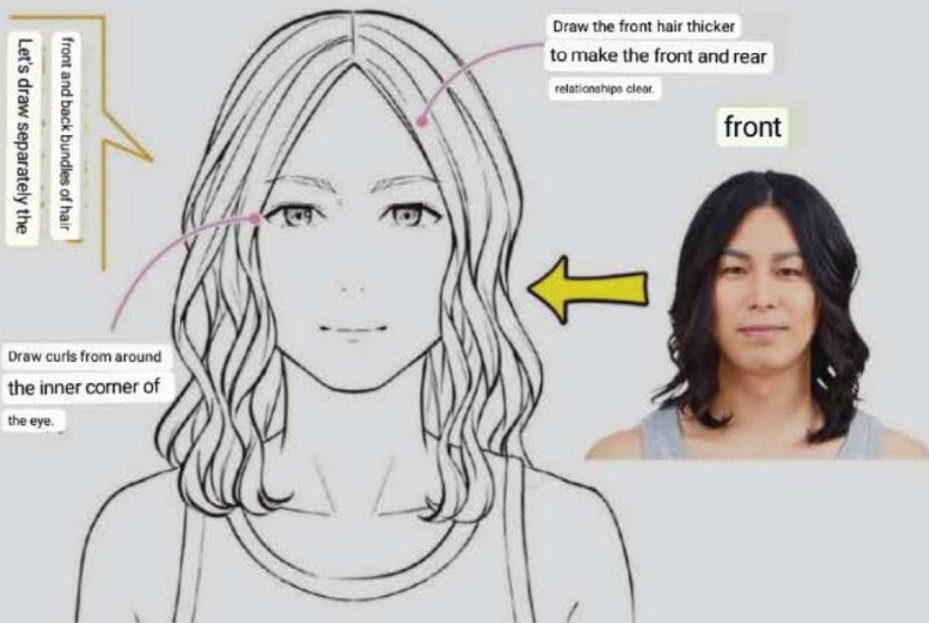

Long hair by angle

Perm long hair for men and straight long hair for women. Let's take a look at the points for how to draw eyedaka and aorifukan with different hair textures.

A woman with long hair with her side on her shoulder

For the back hair that hangs over the front of the shoulder, the point is to draw the front and back hair bundles separately. Make the hair flow so that the ends of the hair go inward.

Diagonal

The bangs follow the shape of the forehead and are rounded.

beside

Show a little of the back part of your hair.

Draw the bangs around the forehead line.

The back hair falls down diagonally from the bulge at the back of the head.

back

Slanted back

Since the back of the head looks wider, less bangs are visible.

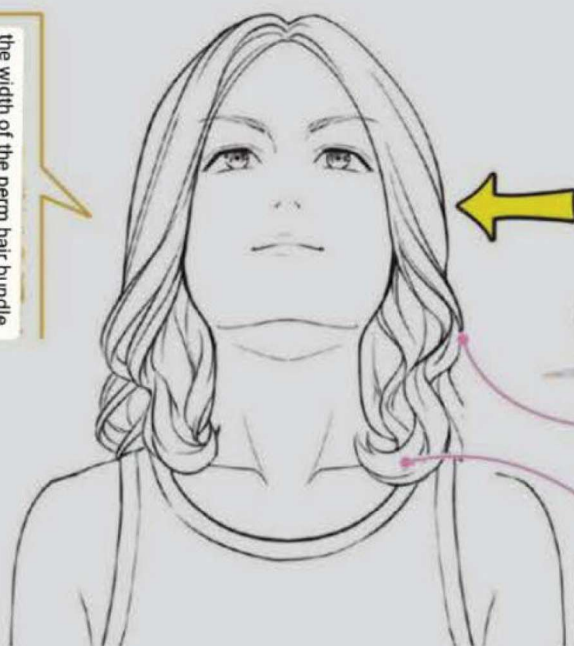

Hair flows from the whorl to the tip of the hair and tapers toward the center.

Thinly draw the outside of the hair bundle on the opposite side.

The back hair that hangs over the shoulders should be slightly curved.

At a tilt angle, the top of the head becomes difficult to see, so the permed part is emphasized.

Pay attention to the width of the perm hair bundle

front

Aori

Diagonal

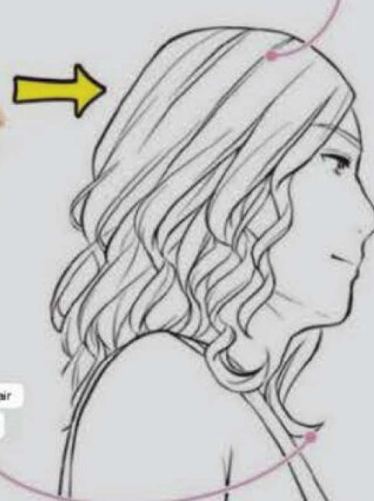

Shortening the length of the hair on the back side gives a sense of perspective.

The waves start to move around the gill bones.

真横

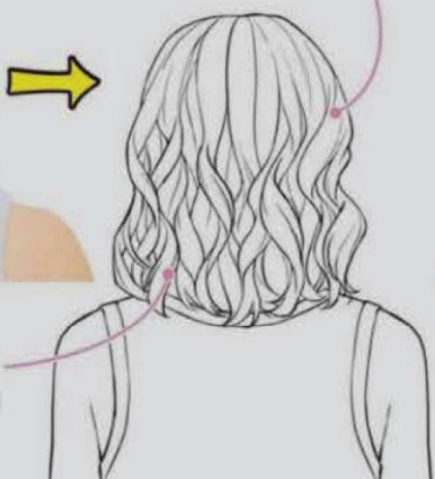

The hair flow from the whorl is diagonally behind.

If you draw the ends of the permed hair on the far side, you can create a three-dimensional effect.

back

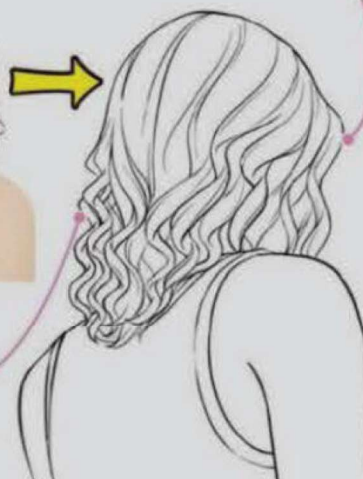

Wave movement starts high as the back of the head sticks out.

Let's draw the front hair bundle thicker.

Slanted back

The volume of the perm does not show the wrinkles on the face.

The hair on the side is a little far back, so draw it thinly to create a sense of perspective.

The Aori composition of long hair for women is characterized by the fact that the back side of the hair and the gaps look large.

Since the parts of the face are raised, the hairline is also raised.

The gap between the back of the hair looks wide.

Draw thin hairs on the outside to 軽 express sleekness

Slanted back

Draw the back hair with a thick tuft in front of the ears.

Gather the weight of the hair on the line slightly above the chest and give it a curve.

The ends of the hair are gathered in a downward taper

Fukan's permed hair has the characteristic that the perm is attached at this line that is diagonally downward on the permed hair bundle.

The volume at the back of the head is suppressed, and the hair bundles on the sides add volume.

Draw the tips so that they gather in the center.

Slanted back

The bangs are almost invisible, so be careful not to draw too much.

Show only a little bit of hair.

women's long hair

Women's long hair should be about chest length. Let's see the difference in impression with various hairstyles.

long hair

A style that goes straight down to the chest. The point is to determine the position of the whorl and clarify the positional relationship between the front and back hair.

Sweep the middle tufts along the shape of the head.

Add short side hair for a natural hairstyle.

Draw a bundle of hair with a soft line from the whorl to the tip of the hair.

Let's draw the tip of the hair with the strength of large and small.

In order to express the bangs thinly, draw the ends of the hair in detail.

For the hair on the sides, make the width of the hair bundles thicker.

Add a bulge to the back of the head and draw a constriction toward the tip of the hair.

Match the length of the hair, and draw the angle of the outside splash in a random and well-balanced manner.

OF'

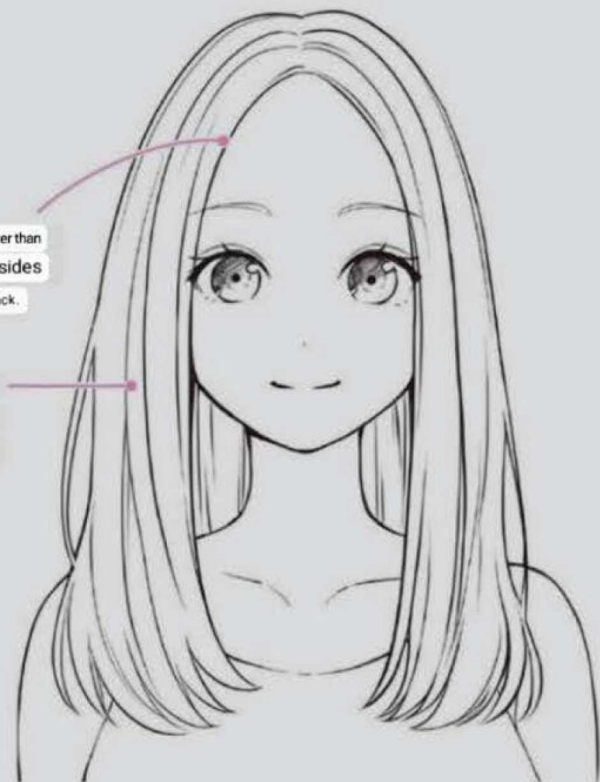

If the line is straight, it will look unnatural.

Hair with straight lines gives a heavy impression without a three-dimensional effect. Towards the tip of the hair, draw in a rounded shape.

Wanren long hair

A hairstyle in which the hair from the bangs to the top of the head is divided into left and right. If you draw with a soft curve on the flow of hair or bundles of hair, you can create a unity.

Draw the bangs shorter than the hair on the sides and outside of the back.

The bangs, side and back hair flow in the same direction even if the length is changed.

outside honey long hair

A mature style with cuteness. It is GOOD if the hair flow in the middle is turned inward toward the tip of the hair, and the tip of the hair is splashed outward.

From the top of the part, draw so that it is slightly bulging.

The flow of hair gently undulates from the whorl.

Inner curly long hair

Lightly wavy long hair. By curling the ends of your hair and adding playful hair, you can make your hair soft and fluffy.

The ends of the hair are heavy, so if you part the bangs a little, you can create a light impression.

Add loose hair to the side away from the main hair bundle to add movement.

Curl the hair towards the center.

Wave hair A wave style with た、 bangs that gives a mature impression. Draw a loose S from the middle.

Draw the side hair shorter than the side hair and gently curl it.

Draw a wave from the middle for a cohesive impression.

Slightly curl the bangs inward.

Since the hair spirally undulates and overlaps, let's clarify the front and rear of the hair bundles.

permed hair

Perm hair with bangs aligned on eyebrows. Permed hair strands are twisted and overlap intricately, so draw with the context in mind.

set long hair

Ponytail A

style that is tied together at a high position on the top. Don't draw the tied hair in a straight line, make it a soft wave. Draw a hair flow towards the knot.

pigtails

Braided hairstyle from below both ears on the side. Braids are drawn so that they become smaller as they approach the ends of the hair for a natural look.

Dango

Hairstyle with bundles of hair gathered in a circle at the top. Drawing the flow of hair toward the knot and adding bulge to the back of the head creates a beautiful silhouette.

pompadour

A style that lifts the bangs backwards and shows the cheeks. The point is to make the bangs to be lifted bulge and express the front and back relationship of the boundary with the side.

men's long hair

When it comes to hair length below the ear, men are classified as long hair.

Let's draw with awareness of the difference with women.

You can create a light look by drawing thin strands of hair sticking out from the hairline of the whorl.

Draw the hair on the sides with a length that is about the middle of the ear.

Medium hair A hairstyle long enough to cover the ears. The bangs are long enough to touch the eyes from the hairline.

Draw the bangs longer for a mature look.

If the hair is hung over the ears, draw a fine line of tufts above the ears.

asymmetry

A unique style in which the length of the left and right hair is asymmetrical. Longer hair can be permed, straightened, or wavy.

Perm the other side. Let's make a difference between the left and right.

Separate the long hair and the cropped part at a ratio of 7:3.

The top is expressed as if fluffy and short if fluffy and short hair bundles overlap.

Draw the bangs so that they are not too long and cover the eyebrows.

straight long hair

Smooth long with a sense of unity. Men's long hair can be worn in one length and the forehead can be spread out to create a masculine look.

Karen

man with long hair

When the long hair is tied up, the hairstyle is basically the same as for women. By tying the hair, the ears and neck are visible, so it is important to draw the male skeleton separately.

Draw the back hair so that the hair flow changes from the position of the ears.

wolf cut

The top is short, and the style is long from the back to the neckline. Let the long hair hang randomly outward.

The bangs are long enough to cover the eyes.

Randomly draw the flow of the ends of the hair on the sides and outside.

Draw the nape with a bulge and the ends of the hair rounded.

wave hair

A wavy style for medium length hair. By aligning the flow of the ends in one direction, it gives a cohesive impression.

Add a splash of hair to the back of the head to make it lighter.

Draw the sides so that they extend to the middle of the ears.

Perm x Two blocks

A style in which the inside of the side of permed hair is shaved with two blocks. The sides and neckline are shaved to create a masculine look.

Show some hair on the back side.

Give it a slight upward bang.

Draw the front and back hair bundles to create a three-dimensional effect.

By showing the two block part, it gives a masculine impression.

The ends of the hair are curled randomly and in a well-balanced manner.

set long hair

Half-up A hairstyle

in which the hair bundles on both sides are tied at the top of the back of the head, or to create a bun. By tying the hair on the sides, you can make your face look neater.

Man bun hair (low) A style in which all hair is gathered into a bun at the base of the neck. Since the neckline is lowered by the weight of the dumpling, draw it as if it is slightly slack.

Man bun hair (high) Tie

a bun at the back of the head above the ears. Since the bangs of the bun in a high position are facing back, let's draw the legs in a hair flow that will be pulled by the knot.

all back

A hairstyle in which the sides and bangs are all pulled back. Firmly define the side and forehead hairlines, and draw the upward flow of hair toward the back of the head.

braid braid

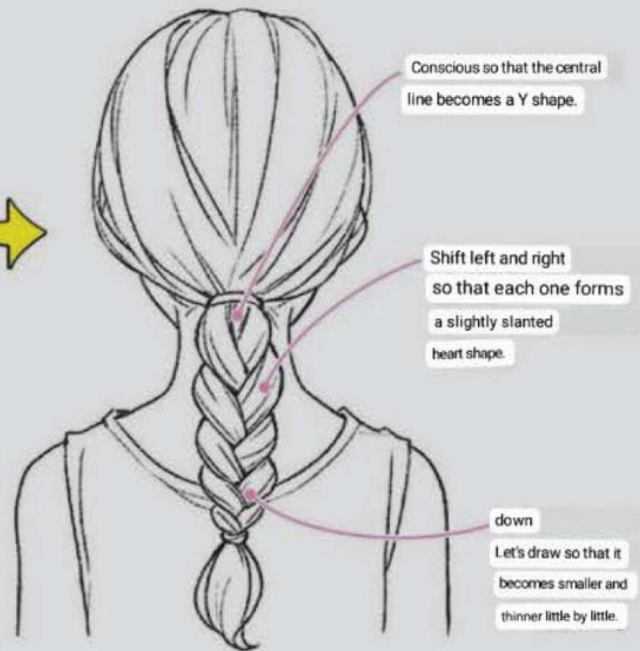

A classic hairstyle for long hair. Braided braids may seem difficult to draw, but once you get the hang of it, you can draw them very easily.

how to draw braids

Braids can be made into a beautiful cohesive shape by drawing strands of hair alternately.

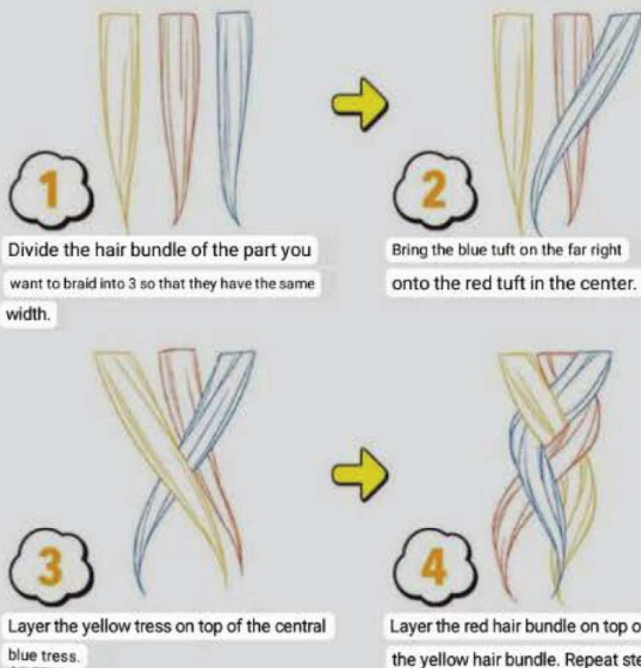

The braided hair looks like a heart shape, and the hair part looks like a Y shape.

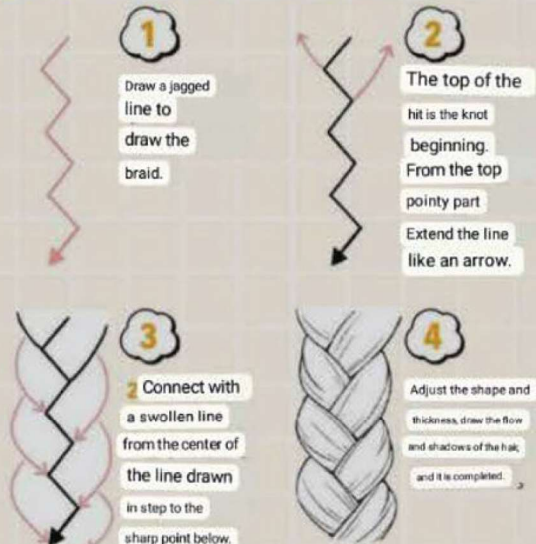

braid structure

It can be made by weaving three strands of hair alternately. Knowing the structure of braids makes it easier to draw illustrations.

Manga [Technique]

how to draw easy braids

built-in drawing

A hairstyle that picks up and braids the outer hair little by little.

There are two types of "front knitting" and "back knitting".

Zoom

The surrounding hair bundles are caught in the braided part, so the point is to draw the hair bundles on the braided side.

The hairline is pulled by the braided tresses.

Create a flow that pulls the hair around the braid.

Braid your hair below your ears so you don't have to comb your hair.

built-in structure /////

Knitting is an application of braids. The method is similar to braiding, but the surrounding hair bundles are involved while weaving.

Divide the hair bundle into 3 evenly and braid about 2 braids from the first braid.

2

Scoop some of the adjacent "hair" (green) on the outside of the purple tress. Combine it with the purple tress.

Put the hair bundles that you combined in step 2 together and put them on top of the red hair bundle next to it.

Combine the yellow and inner orange hair tresses and put them on top of the 2 hair tresses. Repeat steps 1 to 4 to complete.

Types of hair styles to incorporate back braid

A hairstyle in which hair bundles are woven from the bottom up. Since this is the opposite method of knitting from the front, draw the stitches so that they form a three-dimensional shape.

fish bone

Braided shape resembling fish bones. The point is to draw the intersecting hair bundles more finely than the braid.

Rope winding (twisted) shape in which two bundles of hair are wound in a shape. The point is to draw with the twisted strands of hair in mind.

Two blocks/cutting

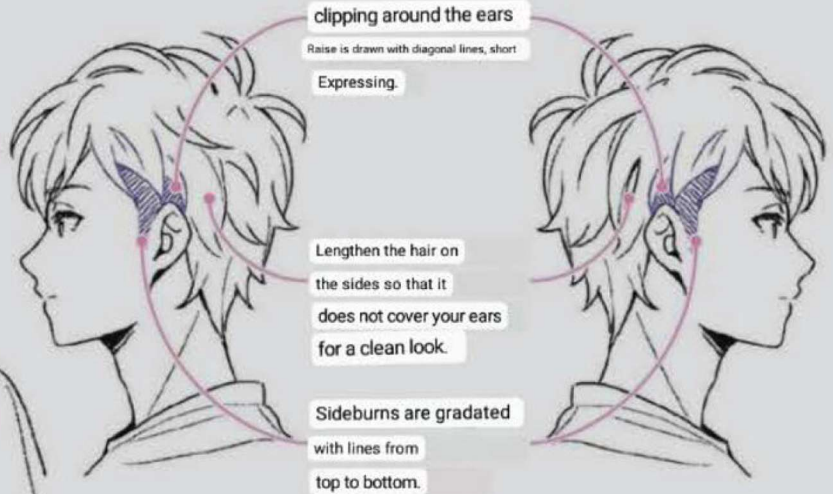

The side and back of the head are shaved, and the bangs are pulled up, giving a stylish impression. There are various arrangements, and you can create a character's individuality.

two blocks

A style with two sections of different lengths. Shave mainly the sides and neckline to create a difference in the length of the top.

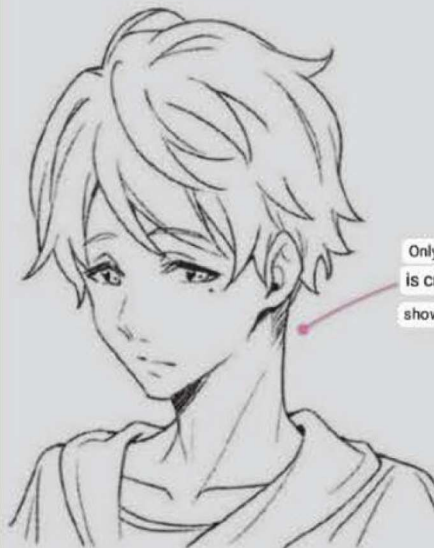

clipping the ears

If the shaved part is only around the ears, draw the hair on the sides shorter than the ears so that the sideburns are visible.

cutting the neckline

Two blocks with shaved neckline. Draw fine lines under the ears and at the base of the neck to express a cropped look.

Only this part is cropped and shown.

Apply gradation to the top and bottom of the line length.

The fine lines express the short tufts of hair that have been cut and raised.

アレンジ

woman's shaved short hair

For women's haircuts, just like men's haircuts, a hairline is drawn on the nape of the neck and expressed with fine lines. It can express the image of a dignified woman.

various hairstyles

Check out a variety of hairstyles, including shorts, longs, and bows, with two blocks and a cropped haircut.

short x two blocks

The length of the hair is above the ears.

Draw fine lines on the sideburns and neckline.

Two blocks with the sides and neckline trimmed. Draw the cropped part and the length and texture of the hair that will be cropped.

The ends of the hair on the sides should be short above the ears, and the length of the hair on the back should be around the middle of the ears for a natural look.

Cut off the cut part along the shape of the head.

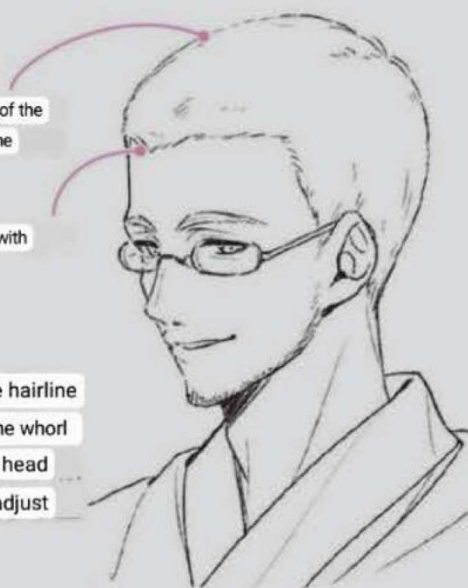

Bowes

Draw along the shape of the head so that the volume does not appear.

Draw the hairline with fine lines.

bow hair. Draw the hairline of the bangs and the whorl of the back of the head with fine lines to adjust the shape.

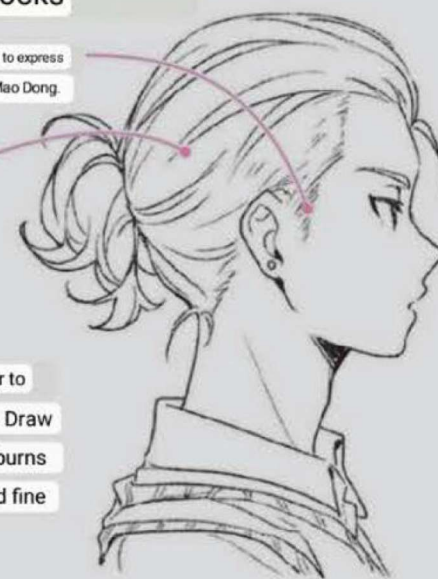

Long x Two blocks

A fine line is added to the hairline to express the difference in quality from Mao Dong.

Draw the flow of the hair toward the knot.

The silhouette is similar to that of tied long hair. Draw the hairline and sideburns with oblique lines and fine tufts of hair.

Types of cropping depictions

The cropped part needs detailed depiction. Let's find the drawing method that suits your picture in the three types of drawing.

How to draw the shortest length of hair drawn by dots. Draw the dots randomly.

Expresses the length of hair that is thinner and shorter than the tip of the hair drawn with lines. Slanted lines are also effective for expressing hair volume and shadows.

Compared to cats and stippling, which are drawn with fine bundles of hair, the expression is a little more realistic. The trick is not to draw too much.

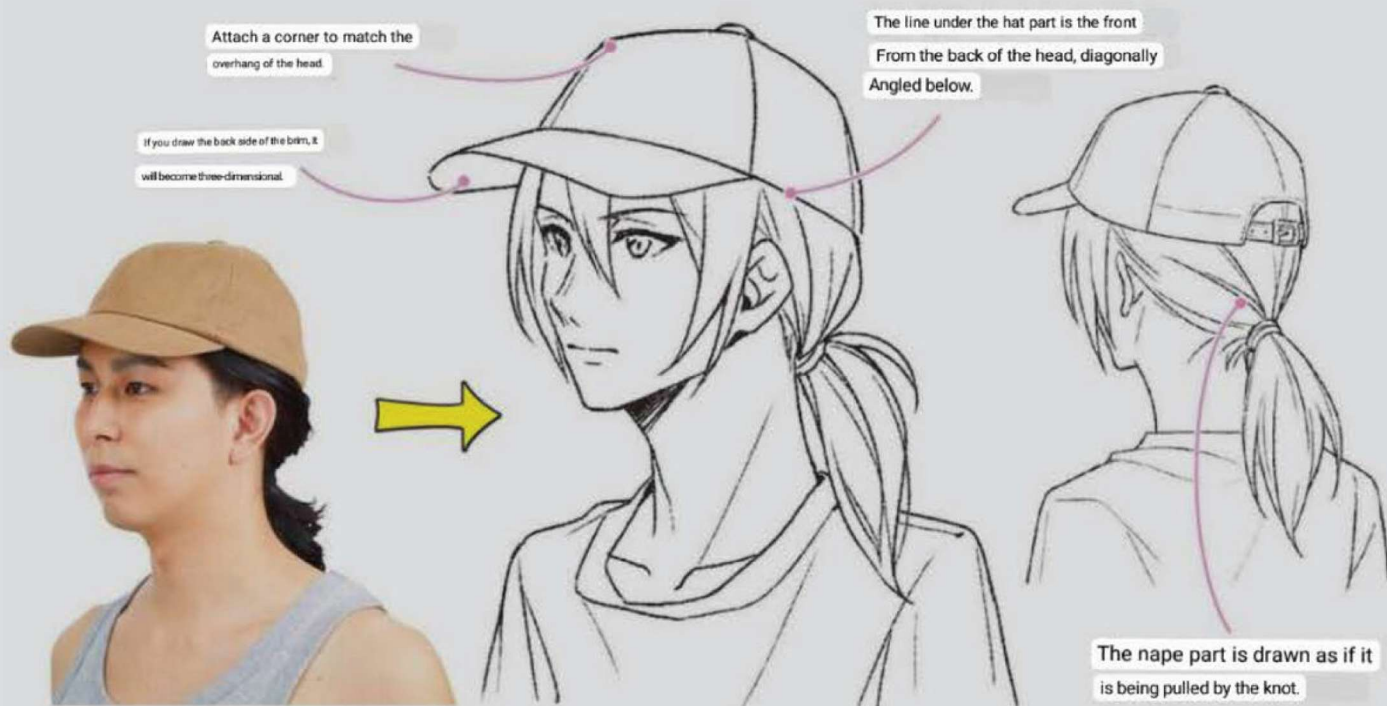

Relationship between headgear and head

Hats are one of the standard items that express the character's individuality. Grasp the relationship between various types of hats and the head and become able to draw naturally.

how to draw a cap

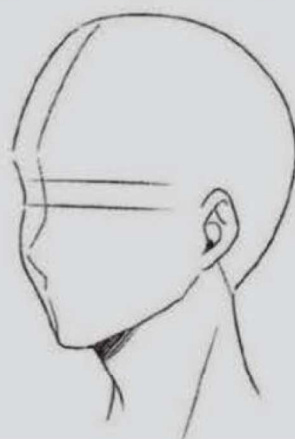

Keeping in mind that there is a gap between the head and the cap, draw it so that it is slightly larger than the shape of the head.

Check in process

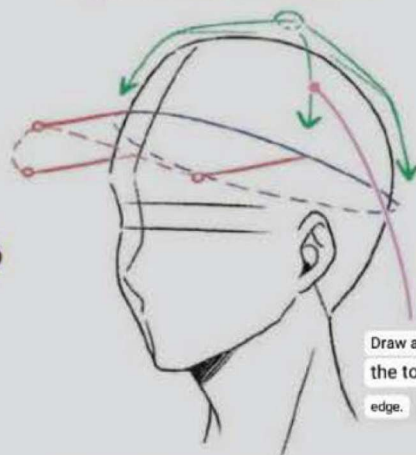

Let's take a look at the process of drawing a cap, starting with the drawing of a man wearing a cap.

1 take a portrait of a person

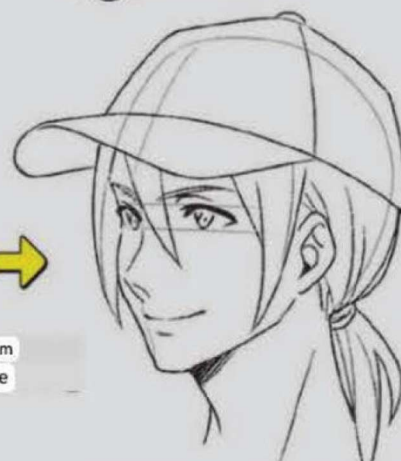

Draw a sideways male Atari. Take the shape of the head, draw the outline, decide the positions of the eyes, ears and nose, etc., and draw.

2 draw a cap

Draw the edge of the cap to match the head. Let's take a line from the top and a line at the brim.

3 Draw and arrange the hair

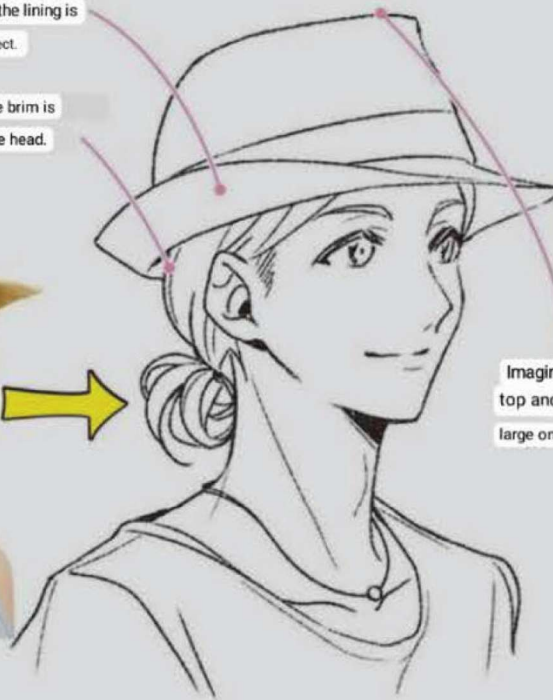

Draw the hair that comes out of the cap at Atari. Connect and arrange with the lines of the bite, and add the drawing to the cap.

how to draw a hat

It is characterized by a brim on all sides and a dented top. Let's capture the appearance of the brim and the three-dimensional effect of the hat.

Draw the sled on the brim so that the lining is visible for a more three-dimensional effect.

Imagine that the back of the brim is connected at the back of the head.

Imagine the gap between the top and the head, and draw a large one.

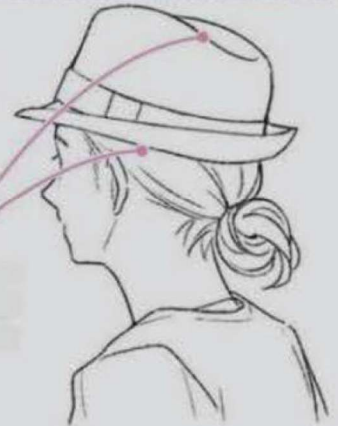

Draw so that the top and brim hat lines are parallel.

of

• Be careful not to show your forehead too much

If the forehead area is too large, the gap will be large and the hat will appear to float. Draw the brim above the ear.

how to draw hood

Learn how to draw by looking at the relationship between the head when the hood is on, the sagging of the clothes, and how the wrinkled face looks.

Put the tip of the hood forward and draw the back side to create a three-dimensional effect.

Since the zipper is pulled down, the lower part of the hood can be spread out to make it loose.

The silhouette of the body is drawn slightly stooped.

A diamond-shaped hood gives a sharp silhouette to the head.

A sloping shoulder angle adds to the hoodie feel.

Allen

Expression with the head when wearing a helmet

It is the same for any headgear to cut the edges to fit your head. For helmets, use straight lines.

Make a slightly elongated oval along the shape of the head.

Draw a straight border line き、to create an inorganic feel 髪質 and contrast with .

Expression of accessories and hair

Add hair accessories to expand the variety of hairstyles. Let's take a look at the relationship between hair and various hair accessories.

Expression of hair accessories

There are various types of expressions of hairstyles with hair accessories. Let's see how to draw with photos and illustrations.

Hair band (tied at the bottom)

Draw the flow of hair towards the knot.

Draw so that the knotted hair tufts swell.

Zoom

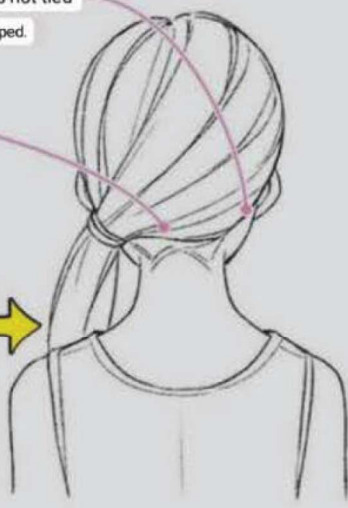

The knotted tufts in front of the shoulders are swept along the body.

The flow flows toward the hair elastic, creating volume in the middle of the knot.

The back of the head that is not tied should be slightly bent and drooped.

Draw the width of the hair bundle on the nape finely.

Hair elastic (tied at the top)

The top part of the hair bundle is positioned higher than the knot.

The tied hair bundle adds volume in the middle.

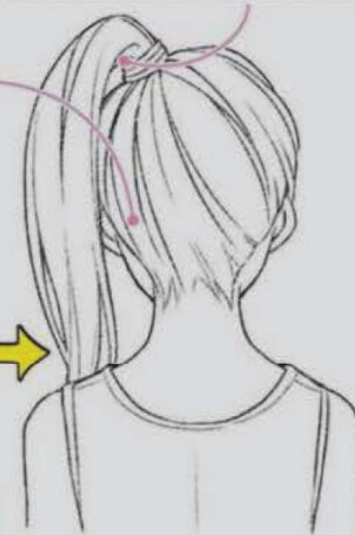

Zoom

The hair stream is directed upwards and the top of the hair knot is above the hem.

Draw the knot and the back side of the hair bundle hanging from the top to make the hair move.

Draw the flow of hair on the neckline as if it is being pulled upwards.

pinning

On the back side of the pin, draw a hair flow so that the hair gathers.

The top pinned hair should be straight.

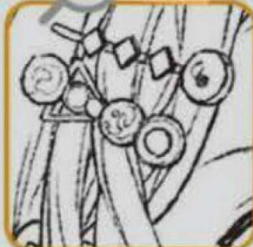

arrange

pinned long hair

As with short hair, the top pinned hair should point toward the pin, and the pinned section should be bowed and stepped. Try to change the flow of the hair back and forth around the ears.

Zoom

The part where the pin is inserted has a flexing movement.

Valletta

The collected hair overlaps and becomes three-dimensional.

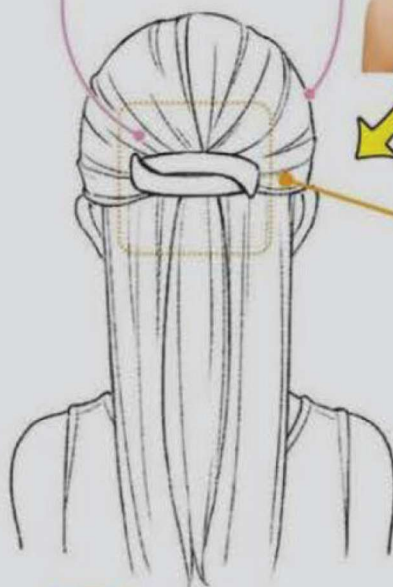

The position to fasten should be at the same level as the ear or slightly below for a good balance.

Zoom

For half-up, the hair hangs down from the center of the barrette.

Katyusha

The part held by the headband shows the shape of the head.

Draw the back hair so that it overlaps the headband a little.

Zoom

Due to the fine unevenness on the back side, the hair bundle at the hairline is finely divided.

アレンジ

various hair accessories

Kanzashi

Tie back hair, make a dumpling, and draw a hairpin. Let's draw the kanzashi as if it were inserted from above.

ribbon

The ribbon makes the knot invisible. Consciously draw the legs of the ribbon on top of the tied hair bundle.

Hair band

Draw from above the bangs to gather the back hair. Draw the back of the head with a slight bulge.

Hair movement with movement

The movement of the body also moves the hair. Among them, the tip of the hair moves the most, and the closer it is to the head, the less movement it has. Let's take a look at some basic hair movements.

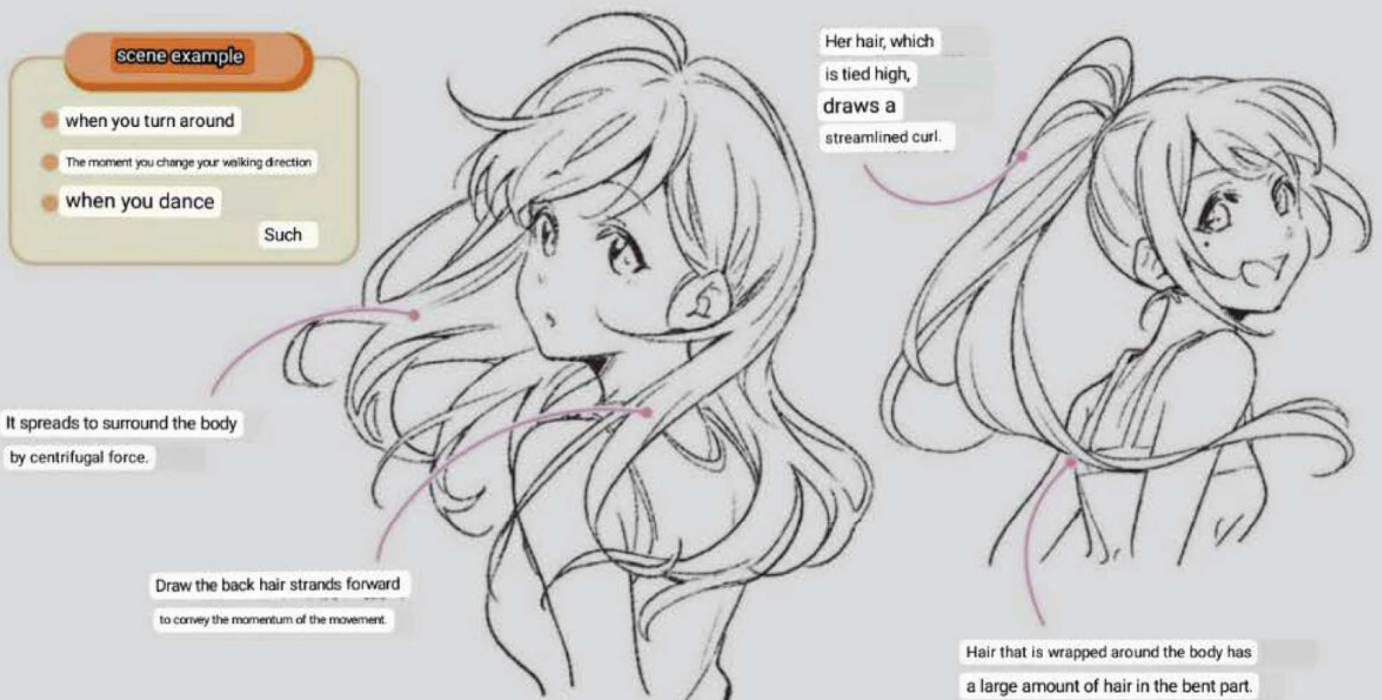

fluttering hair movement

The movement of the hair blowing in the wind and spreading softly. The point is to change the direction of the curve and the tip of the hair depending on the hair bundle.

flowing hair movement

Centrifugal force is added to the movement of the hair according to the movement of the body that turns around vigorously. It is effective to draw a large curve of the hair bundle.

flexing hair movement

A movement in which a bundle of hair swells lightly upon contact. If you draw sagging hair, you can express the degree of sagging.

In the part where the hair enters, the hair bundle will be lifted up, so make it rounded.

The bangs flow down and float up.

scene example

- When a muffler is wrapped around the hair
- When you're being hugged When you're lying on your desk
- When putting on and taking off clothes, etc.

Draw the hair in the back so that it hangs down from the shoulders.

messy hair movement

Movement such as when receiving an impact. Create a gap in the hair bundle and move the tip of the hair randomly to increase the sense of dynamism.

scene example

- Strong wind
- When your body receives a shock
- When you wake up or oversleep sleeping habit
- When you are tired or feeling unwell

Such

The tufts at the base of the hairline should be voluminous and stand up.

Draw tufts of hair sticking out irregularly on the outside.

The hair on the back should be at an angle about horizontal to the ground and flow forward from the body.

fast hair movement

An expression that floats like a wavy bundle of hair. If you put loose hair in the back hair, you can express a feeling of floating.

Draw the tips of the side tufts so that the back side can be seen.

Converge the side hair in the back hair bundle.

scene example

- When jumping
- when the wind is blowing from below
- The moment when your hair stands on end in surprise
- The moment when it falls from top to bottom, etc.

Add a sense of air by drawing fine strands of hair that protrude outward.

Hair movement by "wind"

The flow of hair is easily affected by the wind, and the tip of the hair moves especially greatly. Let's draw different changes in the movement of the hair and the tip of the hair depending on the direction and strength of the wind.

Changes in hair due to wind strength

The point is the movement of the hair ends and the change in the bangs. Let's see how the hair changes depending on the strength of the wind.

weak

The bangs are slightly untied, so I can glimpse my forehead.

A glimpse of the forehead

The hair bundles on the side are blown by the wind, creating a scene where the ears are visible.

For the ends of the hair at the back, add a curvilinear motion that bounces inwards and outwards.

When the wind is light, draw the ends of your hair so that they flow backwards. It is also a point to let the bangs fall apart a little.

The bangs flutter upward, and the forehead is visible.

A little stronger wind. Draw a part of the bangs in a slightly curled up motion, and draw the hair flowing backwards strongly.

The bangs are parted to the left and right, and the front bangs that catch the wind are turned up.

Draw the hair in the back so that it wraps around the face.

横 • Converge the hair in the back so that it gathers in one point.

The bangs are turned up and all the forehead is visible

Make your bangs stand on end and show off your forehead.

Let the back end of your hair hang upward.

Draw the hairline so that it is pulled in the direction of the wind.

Strong winds that make your hair stand on end. Express the strength of the wind by giving the hair tufts a violently undulating movement and drawing the ends of the hair in a round shape.

powerful

How the wind hits by length

Depending on the length of the hair, the position where the wind hits and the movement of the hair flow also change. Let's see the difference in movement by length.

short hair

Make the part that is hit by the wind look like a whorl, and spread out the tufts of hair radially from there. Randomly move the ends of the hair to create a fluttering movement.

The wind from the front causes little change in the hair on the back.

Draw the hairline so that it is pulled back.

wind from the front

side wind

For the bangs, add swelling to the flow of the hair at the hairline.

The back hair is pulled randomly in the direction of the wind.

Draw the top so that it bulges upwards.

Gently curve the back ends of your hair downwards.

wind from below

long hair

Hair tufts The movement of the tip of the hair is greater than that of short hair. The point is to make the movement of the hair ends random and create gaps to create an airy feel.

Make the bangs look fuller and softer.

Draw the hair so that it curves upward.

Minimize the movement of the top hair. Part your bangs a little

The braid part has a curve in the middle part.

Randomly move Mao Dong around the unbraided part.

point

Let's draw the main and sub

For the hair fluttering in the wind, after drawing the main thick strands of hair, you can draw small strands around it to create a natural flow of hair.

main sub

Movement of the dryer and the stars

The hair on the part where the palm is held is curled by the wind.

The dry hair on the back is light, so let the tips fly upwards.

Since the range of the wind from the dryer is narrow, it moves as if part of the hair is blown up.

hold hands

When you dry your hair with your hands, the movement of the ends of the hair will be smaller due to the amount of contact with your hands. For other parts of the hair that are not touched by the wind, increase the movement.

Flex the hair that is in contact with the towel so that it lifts up.

Let's draw the movements of the hair strands that are hit by the wind from the dryer.

The raised part depicts Mao Dong's movement from his hairline to his hand.

Randomly curve the ends of your hair up and down.

Draw the hair on the straight line of the dryer so that it spreads out.

Wet hair, which is not exposed to the wind from the dryer, should be painted with less volume.

Unnatural expressions without tilting the neck

If your body is in an upright position, you won't feel like you're drying your hair. Tilt your head forward or to the side for a natural look.

don't touch

If you dry your hair with a hair dryer without touching your hands, the movement of your hair will change greatly up and down.

The hair in the back makes the movement smaller.

Only the tufts in front are exposed to the wind, and the tufts move greatly.

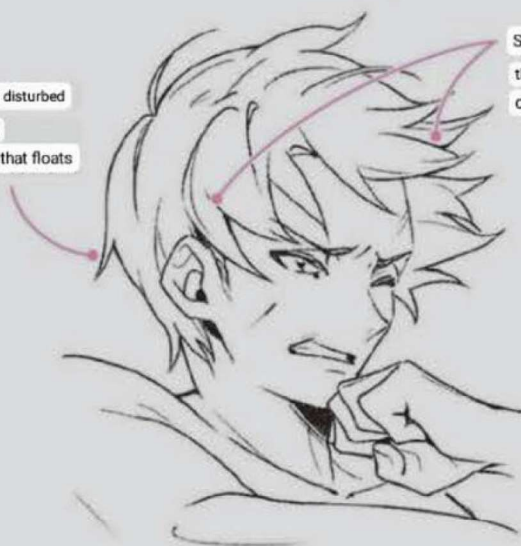

The hair bundles in the part where the dryer is applied are greatly raised.

The strength of the wind can be expressed by moving the tips of the hair randomly.

Movement of the village when it is blown

You can create a disturbed atmosphere by drawing in hair that floats to the side.

Side, bangs East move in the opposite direction of body movement.

When you have short hair If you get a strong wind or impact from the front, float the sides and bangs so that they spread out to the left and right.

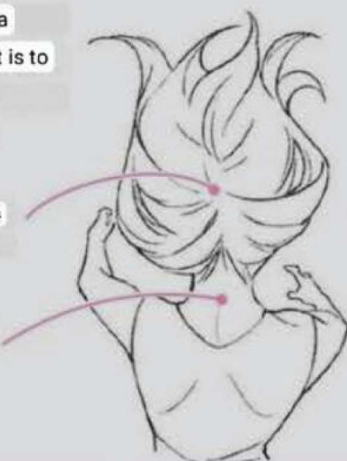

From the whorls and partings, hair flow spreads radially.

The hair in the back spreads out to the left and right, and the tips of the hair move randomly.

when you have long hair

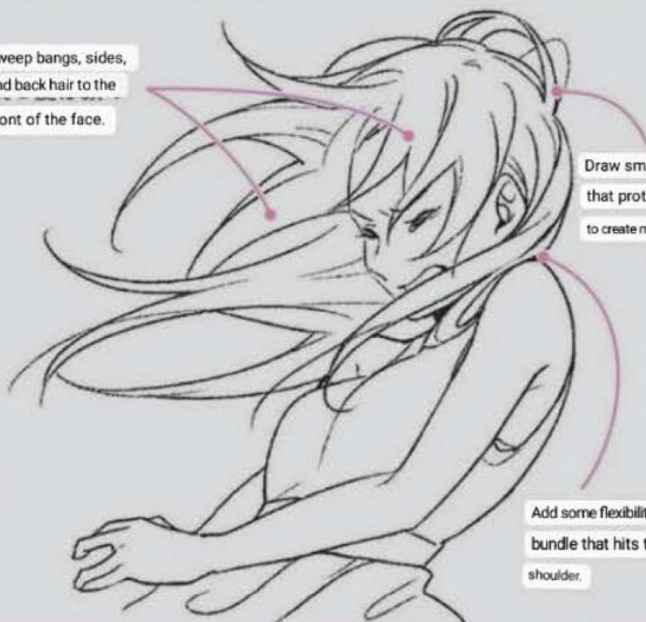

Draw a flow of hair that lifts from the whorl, and spread the hair on the side with a soft movement. The point is to draw the bundle of hair as if it is rolling forward.

The parting hair bundle is divided into left and right and bends.

Show your nape to express that it is a strong wind.

Sweep bangs, sides, and back hair to the front of the face.

Draw small bundles of hair that protrude outward to create movement.

Add some flexibility to the hair bundle that hits the cramped shoulder.

Draw the bangs as if they are floating.

The strength of the wind is expressed by the size of the movement of the twin tails.

Draw the flow of hair on the back of the head so that it goes toward the knot.

point

The hair on the back of the head doesn't move much

Since the knot is pulled strongly and fixed, the air resistance is small. Draw the hair with small movement since it is the part that is hard to be affected by the impact.

when in twintails

The twintails and bangs move the most. Draw the bangs so that they float upward.

Hair movement "in the air"

The point of the hair in the air is that the movement of the hair bundles is random and it floats. See how the hair behaves when jumping, falling, etc.

jump hair movement

The movement of the jump has the characteristic that the longer the hair, the more the hair bundle moves in a streamlined manner, and the hair in the back rises.

Draw the ahoge sticking out of the whorl for a more dynamic feel.

The tuft of hair on the back is a soft curve that floats upward.

short hair

In the case of short hair, the flow spreads vertically and horizontally. The point is to give volume so that the hair bundle spreads sideways.

Create a space around the back hair bundle and forehead.

Let the hair bundle on the top of the head rise softly.

For the back hair, add movement from around the back of the neck.

The middle part of the tress is thick and heavy, and the ends are thin.

Long hair

For long hair, draw thicker strands in the middle. Draw toward the tips of your hair, expanding upwards and sideways.

Karen

Hair movement when tying hair and jumping

For a tied up hairstyle, give the tied up hair a lot of movement. The point is to match the direction of the jump, add swelling to the curve, and draw it as if it were bouncing.

The hair that is tied in a ponytail gives great movement up and down.

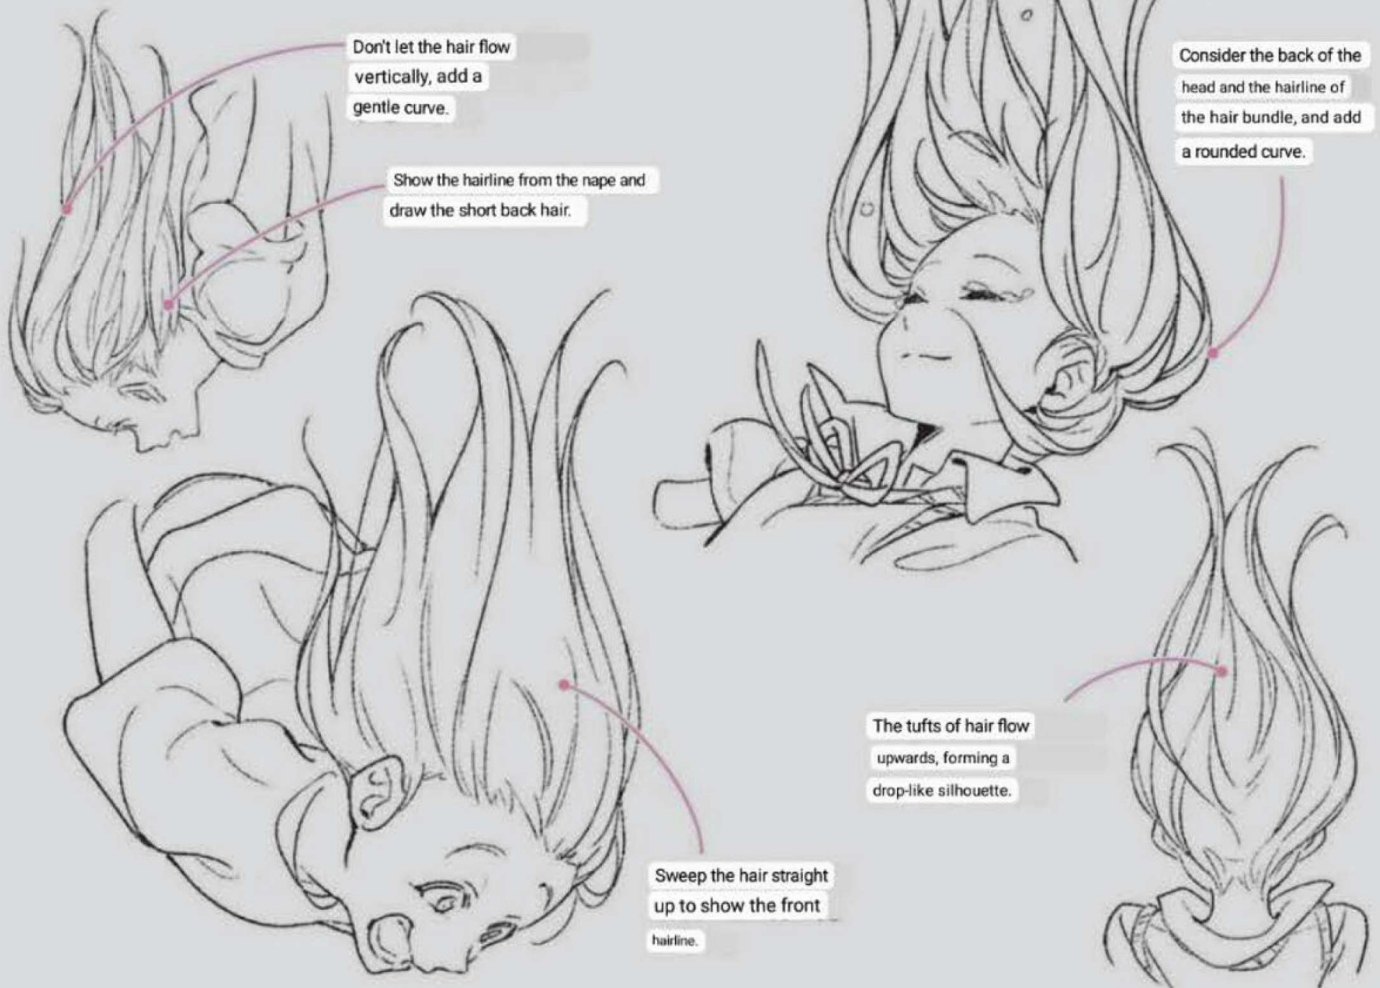

falling hair movement

The movement of the hair changes depending on the speed of the fall and where it falls from the body. Consider the falling direction and speed when drawing.

long hair

All the hair stands on end due to the wind and air resistance from below. The closer you get to the tip of the hair, the more tapered you can make it look more natural.

short hair

In the case of short hair, the point is that the hair bundles spread to the left and right. Let's spread the ends of the hair randomly according to the movement of the hair bundles.

For a natural expression, draw the legs so that they are divided into left and right from the parting line.

Be conscious of the hair on the top of the bangs floating.

"Do not draw upward when short

If the hair is short and falls, it will look unnatural if the hair is gathered upward. The back of the head has little air resistance, so even when falling, the hair does not change much from the original hairstyle.

The legs should be curved so that they move in front of the face.

Movement of hair by "water"

The movement of hair by water changes greatly depending on the situation. Master water-related hair movements such as underwater, shampooing wet hair.

movement of hair in water

In the water, the hair sways and drifts like a streamline. Let's draw the flow of softly undulating hair ends.

Buoyancy also works on the bangs, and the hair flows up, down, left, and right.

Draw the bundle of hair near the whorl so that it floats upward.

Spread the hair bundles on the sides to the left and right, and bulge upward.

Draw the tip of the hair so that it spreads in the direction opposite to the moving direction.

For the bangs, if you draw the part where you can see the back side of the hair, you can express the relief.

Side hair spreads sideways while clinging to the front of the face.

The buoyancy lifts the bangs up, revealing the forehead and hairline.

For the tufts of hair in the foreground, let's draw a large curl and make them thicker.

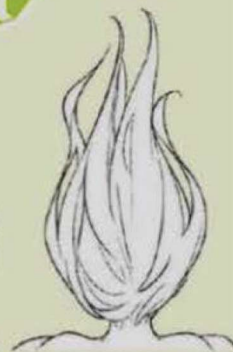

The density of the hair tufts will be low, so let's undulate while creating gaps.

point

hair when in water

hair when falling

Differences in expression when underwater and when falling

Since buoyancy works in water, the tip of the hair floats and spreads sideways while swaying. When the hair falls, air resistance causes the hair to taper toward the ends.

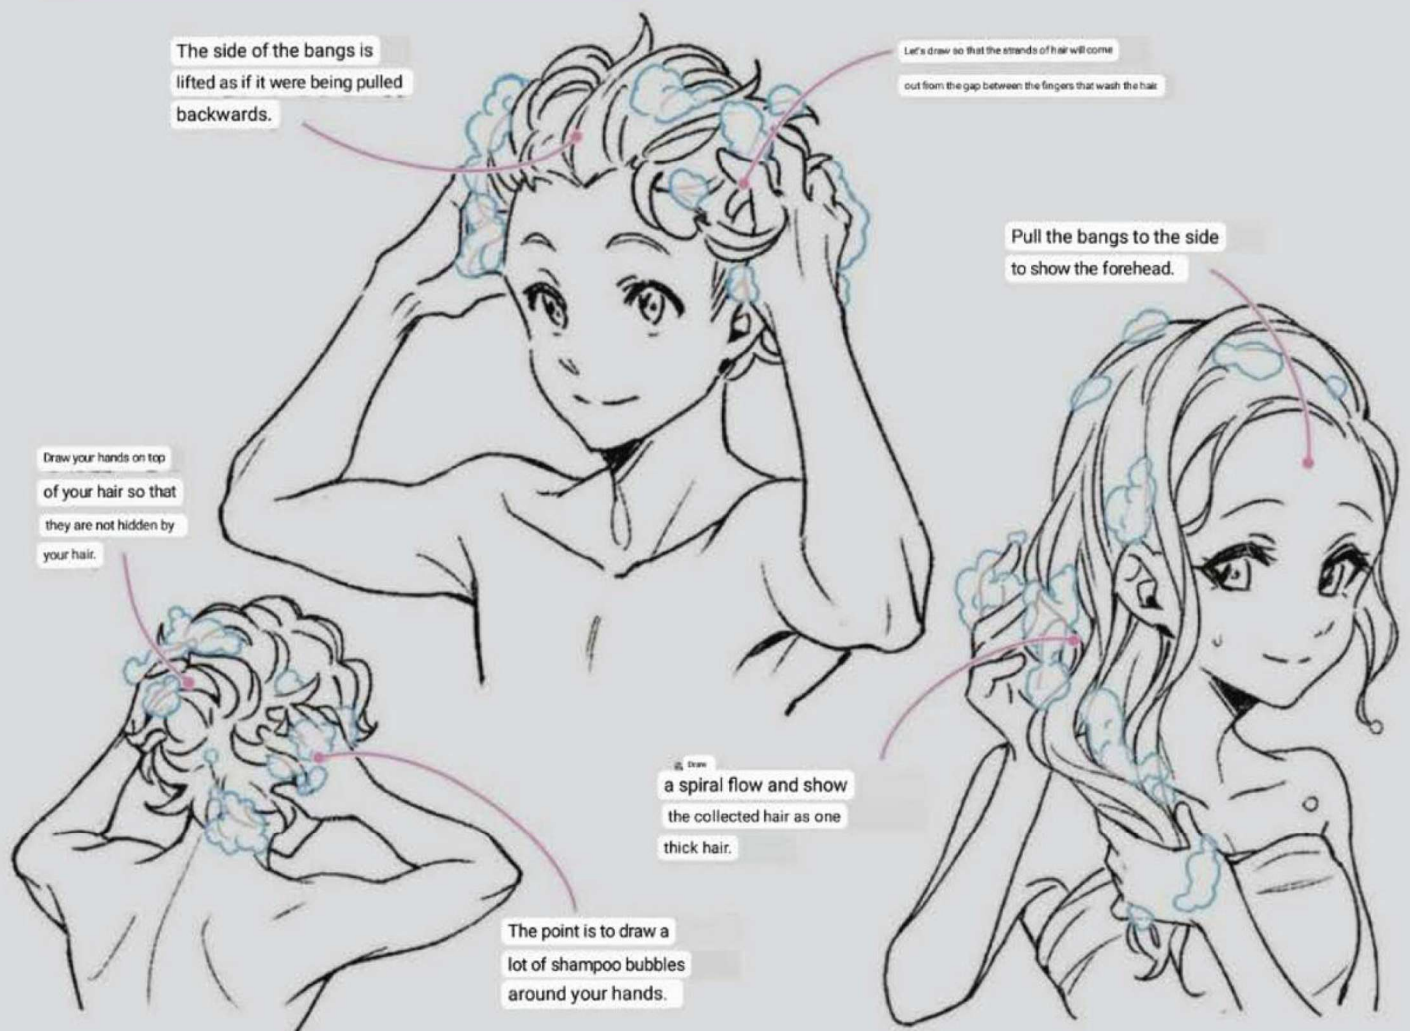

wet hair movement

When hair gets wet, it loses volume due to the weight of the water. Minimize the movement of the ends of your hair to create a wet texture.

Shampoo hair movement

The point is to draw different ways of shampooing for men and women. Let's draw while thinking about the difference.

different hair movements

Let's take a look at how to draw hair in various situations, such as when you touch it, when it touches your hand or shoulder, and when you turn around. Focusing on the relationship of gravity and changes in hair movement

Hair movement on contact

The hair shows various movements when it touches something. Let's take a look at how to draw while keeping gravity in mind.

The bangs and side tufts are turned up, revealing the forehead and hairline.

Draw a tuft of hair that is not curled up, and add variation to the movement.

The hair, which has been picked up by hand, draws an upward flow of hair.

The tip of her hair sticks out from between her fingers and looks like she's being stroked.

Hair tufts on the shoulders Bend it a lot according to the movement of the arm.

The bangs are held down and flattened downward.

The back hair is drawn so that it spreads while being disordered to the left and right.

The shape of the head on the side that touches the pillow and the curve of the pillow should be similar curves.

アレンジ

Short hairstyles when lying on your back do not collapse much

If the hair is short, the hair will not spread out and the shape will not change much. Draw the hair on the top of the head and on the sides and back so that it spreads out slightly.

Movement of hair touching hands and shoulders

When the hair bends, it draws a gentle curve. Let's express the movement of the hair in an easy-to-understand manner with the curve and looseness of the hair bundle.

Draw a large amount of bend, and draw the difference from the hair that is being held down by the collar.

Add volume to the top tress and tie it to the curved tress.

The hair on the back is curled so that it is weighted down by gravity.

The tresses that touch the shoulders and arms should be puffed outward and sagged.

By drawing the ends of the hair that are under the arm, the expression of the hair is added.

The hair should follow the shape of the hand, and the hair bundle should spread out to the left and right.

Hair movement when turning

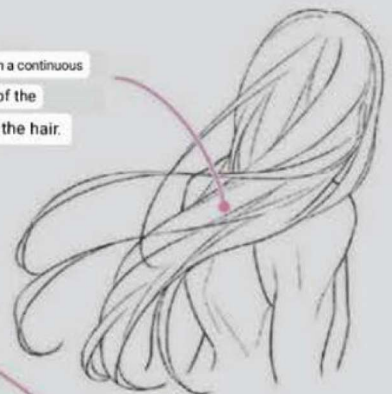

How the centrifugal force is applied varies depending on the length of the hair. Show off the graceful movements of your long hair.

From the top to the middle, it moves as if it were lifted by centrifugal force.

Finely comb the hair in a continuous flow from the top of the head to the tip of the hair.

Add density in the middle and draw in thin hair bundles to create a smooth feeling.

Move the hair strands from the hairline to the ends, imagining an S shape.

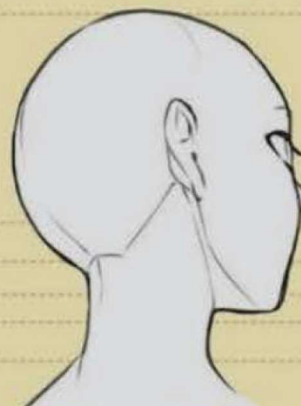

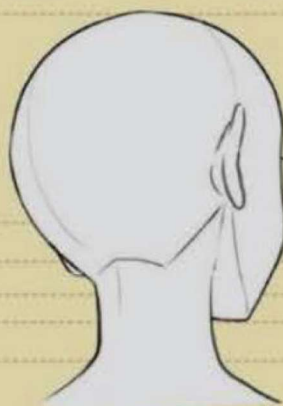

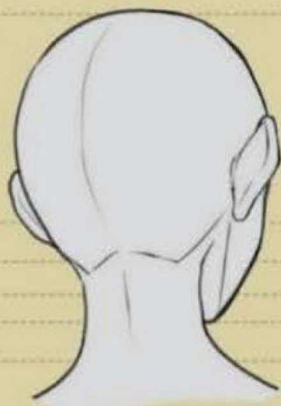

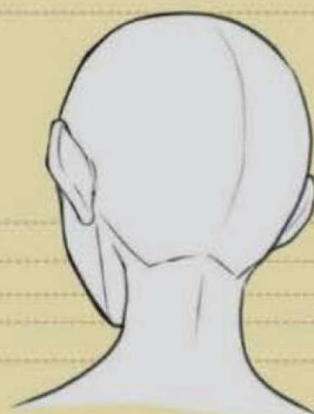

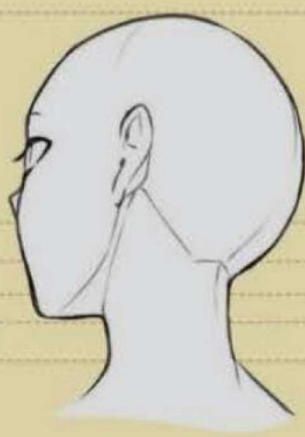

Pulled in the direction the body was turned, the hair tufts formed into a circular shape.

"expression"

Basics and tips

for drawing

Facial expressions are a very important element when drawing manga characters. Understand the parts of the face that change with each emotion, and draw various expressions.

Relationship between facial expressions and muscles

Facial expressions come from the movement of facial muscles. Manga characters are deformed, but by knowing the muscle movements caused by the emotions of "joy", "anger, sorrow", drawing ability will increase.

four basic facial expressions

Let's put four basic human emotions such as "joy", "anger", "sadness" and "fun" into facial expressions.

→ P130~

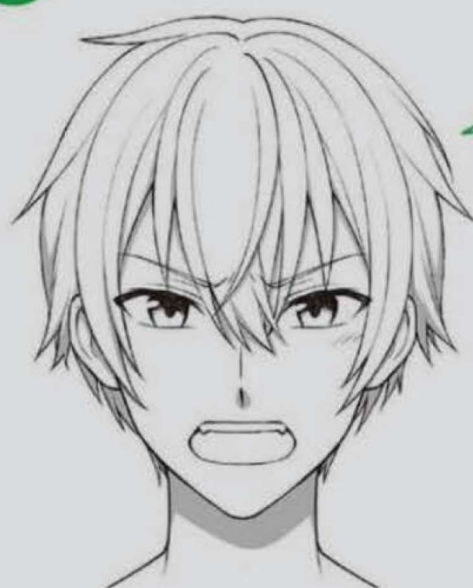

upwards when happy

Expression when happy. Parts such as the eyes, eyebrows, and corners of the mouth basically face upwards.

→ P136~

Sharp lines when angry angry expression. The corners of the eyes and the buttocks of the eyebrows are lifted, and there are many sharp lines.

→ P142~

When you're sad, with a downward vector

A sad expression. A downward vector, such as the eyebrows and the corners of the mouth dropping downward.

→ P148~

When it's fun, it's a gentle line

A fun, relaxed expression. Eyebrows, eyes, mouth, etc. become gentle curves.

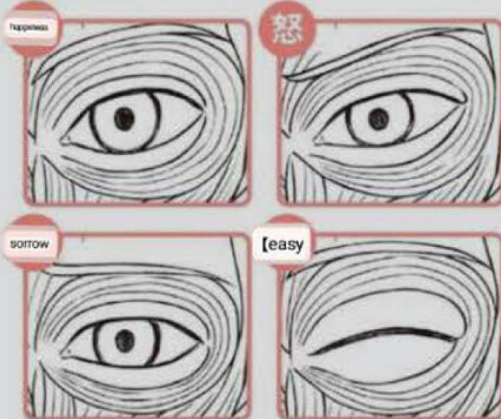

Muscle baht that makes facial expressions

Let's take a look at how the muscles of the face move in "Emotions" and the differences between each part.

What are facial muscles

Muscles that move the eyes, mouth, nose, etc. The muscles of the body connect bone to bone, but the muscles of the face are connected to bone and skin, so it is possible to create delicate facial expressions.

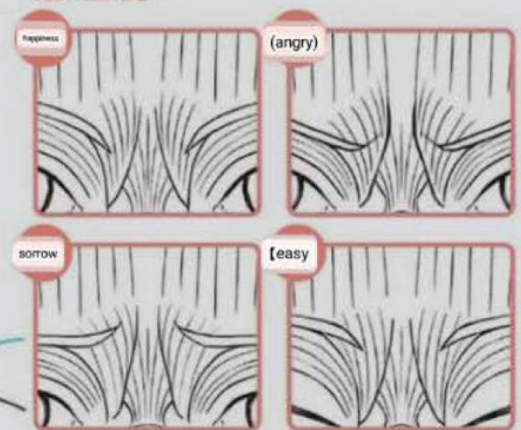

Ganrinkan orbicularis oculi muscle

Muscles that move around the eyes by moving the upper and lower eyelids.

Postage

皺眉筋

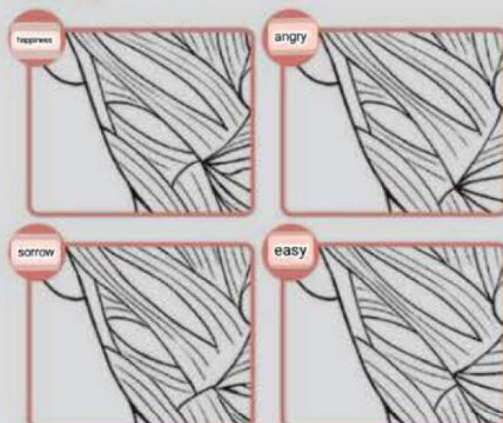

A muscle that creates vertical creases between the eyebrows by pulling the eyebrows together.

bridge of the nose

Muscle that narrows and widens the nostrils.

like tendons

A muscle that pulls outward to raise the corners of the mouth.

しよろん 笑筋

A muscle that pulls the corners of the mouth sideways in the dimples in the skin that appear when you smile.

Korin-san Circular muscle

A muscle that moves the lips up and down to create various facial expressions.

Tatokin wish source

The muscle that tightens the jaw line by pushing up the lower jaw.

How to make facial expressions "Joy" for women

Women's "joy" is drawn with cuteness on the whole. Let's capture the movement of each part while being aware of the upward vector as a whole, such as the eyes, mouth, and cheeks.

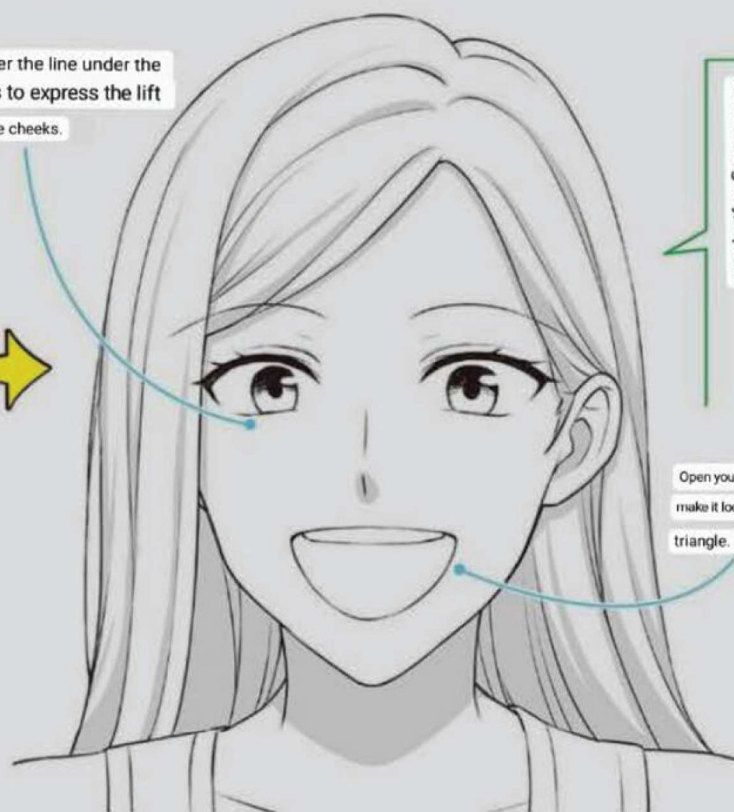

Expression of "joy"

Pay attention to the lifting of the cheeks, which is born with a big smile. Draw the eyes and mouth wide open.

The expression of joy you see in the picture. Let's make an illustration based on how the muscles of the face are raised.

How to make facial expressions "anger" for men

In "Angry", each part of the face has a lot of power and the expression becomes exaggerated.

Let's keep in mind the points of drawing, such as drawing with a firm and sharp line in mind.

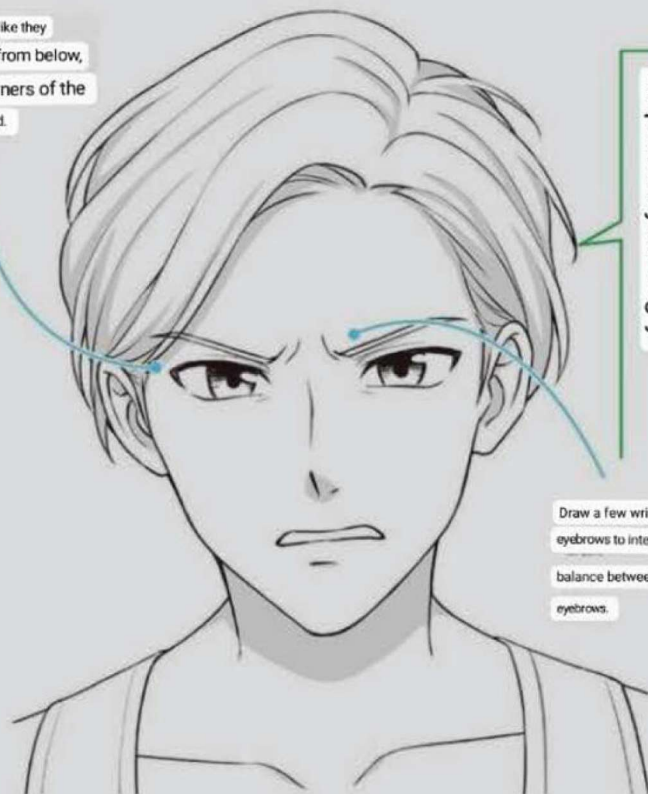

Expression of "anger"

Be conscious of the strength of the eyes more than women. From the photo, let's draw how to insert the power.

The eyebrows are raised by applying force mainly between the eyebrows. Let's capture the characteristics of a staring look.

The eyes look like they are glaring from below, and the corners of the eyes are raised.

express emotions in manga style

The emotional expression of manga characters can be enriched by adding effects such as shadows and adding deformation elements. Adjust the range of emotions depending on the scene.

How to express using shadows

The expression of the character changes greatly just by applying shadows. Also remember the degree of emphasis due to the angle of the shadow.

Flat without shadows. Slant the angle of the face to create an expression that can be seen from above.

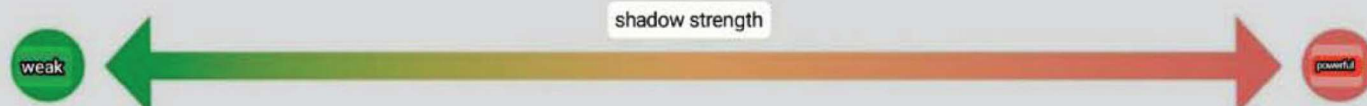

Gradually add shadows around the eyes and neck.

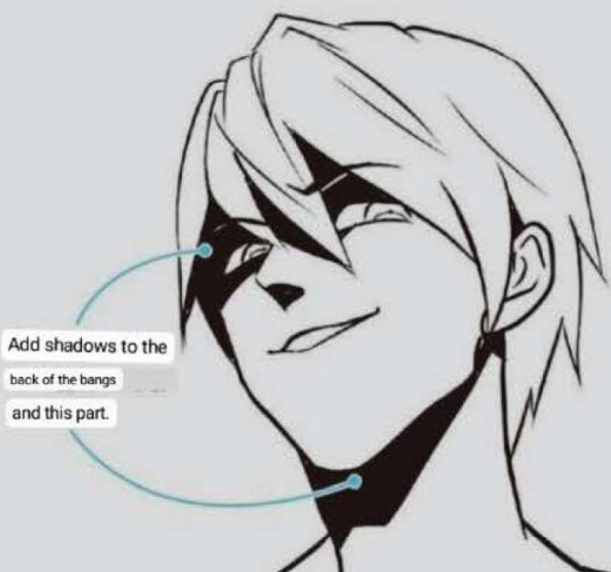

The more one eye is covered, the more malicious it becomes by smearing shadows.

Spread the shadow to nearly half of the face and set it to malice MAX. It is also a point to show only the eyes.

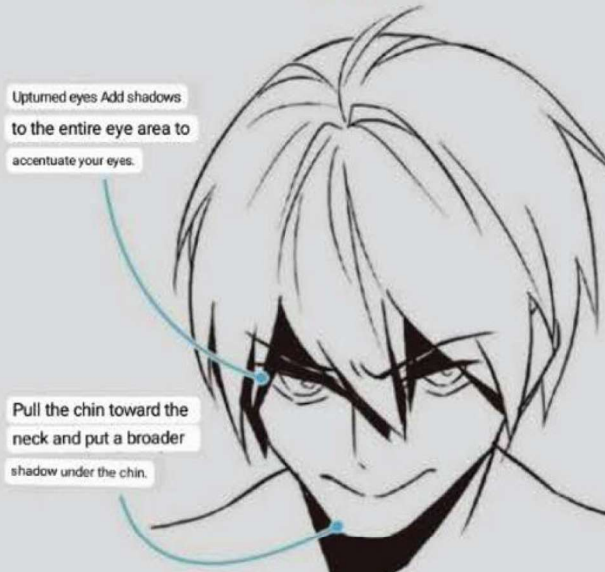

Aori

Add shadows to the back of the bangs and this part.

By adding shadows only around the eyes where the gaze is lowered, the appearance of looking down is emphasized.

Fukan

Upturned eyes Add shadows to the entire eye area to accentuate your eyes.

Pull the chin toward the neck and put a broader shadow under the chin.

While looking down, the shadow emphasizes the appearance of glaring from between the bangs.

Exaggerated way of expression

Draw the movement of each part of the face, tears and sweat overly, and use comics to expand the range of manga-like expressions.

deformation of tears

Expand your expression with the circle of emotions

Emotions are expressed in many different words, each with a different meaning. The "circle of emotions" is a graphical representation of this. Understand the circle of emotions and polish expressions other than emotions.

What is the wheel of emotions?

The various emotions that humans have are sorted out like color classifications and put together in the shape of a large flower petal.

Reference "Bruczyk's Painting of Emotions"

*From the center to the outside, it represents strong emotions to weak emotions.

Basic Emotions of the Wheel of Emotions

The basic emotions (pure emotions) according to the circle of emotions can be roughly divided into the following eight.

① Joy When you are happy, when you have achieved your goal

A refreshing feeling that wells

② Trust

up. Rely on others, don't worry,
Feeling safe.

③ Anxiety Feelings of wanting to run away from something that worries you, worrying about what to do.

④ Surprise

A momentary feeling.

⑤ Sadness Feelings when you lose something important or when things go wrong.

⑥ 嫌悪

Hate and dislike the other person, feel unpleasant and uncomfortable

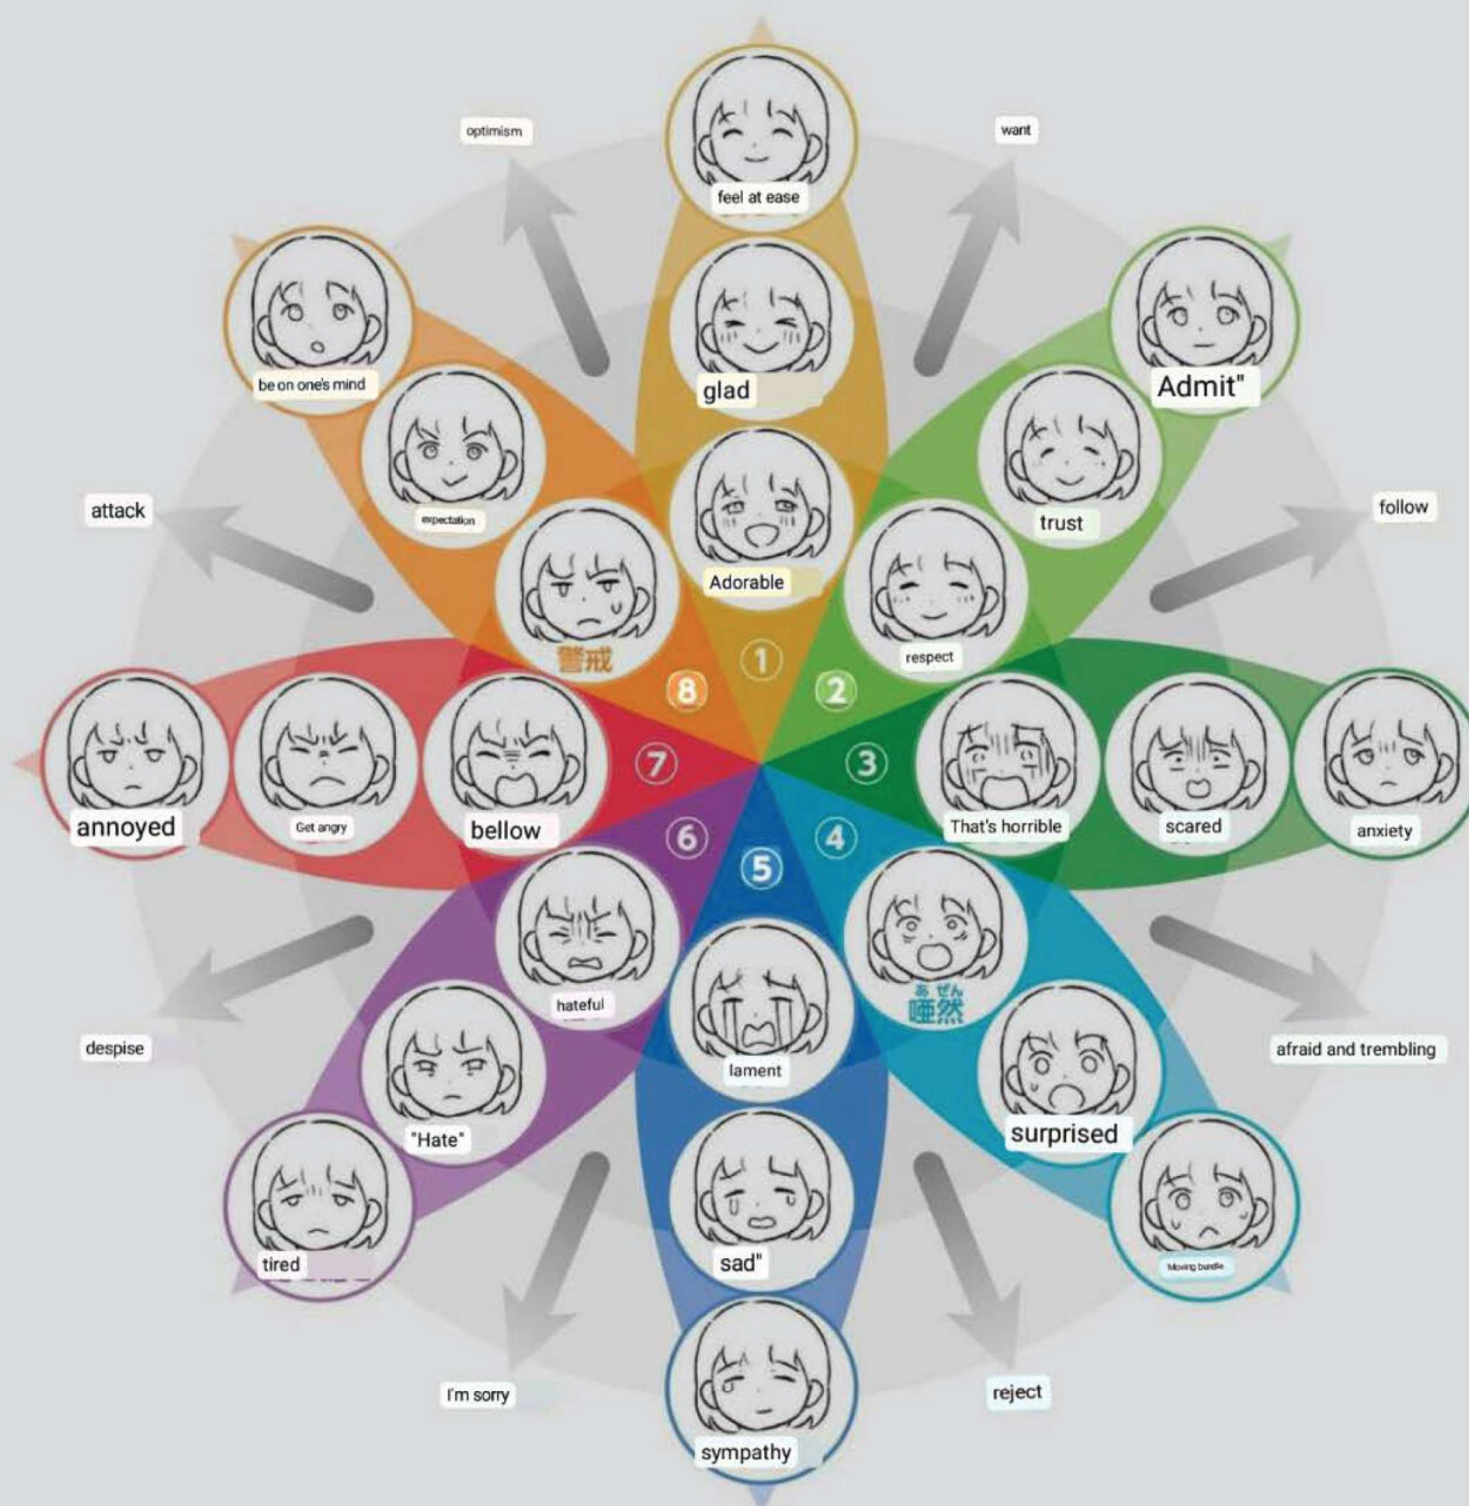

I feel like I'm going to die.

⑦ Anger

How you feel when your goals are not achieved or when you are hurt.

⑧ Expectations

A feeling of strong hope that things will turn out the way you want them to.

Expressions of "Joy" and "Trust"

Joy and trust are positive, warm-hearted emotions. The expression that is born from that is based on the expression of joy, and each part is drawn with its own characteristics.

A facial expression born of joy and trust

Let's express the feeling of "love" that lies deep in "joy" and "trust", that is, affection, affection, and caring.

acceptance

A feeling of forgiveness and acceptance. Draw with the soft eyes and mouth in mind.

Zoom

Draw the iris wide and slightly narrow while looking far away.

point

It is difficult to shift to emotions at the opposite end of the spectrum

In the 'wheel of feeling' it is difficult to transition to the feeling of the pair relationship. For example, when you're depressed, you can't laugh even if you watch a comedy program. On the other hand, it is easy to shift to neighboring emotions. Unless you're drawing a sudden change in mood, be careful not to make the expression look strange due to the sudden change.

The uneasy state continues, and the swaying feelings are expressed with the gestures between the eyebrows and the mouth.

Make the whites of your eyes on top of the eyebrows, and apply the eyebrows along the lower eyelids for a surprised look.

wrinkle between the eyebrows. The shape of the eyebrows is also slightly different on the left and right. So, let's create a feeling of furrowing the eyebrows.

Open your mouth a little to express your feelings of being upset and at a loss for words.

point

The movement of the parts changes depending on the degree of emotion

In the circle of emotions, the more you move toward the center, the stronger and clearer your emotions, and the more you move to the outside, the weaker and more difficult to convey your emotions. Strong emotions cause large changes in facial expressions, so each part moves greatly. Weak emotion is an image that delicately moves each part. Let's draw the subtle differences.

powerful

Expressions of "sorrow" and "disgust"

"Sadness" and "disgust" are emotions with negative and dark images. However, the strength of the facial muscles will change greatly depending on the intensity of the emotion, so be careful when drawing.

"An expression born of sadness and disgust"

Let's express the feelings of 'sorrow' and 'disgust', and the 'regret' behind the feelings of terribly hatred.

sorrow

sad 嘆

He seems to be deeply saddened by the sad event that suddenly attacked him. Show despair in your eyes.

Make strong wrinkles on the eyebrows to endure sadness. The vertical line expresses a depressed feeling.

By adding deep streaks above the eyes, the eyes are squinted strongly.

His mouth is tightly closed, the corners of his mouth are slightly lowered, and he seems to be holding back his sorrow.

eyebrow and mouth, with a downward

Zoom

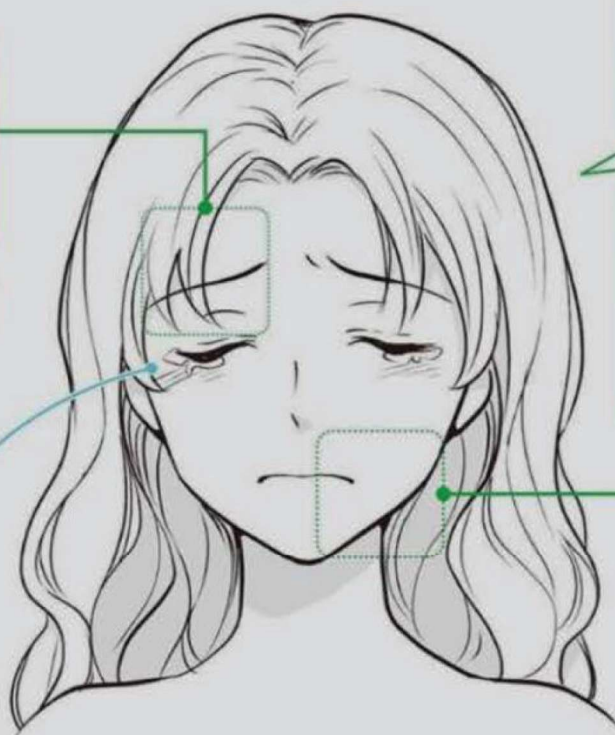

The eyebrows should be in a gentle eight-shaped shape, and the buttocks of the eyebrows should face downward.

With tears in his eyes, he seems to be remembering the sad event.

Let's express our wounded heart with the tears that have accumulated in our closed eyes

With a helpless expression, he conveys his disgusted and tired feelings.

Since it does not apply force to the entire face, lower most of the position and make it loose.

Express your frustration by applying pressure between your eyebrows.

heavy eyelids and a loose mouth, with a languid look.

The mouth is weak and loose.

By adding a horizontal line that shadows the area between the eyebrows, the feeling of hatred is enhanced.

Hatefulness

up!

Draw narrow eyes, and add bears and shadows around them to emphasize emotions.

Expressing a distorted feeling by strongly biting the sound and distorting the lines.

hate

He hates the other person and expresses his intense feelings with deep resentment with strong lines.

point

Compassion becomes a different feeling depending on the combination

More complex emotions can be expressed by combining an emotion that skips one petal and an emotion that skips two petals. Even the same sadness can change into a different emotion if you mix it with anger and anticipation. Combine facial parts for each emotion to create rich facial expressions.

sadness + anger

sadness

it's terrible!

Sadness + Hope

Pessimism

why?

Expressions of "anger" and "expectation"

"Anger" and "expectation" are emotions that are images that strongly appeal to the other person. In particular, pay attention to the eyes that look at the opponent, and keep the other parts linked.

A facial expression born of anger and anticipation

Draw the image of the other person in front of your eyes because it is a powerful emotion. Suppress subtle changes in each part, anger

loose the temper

Emphasize the intense rage with upward-facing eyes and mouth.

Expressing intense anger with a raised look,

Make the iris smaller, and add lines to swell the bottom of the eye for a more powerful look.

Let's lift the eyebrows by changing the direction of the eyebrows on the left and right.

Keep your eyes wide and narrow to glare at the other person.

Zoom

Draw a strong wrinkle between the eyebrows, and draw the eyebrows with a sharp lift.

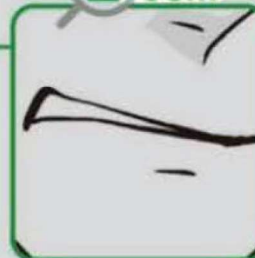

Make it look like it's yelling by clearly drawing teeth and tongue in its wide-open mouth.

frustration

Let's draw the frustrating emotions that don't go as expected by putting power into the eyes and mouth.

Zoom

By clenching your teeth and distorting the shape of your mouth, you can create a clenched mouth.

expectation

vigilance

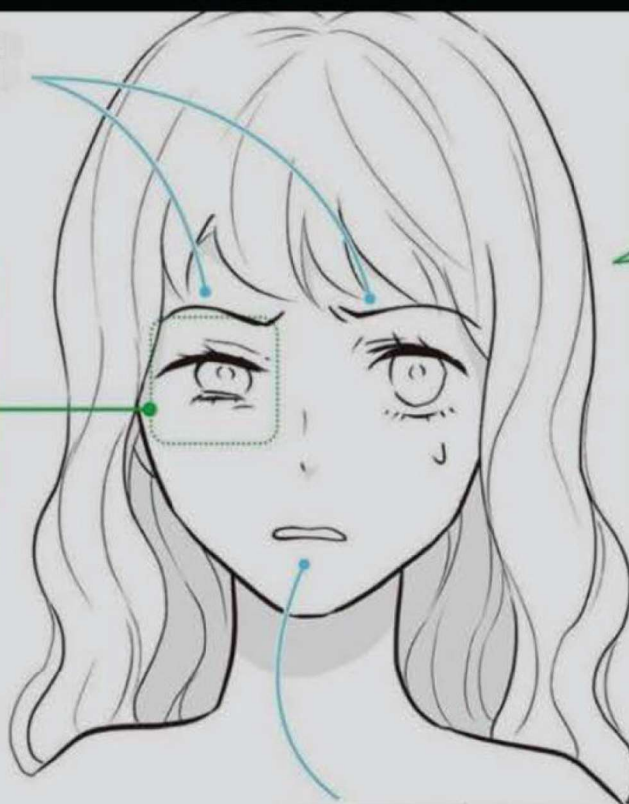

A look of careful attention, trying to protect itself. Asymmetric eyes are the point.

By changing the height and shape of the eyebrows on the left and right, you can convey your doubtful feelings.

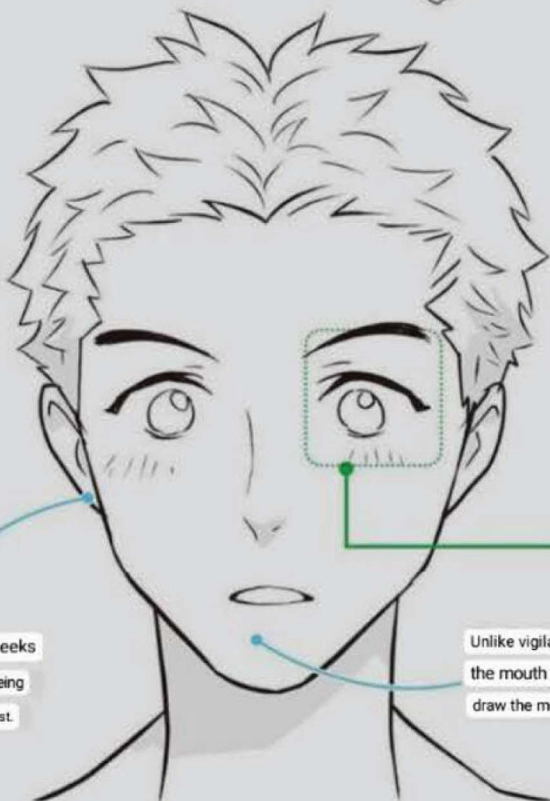

Bring your black eyes together and look up a little, giving the other person a suspicious look.

eyebrows with a questioning expression,
By distorting the eyes and Keep your mouth slightly open, and say, "Her horns are slightly downward."

eye-opening eyebrows, Emphasize the interest

He is interested in things and cares about them. Draw an eye-opening picture.

The blushing of the cheeks expresses the feeling of being slightly uplifted by the interest.

Unlike vigilance, the corners of the mouth are loosened, so let's draw the mouth half-open.

Draw the eye line with a gentle curve and draw the outer corner of the eye downward.

point

When all emotions are jumbled up at once, I panic

When many emotions in the emotional circle are mixed up at the same time, it becomes difficult to organize your feelings and you panic. When expressing a state of panic, refer to facial expressions similar to "fear" and "astonishment" to express your feeling of not knowing what to do.

One way to express complex emotions is to use hand gestures.

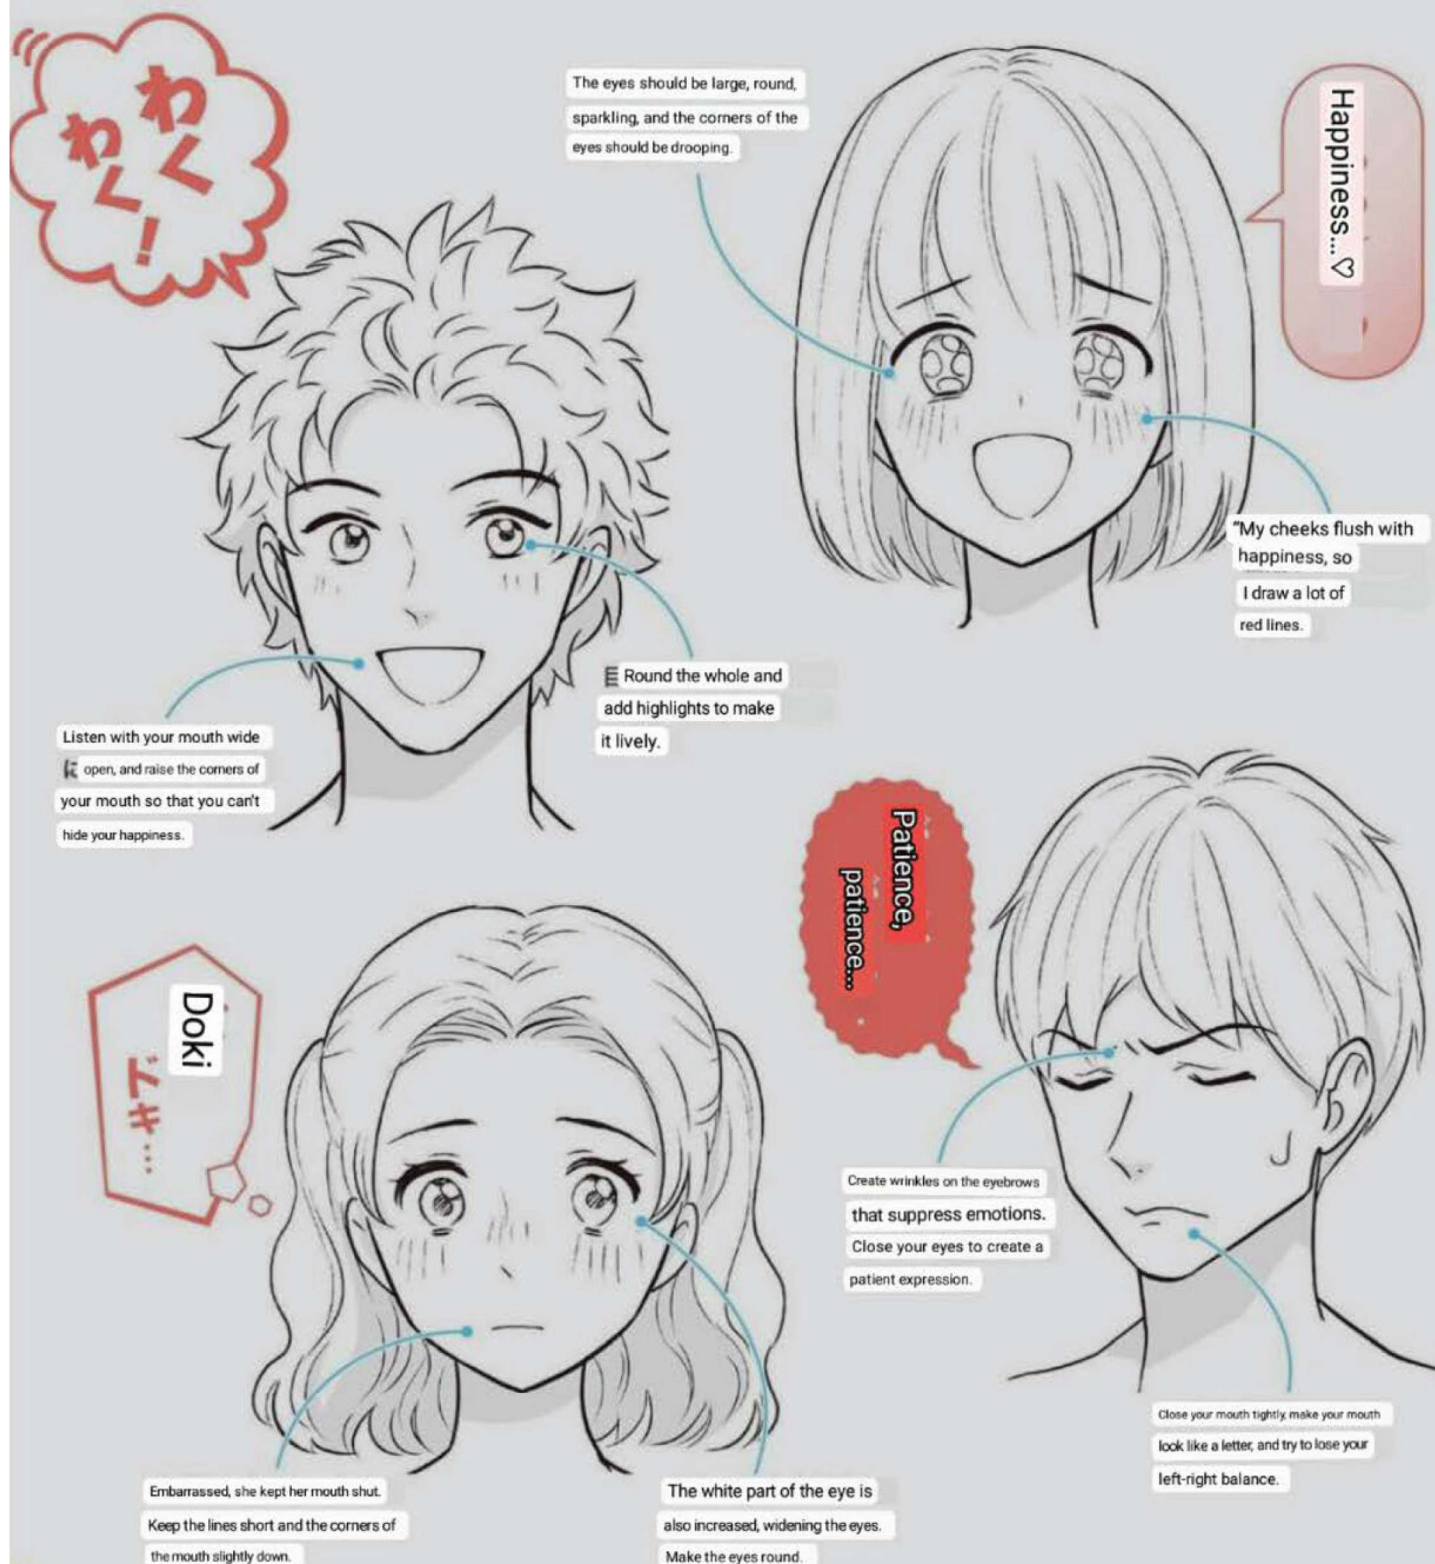

Expression of emotion x dialogue

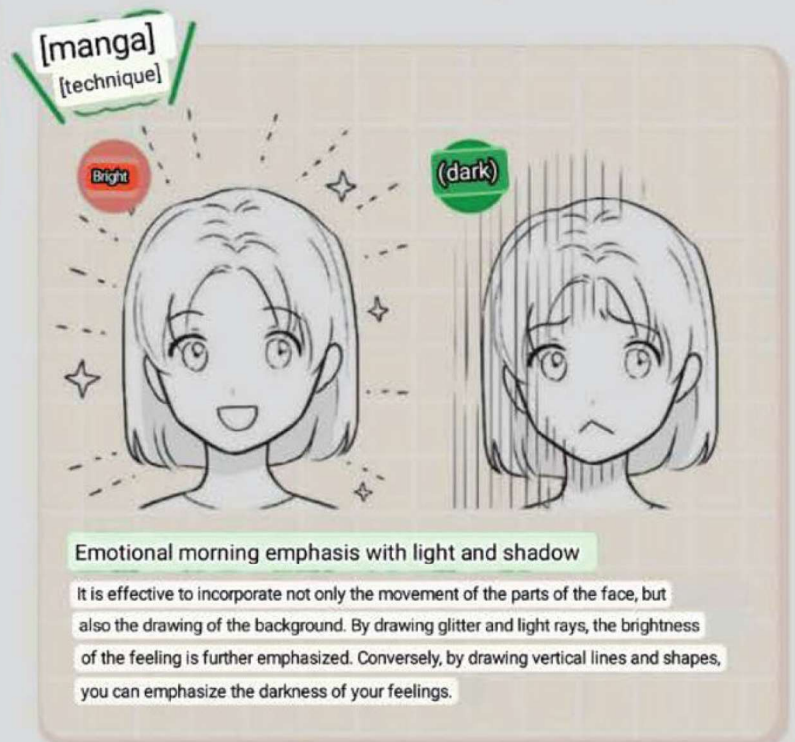

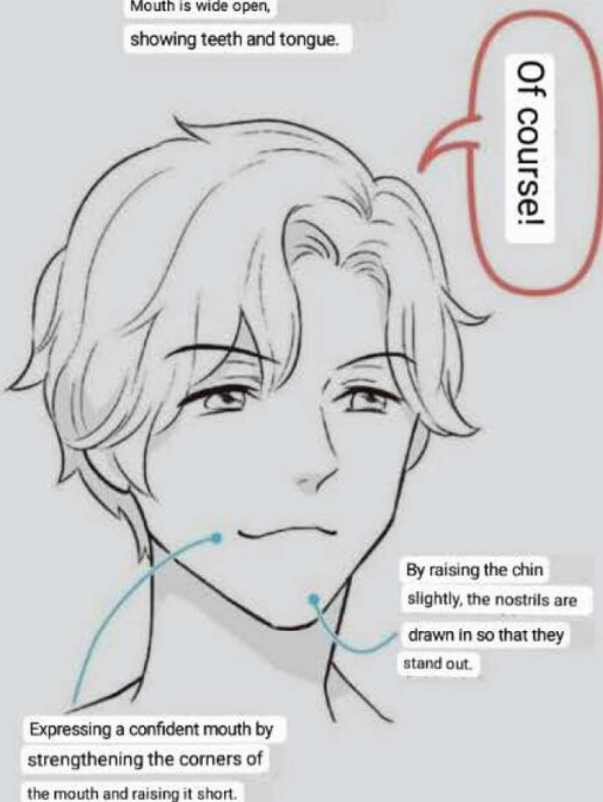

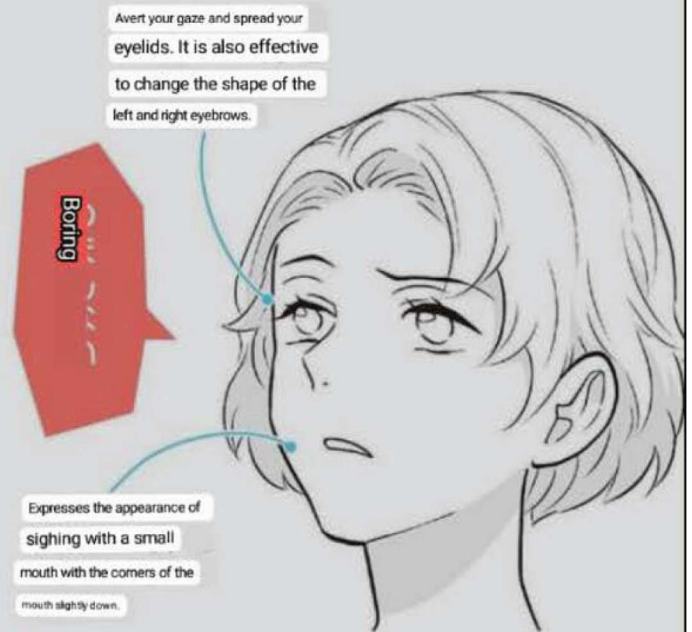

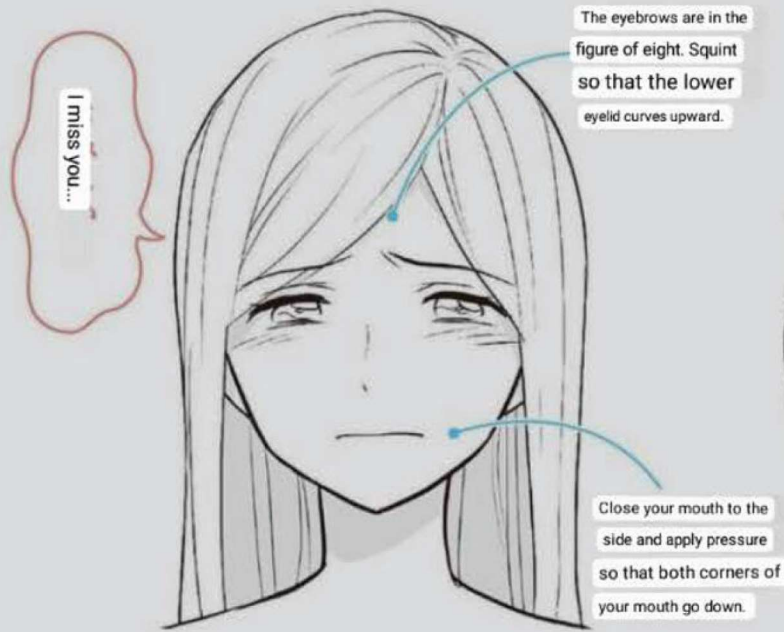

One of the techniques is to have the character say a line and draw the emotion that matches it.

Let's move the parts of the face freely and express the character vividly.

Expression by replacing with serif

Read the character's emotions from the dialogue and arrange the facial movements you want to emphasize to create facial expressions.

Part 4

various with character facial expression

Let's refine the individuality of each character by shaping the face, hairstyle, and expression. Personalities such as cool and hot-blooded can also be drawn separately according to the parts of the face.

Youth (Girls/Boys) by Type

This generation is changing from children to adults. Personality is reflected in the face. Let's take a look at the points for drawing different facial parts, hairstyles, and facial expressions for each type.

Neat type

Draw the Rinkaku and the parts of the face with the curves in mind. Express emotions by subtly changing facial features.

Sharp chin only with a rounded link.
Clean your ears.

Emphasize a pure impression with straight hair flow and aligned bangs.

The eyes are slightly elongated. Draw the eyebrows in a gentle arc for a charming look.

character's personality

1 Modest in appearance and behavior Straight hair and smart facial features. Do not act conspicuously or make strong statements.

② calm and elegant a natural smile

The key to leaving a neat and clean impression is not to open your mouth too much.

Putting tears in the corners of the eyes and the expression after yawning.

lulled to sleep

Adding shadows under closed eyes creates a slightly tired look. Make your cheeks flush Draw darker than the lines.

By matching the angle and curve of the eyes and eyebrows, interlocking is created. Since the eyes are closed, set a wider distance from the eyebrows.

Active type

The point is to emphasize your eyes with thick and dark eyeliner.

Raise the corners of your mouth to create a lively impression.

Draw a thick and dark eyeliner to emphasize simple round eyes.

Raise the corners of your mouth to create a positive impression GOOD.

Make a difference in the length of the hair to create movement and make it a short cut that sticks out your ears.

character's personality

① Vivid appearance and expression

With sparkling eyes and a smiling mouth, even if the surroundings are dull, Even if it is, it is a bright atmosphere.

(2) Enthusiasm for taking on challenges

The type of person who puts ideas into action immediately, leading those around him. Be innocent and don't be afraid to fail.

③ Emotions are straight

Possessing a pure heart, his emotions are expressed honestly in his facial expressions. Negative emotions are temporary because they are positive-oriented.

Ha!?

A slightly surprised expression.

Draw the eyebrows slightly up and the mouth slightly open.

hide embarrassment

To weaken the eyesight, the point is to draw the eyelids a little heavier.

Make your eyes bigger, make your eyes smaller, and open your eyes.

The point is to move the whole face, not just the line of sight. If you put your hands on it, it will create a linkage with your facial expression, which is GOOD.

point

Emphasize positive emotions with a touch of tilt!

A positive expression, such as a wink with raised eyebrows, can be emphasized by drawing with tilt. This is because the area of the mouth becomes larger, and parts such as the eyes and eyebrows are also turned upwards, giving the expression more energy.

usually

disease type

It is easy to create a negative atmosphere by drawing the hair and facial parts so that they are in the lower vector.

character's personality

1 plain and plain

The face and line of sight are always downward and the expression is not visible. Stay out of the sun and feel unhealthy.

2 I am frightened by my surroundings.

Try not to stand out, and always be aware of your surroundings. That's why I don't show my emotions.

3 I don't care about facial expressions and lack change Remains reserved even when I have positive emotions. In the dark expression, emotional change is partially expressed.

Only one of the cheeks is flushed to depict complex psychology.

ニイ...

Just by raising the corners of the mouth slightly, the face looks upward even with downcast eyes. You can express your joy while leaving the character's color.

point

When you're sad, keep your tears low

In order to bring out the personality of the character even when they are sad or in pain, it is good to have tears in their eyes instead of shedding them. Bending your mouth is also a point to express your painful feelings.

Self-paced type

The point is to make the eyelids heavy and draw other parts small to give a feeling of weakness.

By randomly drawing the feeling of bunches and hair flow, you can also show a character that is indifferent to hair.

Draw an eyeliner based on drooping eyes, and then create horizontal and jito eyes.

character's personality

1 Weakness in hairstyles and facial expressions

A loose visual with random hair flow and grainy eyes.
Effortless and always calm.

(2) Stay calm at all times Tendency to give priority to one's own opinion despite being indifferent to others.

while emphasizing the eyeliner Gives a soft impression by rounding the corners of the eyes.

sunny feeling

The corners of the mouth are raised, and the eyebrows and eyes are drawn in a slightly upward vector to create a relaxed expression.

Surprise!

Almost no more than a single drop of sweat. Feeling different from increasing.

When you open your eyes with a slight tilt, you will see a surprised expression. Sweating your cheeks is also good.

Deep sorrow

The hair hangs down and is linked with the line of sight vector.

Expression of sadness by looking down and looking down. Hair, line of sight, and everything with a downward vector in mind.

Manga [Technique]

Using wind to express a refreshing personality

A technique that incorporates the impression of "wind = freshness" into character drawings. If the hair is moved too much, it will look like it is being blown by a strong wind, so it is important to move only one part of the hair.

Athletic party type

Drawing based on hair with a sense of bundle and angular rinkaku.

Let's use fukan and tilt depending on the emotion.

Create a sense of bundle and let it fly casually to create a sense of dynamism.

He is the type to take action as soon as he thinks of it, and is not afraid of failure. Skilled in leadership.

(3) Physical strength and energy are equal

Physical strength is exhausted because everything is done with all one's might, and this appears as a childish appearance.

Kuka~

The face tilts backward while sleeping. Draw the chin wide and the head narrow.

Produce defenselessness with drool and nose lanterns.

lose the match

Bring your eyebrows together and wrinkle between your eyebrows.

[Manga] [Technique]

To the extent that eyebrows and eyes stick together.

If you bring eyebrows close to your eyes, you'll get a gallant expression!

In fact, eyebrows and eyes do not stick together. However, if you emphasize the deformed eyes with emphasis on them, they will look serious. It can also be used for courageous and dignified expressions.

Make it look like you're breathing with your mouth open. For depictions dripping with sweat.

The wrinkles between the eyes and the eyebrows express the appearance of the eyes widening.

Hooray!

Widen your eyes and open your mouth wide to express joy. If you increase the flushing of your cheeks, your joy will increase.

weak type

Let's paint her face with her bangs so that her face is always covered with shadows.

Make your bangs long enough to cover your eyes for a more brooding look.

The eyes are also drooped down in proportion to the figure eight eyebrows.

Mouth twisted and frightened

② Simple and always working hard

He is serious at heart and tackles the 真 (real) task at hand with a sword, but his clumsiness prevents him from achieving results.

③ Even if I fail

A popular person who can't be hated Although he causes trouble for those around him by making a series of mistakes, he is known to have no ill intentions, so he is not hated.

The mouth and chin are wide because of the tilt.

"Motivation before idleness

With a slight tilt, close your mouth and raise the corners of your mouth to create an upward impression. Shorter eyebrows give more momentum.

Allen

My eyes are deformed into a comical troubled face

Deformed parts of the face create a comical atmosphere and make the character's charm stand out even more. In particular, if the eyes are deformed, it can be arranged so that the damage is greater than the "mu~" emotion.

Draw with the image of bringing the eyebrows to the center.

The eyebrows are lowered and the eyes are angry, but if you draw a semicircular line on one side of the mouth and puff out the cheeks, you can make it more charming.

Honor student type

It has a well-ordered form, and many straight lines are used for the rinkaku and facial parts. The point that glasses use gives individuality.

Draw the eye line and the outer corner of the eye in a straight line.

Emphasize emotions with anger marks.

Kora!

Draw wrinkles between the eyebrows with a strong line. By opening your mouth and showing your teeth, you convey the atmosphere of a loud voice.

manga
技法

How to use anger to indicate swelling of blood vessels

Blood vessels pop up on the temples when angry. Anger can be expressed by inserting a comic symbol that marks this. Use different shapes according to the degree of anger and deformation.

uncle type

When drawing, be aware of the drooping eyes, sagging cheeks, fatness of the chin, etc.

Draw the hairline upward to make the face look wider.

With a vertical square, draw a small chin and droop the cheeks.

Draw on the round eyes with drooping eyes to enlarge the area of the face.

character's personality

① Everything is oval and round

Unlike a simple obese body type, the skin on the face is sagging and the stomach is bulging up, down, left and right.

② Happiness aura fully open

The heart is satisfied with the body shape, and it is easygoing in normal times. Flashy reactions due to emotional changes.

③ Don't worry about what other people think

Laugh out loud and sigh loudly Express your emotions
き、 without worrying about what's going on around you.

はああああ...

It strengthens nasolabial folds and makes you feel tired.

Draw a faint mood, and draw a dejected state by turning each part toward the vector below.

It is effective to make the black eyes smaller, not extreme pleasure.

Whoa!

Raise your eyebrows to reveal your nostrils and create the upper vector. Let's show cuteness with blushing cheeks.

Add effect lines to create movement.

Cheerful laughter Joy

is easy to show when drawn upwards. Make a cheerful impression by lowering the eyebrows and the corners of the eyes and smiling with a big mouth.

[manga]
技法

Use comics to represent sound vibrations and air movement

A comic mark that assists the actions and emotions of a character. Let's express sound vibrations such as loud voices and air movements such as sighs with various comic symbols.

PTA chairperson type

The hair is neat, the hair is sharp, and the parts of the face are crisp. Let's try a comical depiction.

In order to emphasize sharp eyes, the shape of the glasses should be an inverted triangle.

Thicker lips give the impression of dark lipstick.

A sharp face line is emphasized by bundling long hair.

character's personality

(1) Enthusiastic make-up Set your hair without a single messy hair, and make sure you don't show any gaps with a well-arranged, unbroken make-up.

② Strong hostility

Strong self-defense

Holds back opponents to maintain pride through assertiveness. Focus on verbal abuse.

③3 Unexpectedly bad at controlling emotions

I try to pretend to be calm, but as soon as I lose my self-esteem, I express my emotions bluntly.

triumphant laughter

Her eyes are closed, but she draws her eyelashes and puts on make-up to create an atmosphere.

Kyi~!

By turning the whites of his eyes, he can bring out a comical element in his anger. Extremely reduce eyebrows and wrinkles between the eyebrows.

Use a handkerchief to create a comical effect on the strength of your mouth.

Draw with a slight tilt to enhance the atmosphere of a warped and triumphant image. Draw a big mouth and make a laughing expression.

The eyes are wide enough to look like spectacle lenses, and the black eyes are made smaller to create a big impact.

What the hell...!?

This warping composition strengthens the 度 surprise. The deformation is strengthened, such as adding lines to the forehead, to create a comical depiction.

Hot-blooded teacher type

Just by changing the shape and angle of his trademark thick eyebrows, he can express his emotions. Let's use tears and comics a lot.

The strength of your will is reflected in your thick eyebrows. Draw enough to touch the eyes.

Draw a big mouth that emits energy.

Rinkaku with a corner expresses a straight-faced character linearly.

character's personality

1 Passion is More Important Than

Appearance I'm not interested in fashion, but I treat my appearance as a disorder in my heart, and I maintain my grooming.

2 Positive thinking involving others

He is positive in everything he does and tries to share that feeling with others.

3 May burn out

Push forward in a straight line, but if things don't go as expected, you may lose all strength and fall into a state of collapse.

I know!
Bit your lip
and be comical.

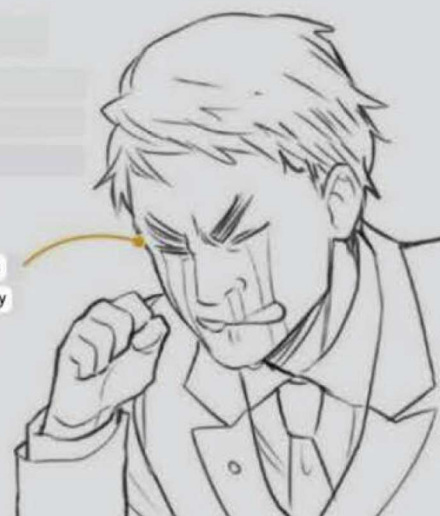

angry

Drawing the shadow to the side increases the feeling of intimidation.

By peeling the whites of the eyes and drawing the dark circles under the eyes and the blood vessels on the forehead, it expresses irrepressible emotions.

Draw the eyebrows and eyes so that they are close together.

Manga [Technique]

Make the character's appearance comical with the object that escapes from the body

In the depiction of burning out and turning white, it is also good to draw comically with the manga technique of 'the soul comes out of the body'. You can create a comical look by deforming the parts of the face, such as making the eyes into small circles.

will something come out?

A soul comes out!

Granny type

In conjunction with the sagging of the skin, be aware that the parts of the face face downwards. Wrinkles can be conveyed just by putting them in partially.

Drooping eyebrows and drooping eyes to create a gentle gaze.

Make the mouth small and elegant, and add nasolabial folds, but be careful not to draw too many wrinkles.

Create sagging under the eyes and wrinkles at the corners of the eyes to express aging.

character's personality

① Elegant without dressing up

He doesn't spend a lot of money on what he wears, but he is conscious of beauty and cleanliness, and his appearance exudes elegance.

(2) Rejoice at the happiness of others Feeling that you have accomplished your life, you feel more joy in the successes of others than in your own desires and hopes.

③ body and mind

Getting smaller It's been a long time since I finished work and raising children, and I've lost my motivation and energy, and I tend to get depressed easily.

What should I do...

The mouth is slightly open and leaves a weakness.

kind smile"

Widen the eyebrows for a softer look.

Based on a Buddha face with lower eyebrows and outer corners of the eyes, the cheeks are flushed to create a gentle impression.

Make the pupils of the eyes small and round to create a wide-open shape. Slightly increase the wrinkles to create an emotional sway that comes from surprise.

Broken heart

You can accentuate the downcast eyes by making it look fluffy.

Lower your eyelids to make your eyes look downcast, and express the spiciness with the eyebrows and wrinkles between your eyebrows. Emotions are expressed when you put your hands on almost anything.

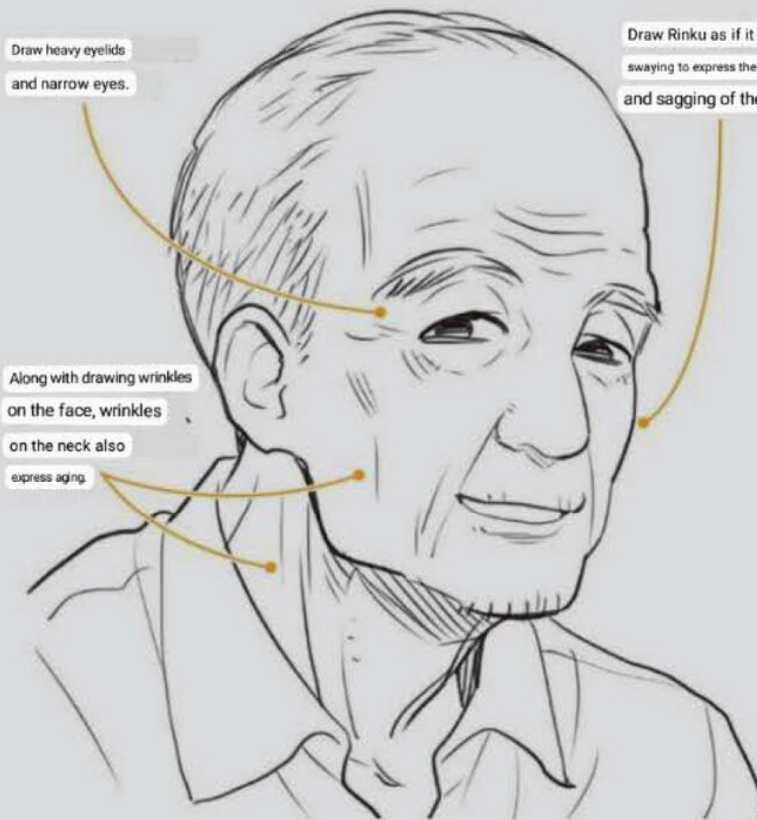

アレンジ

A young age seen in memorable photos

Manga often depicts the past of elderly characters. When that happens, not only do you have wrinkle-free, taut, glossy skin, but you should also change the texture of the rinks and each part.

grandfather type

The point is to make a strong impression of bones and bones. Eyebrows, thinning hair, and beards are also important for facial features.

Draw heavy eyelids and narrow eyes.

Draw Rinku as if it were swaying to express the weakening and sagging of the skin.

Along with drawing wrinkles on the face, wrinkles on the neck also express aging.

① Relaxed look

A natural state of accepting things as they are. The energy emitted is small, but dignity remains.

② Unfazed by nothing Don't be shaken by the slightest thing, always accepting things like listening to what people say and then taking action.

③ Playful and popular

Able to react as the other person desires, and has a sense of closeness from children to adults. She has a rich facial expression.

Open your mouth wide and smile brightly.

Laughing

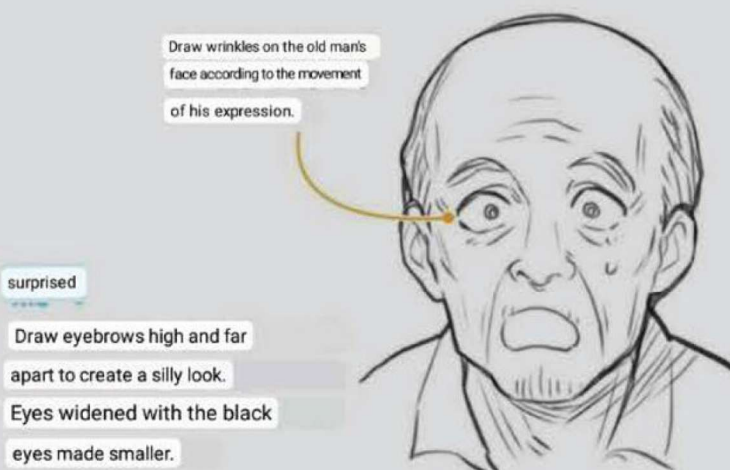

If you set the eyebrows to be thicker, it is easy to create a sagging impression. A little tilt and bright look.

Let's also draw the moss on the cheeks strongly.

be depressed

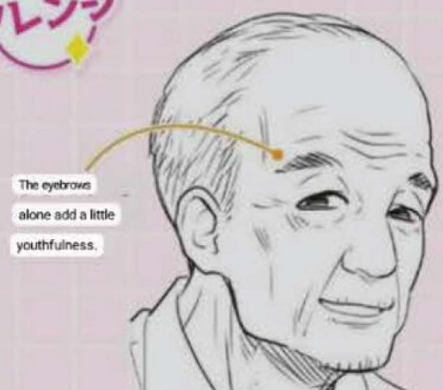

Close your eyes and wrinkle your eyebrows for a sorrowful look. Slightly lean forward as the shoulders are dropped.

Draw wrinkles on the old man's face according to the movement of his expression.

surprised

Draw eyebrows high and far apart to create a silly look. Eyes widened with the black eyes made smaller.

The eyebrows alone add a little youthfulness.

The impression of the face

changes depending on the shape of the eyebrows

If you make the eyebrows triangular and draw the hairs one by one, the impression will be different even if the other parts are the same. Eyebrows control the balance of the face, just like hair is trimmed by cutting and shaving.

Irritated grandmother type

Create a nasty atmosphere with distorted eyebrows and narrow eyes. It's a character with a strong personality, so let's strengthen the deformation.

The crooked mouth, curved eyebrows, narrow eyes, hooked nose, and other distinctive shapes create a nasty atmosphere.

Let's make the hair flow randomly.

Sag the cheek meat to bring out the texture of the bone. Wrinkles should be centered around the corners of the eyes and neck.

character's personality

1 don't worry about other people's eyes

He has a strong profit and loss account, and he doesn't care about what others think, such as continuing to work hard at the store. Most people are overwhelmed by the momentum.

2 Fearless

Positions and titles are of no value to her. No matter what opponent you are, you can get into it with your shoes on.

3 Using the misfortunes of others as vitality

Tendency to annoy people and enjoy watching them. However, hot blood is flowing deep inside the body.

dozing off

Eyebrows are lowered, eyes are closed, mouth is open, and you are sleeping defenselessly. It's good to draw drool with one point.

bawl

If you show your teeth, you will have a menacing atmosphere.

Sweep the hair according to the knocked down head.

sometimes tears

Draw more wrinkles around the eyebrows.

Make wrinkles on the forehead to match the eight-shaped eyebrows. The black eyes are drawn on the side and the tears float on the surface to create a sense of melancholy.

of

Even if the face is the same, the impression changes only with the wrinkles on the neck.

A youthful neck makes your face look younger

If you put too many wrinkles on the face, it will interfere with the depiction of the facial expression. Too little will make you look younger.

Gankojii type

Draw the wrinkles deeply and darkly with angular and brittle lines. Since he is a straight-laced character, the gap in his comical portrayal is also effective.

Darken the edges of the eyes and straighten the eyeliner to strengthen the eyes.

Most facial expressions have creases between the eyebrows.

The chin is squared with a square rink.

The corner cut of the hair is also good.

character's personality

1 Even if you lose muscle, you're still strong

His body is weakened, but his bones have a strong presence, and his dignity is increasing. The skin is dark all year round.

Reluctance to change thoughts or judgments. Other people's advice is just a nuisance, and I give encouragement to persistent opponents.

Weak against 3 and animals

Be open to those who do no harm. Be kind to grandchildren and pets.

drop lightning

It's also good to put your brim in and start moving.

Stroking shoulders, stooped posture.

hang down

While looking down, it's a little fuky. Take the strain off by closing your eyes and mouth. The neck is wrinkled because the head is lowered.

Make your mouth look bigger with tilt and add a shadow under your chin. The veins float on the forehead, and the teeth are bared to add to the dreadfulness.

astonished expression

Lighten wrinkles between the eyebrows.

[Manga]
[Technique]

Deformation is useful for unique characters

With real touch, you can make the character look more terrifying, but if the character has a strong individuality, it would be interesting to increase the deformation. The features of the parts are also emphasized, making the individuality stand out even more.

By making the eyes perfectly round, a gap is created between normal and normal. Draw the black eyes small and the mouth large.
